Heart Switch In Montreal

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

MONTREAL (CP)—A new heart is beating today in the chest of Canada's second heart transplant patient, 49-year-old Gaetan Paris, fewer than three hours after a surgical team began the operation at the Montreal Heart Institute.

The institute said the "new heart began beating with the help of a single electrical shock at 11:12 a.m."

Dr. Paul David, executive director of the institute, said that "at this stage the conditions of the operation are more favorable than in the first transplant."

The operation was completed at about 12:30 p.m.

Canada's first heart transplant, in an operation lasting more than four hours May 31, also was performed at the institute by a team headed by Dr. Pierre Grondin, who performed today's operation.

The first recipient, Albert Murphy, 59, died 46 hours later of various circulatory complications.

FOUR ALIVE

Today's transplant was the 22nd in the world. Four are still living. Mr. Murphy was the world's 18th transplant patient.

The heart of Mr. Paris, an electrical designer and father of five living in nearby Laval, came from 23-year-old Yvon Bastien who died Thursday night of injuries suffered in a motorcycle accident.

One of Mr. Bastien's kidneys was being transplanted at Royal Victoria Hospital to Charles William Doyle, 29, a Saint John, N.B., policeman. The other kidney was damaged in the accident and could not be used for a transplant.

Both kidneys of Canada's first heart donor, a woman, were used in transplants, although one of the recipients died of complications Monday.

Dr. David said the operation on Mr. Paris had proceeded favorably. The heart-lung machine used to sustain him was removed at 11:24 a.m. His blood pressure was about 120 compared with a blood pressure of between 90 and 100 in the late stages of the operation on Mr. Murphy.

Mr. Paris had suffered "progressive heart failure" since his third major heart attack in January, when he was unconscious for two weeks, Dr. David said.

Mr. Paris was transferred to the institute Jan 31. In the last week doctors "really had difficulty in keeping up his condition."

HAD DIFFICULTY

Relatives of Mr. Bastien, who died about 11 p.m., offered his heart to the institute.

The operation today was started hours after the recipient's wife, Claire, publicly appealed to hospital emergency wards in the area to remind families of accident victims that her husband needed a heart transplant.

"As a wife and mother of five children, I ask only that any family that is in a position to come to the aid of my husband does not hesitate to make the gesture, which will cost nothing, but which could save a life," she said in an interview.

VALPARAISO, Chili (UPI)—Chile undertook its first heart transplant operation Friday at the Admiral Neff Naval Hospital.

The operation was on Maria Penaloza, 24, a seamstress, suffering from a congenital vascular deficiency. The donor was Gabriel Veliz Araneda, 32, who died of a brain injury.

Trudeau Begins Shuffle at Top

OTTAWA (CP)—The government may announce some high-level appointments later today, Prime Minister Trudeau told reporters after a 2½-hour cabinet meeting.

"We made a couple," he said in reply to a reporter's question about appointments. He would rather announce them later after reaching the individuals involved by telephone, Mr. Trudeau added.

It was expected the appointments would be to high civil service posts. These usually are considered by the cabinet while appointments to ministerial portfolios usually are made by the prime minster alone.

Some shuffling within the Trudeau cabinet is due in the wake of last Tuesday's general election, when two minsiters went down to defeat at the polls. But Mr. Trudeau said earlier that he expected it would be next week, before he would be announcing any portfolio shifts.

Squeeking through a crush of reporters at a door to the East Block on Parliament Hill after the cabinet meeting, Mr. Trudeau also was asked about possible government action to resolve the strike of St. Lawrence seaway workers that has stalled traffic on the waterway.

WERE CONCERNED

Cabinet had discussed the situation and realized the gravity of the stoppage, Mr. Trudeau said.

But the government wanted to avoid intervention in the situation. There was a Crown agency, the St. Lawrence seaway authority, authoried to deal with the stoppage, which arose when seaway workers rejected a new wage offer.

Mr. Trudeau said the government would ask the parties to get together again to see if they could not work out "some solution that is fair and reasonable."

Russell Aide Deported From U.K.

LONDON (CP) — Ralph Schoenman, Bertrand Russell's young American associate, was rushed out of Britain today before his lawyer could arrange a court challenge of the order deporting him.

Police put the 32-year-old promoter of anti-U.S. "war crime trials" on a plane for Paris and said he would be transferred there to a plane to New York.

"We are trying to get a court hearing," Schoenman's lawyer told reporters shortly before Schoenman was taken to the airport. But the government did not wait.

Schoenman boarded a flight for New York after a stopover in Paris.

The home office said Schoenman was not put on a flight direct to New York because all those were full as a result of the BOAC strike.

Schoenman, secretary of Lord Russell's peace foundation, slipped into Britain June 17 in defiance of a ban on his return. He thumbed his nose at officialdom by posing for pictures outside 10 Downing Street, appearing on television programs and publishing letters in the newspapers.

ASKS TO BE CHARGED

Schoenman openly challenged Scotland Yard to arrest him, saying he wanted to make a test case of the order banning him. Detectives picked him up in Hyde Park Thursday night, and Home Secretary James Callaghan signed the deportation order shortly after.

U.S. Defeat Claimed

PARIS (AP) — The spokesman for North Vietnam's peace talks delegation said today U.S. evacuation of Khe Sanh amounted to "a grave defeat for the United States."

Nguyen Thanh Le, the delegation press officer, said the United States was "forced to retreat" from the base just below the demilitarized zone in South Vietnam.

He said the U.S. military command's explanation that the base was no longer essential made him think of the fable of the fox and the grapes. Unable to reach a bunch of grapes, the fox went away saying "they were sour anyway."

Flames Follow Highway Smash

EUGENE, Ore.—Four people were killed and 17 injured when a Vancouver-bound express bus from Los Angeles collided with a car near here this morning and both vehicles burned.

The injured are being treated for burns in Sacred Heart Hospital here.

The crash occurred two miles north of Creswell, Ore., at 9:50 a.m. Creswell is 12 miles south of Eugene, the nearest major centre.

Creswell Police Chief William Fletcher told The Times shortly before noon that a small car, driven by a woman and carrying a child as passenger, swerved in front of the Greyhound bus as it travelled down a relatively straight stretch of Interstate Highway Five.

"The bus and car collided, causing th car to explode in flames, which in turn sent the bus out of control and setting it on fire at the same time, "Chief Fletcher said.

BURNED TO DEATH

"When I got there the woman and child in the car were already burned to death, and the bus was burning pretty fiercely.

"Some of the passengers had managed to get out and were standing or lying by the side of the road. We concentrated on getting the remaining passengers out.

"Most of the passengers remained calm although a few children were pretty close to panic. But taken all round everybody behaved amazingly well."

Chief Fletcher said every available ambulance was called from Eugene.

"There were 36 passengers on the bus, all injured or burned to greater or lesser regree. About 17 appeared in bad shape when we got them into the ambulances."

Sacred Heart hospital officials said the injuries were not as serious as first feared.

They confirmed that four people were dead, the woman and child in the car and two bus passengers.

Among the injured, all United States citizens on the regular Greyhound run from Los Angeles to Vancouver, there is one case of second degree burns with the other passengers suffering from facial cuts, lesser burns and minor injuries.

Both car and bus were completely destroyed in the fiery crash.

Driver of the bus was Rolf Holmstrom, 41, Central Point, Oregon.

The crash was witnessed by another Greyhound bus driver, Frank Myers, 43, also of Central Point.

He said the south-bound car suddenly swerved, skidded across the road-centre divider and smashed into the bus. The car immediately burst into flames which ignited the front of the bus.

The force of the impact pushed the bus to a skidding stop on the highway's gravel shoulder.

Creswell fire department managed to get the flames under control and also assisted in removing injured pasengers.

TALKS GO ON

Lockout Notice Served

New talks were announced today in the pulp and paper industry in British Columbia while negotiations continued between both sides in the coast wood products dispute.

Lockout notice was served Thursday by coast companies against the International Woodworkers of America following the unauthorized strike by workers at one Vancouver plant. The notice expires Saturday afternoon.

Joint negotiations between a number of pulp and paper mills and two unions — the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers and the United Papermakers and Paperworkers — will resume this Wednesday.

The two unions, which bargain jointly, said "the move follows four days of talks under conciliation officer J. A. Laffling, in which progress was made on several items."

The Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada, which represents workers at half a dozen pulp mills including Crofton, Harmac and Gold River on Vancouver Island, will meet Mr. Laffling this Wednesday.

Asked if this is an encouraging sign, president Orville Braaten said "at least we are getting back together and talking. We haven't met him since mid-June."

36,000 AFFECTED

The two sets of talks in the pulp and paper industry throughout B.C. involves close to 10,000 workers.

The coast wood products dispute involves 114 employers and 26,000 workers in logging, sawmills, plywood mills, shingle mills and a number of lumber yards.

Negotiations continued today with the IWA after Forest Industrial Relations, which bargains for the companies, served 48-hour lockout notice and made a new settlement offer Thursday.

The lockout notice was given after 500 workers at the Weldwood of Canada plant in Vancouver began an unauthorized strike protesting delay in reaching agreement. FIR stated earlier that any selective strike would be met by a lockout.

Lockout notice is similar to strike notice, already served by the IWA on the companies. It leaves them free to lockout

Lightning Blamed In Power Failure

A freak weather disturbance hit Greater Victoria shortly after noon today, knocking out power for 12 minutes.

Initial reports blamed the failure on lightning striking a transformer. Lightning also split a tree in Saanich.

Hail fell and blanketed the ground briefly in some areas. Gordon Head residents said they couldn't remember anything like it in June.

The blackout was general throughout the lower island south of Duncan, including Sooke and Jordan River.

B.C. Hydro officials said the source of the blackout was somewhere between the Duncan terminal and Victoria. Cause had not been determined at 12:30 p.m., but it was assumed to have been caused by the lightning.

Lightning hit a backyard tree at 520 Whiteside St., shortly after 11 a.m.

A witness said it hit the top of a fir tree behind the home owned by Mrs. Kartar Kour Singh. The tree was split down the middle and splinters of wood showered into the back of the house breaking all the windows in the back wall.

The lightning travelled across a clothes line attached to the tree burning the plastic off the wire and incinerating the clothes hung on the line.

It was believed Mrs. Singh was away from her home at the time.

The incident was witnessed by neighbors and officials at the federal forestry laboratory on Burnside Road, which overlooks the Whiteside St. area. Forestry officials took samples of the wood for testing.

Victoria weatherman Allan McQuarrie said the storm resulted from an unstable air mass over Vancouver Island. The air was unusually cold at high levels, which accounted for the hail.

The air mass should move off late this afternoon to bring better weather for the weekend, he said.

It should be sunny and cool Saturday, but temperatures should move into the 70s on Sunday.

There is a chance another disturbance will bring some showers to the area Monday morning.

At the height of this morning's

Sirhan Granted Hearing Delay

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, accused assassin of Senator Robert F. Kennedy, was granted today an additional three weeks to enter his plea to a charge of murder.

Defence lawyer Russell E. Parsons won a delay from Superior Court Judge Richard Schauer, saying he needed more time to study the transcript.

The hearing was conducted in the third-floor chapel-auditorium of the Los Angeles County Jail under strict security.

Sirhan, 24-year-old Jordanian immigrant, entered the room flanked by four large deputies who virtually hid the slender defendant from the approximately 150 reporters on hand.

Judge Schauer at Parsons' request appointed a psychiatrist, Dr. George Abe of Metropolitan State Hospital in suburban Norwalk, Calif., to examine Sirhan and submit a confidential report for use of the defence.

REFUSED REQUEST

Dr. Abe will replace Dr. Edward Stainbrook, who declined a request to examine the defendant. Another physician, Dr. Eric Marcus, already has examined Sirhan for the defence.

Sirhan walked into the temporary court, apparently recovered from the sprained ankle that forced him to use a wheelchair when he was arraigned on a murder charge. The ankle was injured whille he was being subdued after Kennedy was shot and mortally wounded during an election victory celebration here June 5.

Before granting the continuance to July 19 the judge asked Sirhan whether he would waive his right to go to trial within 60 days after the return of the indictment.

"Yes, I do," Sirhan said, so faintly he was asked to repeat it. To an earlier question on whether he wanted Parsons to replace the public defender as his lawyer, his answer was audible.

Judge Schauer said he would ask Dr. Abe to give a general psychiatric examination. He said he would order the doctor not to give a copy to anyone except the defence.

CITY-BOUND YACHT AIDED BY COAST GUARD

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two coast guard cutters fought heavy seas off the Mendocino county coast of Northern California today to aid a disabled motor yacht with 12 persons aboard.

The yacht Hydine called for help after losing her automatic pilot and radar in stormy weather on her way to Victoria.

A search plane found the 117-foot boat wallowing in 15-foot seas 25 miles off Point Arena. The 82-foot cutter Point Ledge arrived alongside at 6:25 p.m. and finally got her in tow at 8 p.m. But the line broke later.

The bigger 210 cutter Resolute arrived on the scene at 8:25 a.m. today to take over the job of towing.

Canada May Treat U.K. As 'Foreigner'

LONDON (CP) — The Times says in a news story from Ottawa that the Canadian Liberal administration "is going to have a hard look at its relations with Britain."

"Indeed, Britain may well be treated as just a foreigh country," adds the story credited to "our own correspondent."

It continues:

"If it is in Canada's interests to have good relations with Britain, then good relations will be maintained, but Mr. Trudeau has already indicated that no favors will be given or expected.

"There will be no intimate backstairs talks. A new breed of cat is growing up in the department of external affairs which wnats to see a thoroughly new and independent attitude towards foreign affiars. That is why Britain must choose the new high commissioner for Canada with care.

"Sir Henry Lintott, the admirable present British representative, is leaving next Tuesday on retirement. He has done well in difficult circumstances but the new politicol regime in Ottawa demands a keen young professional diplomat, a good mixer with an extrovert personality suited to the Canadain scene, who can speak French fluently. A political nominee from the Wilson adminsitration would be disastrous."

INTERCOM REPLACES MEMO TRADITION

Old Ways Tossed Out As Ottawa Goes Modern

By PETER NEWMAN

OTTAWA — The first thing that Pierre Trudeau's senior advisers did when they moved into the east block of the Parliament Buildings was to install an intercom system so that six of them could be on the line at the same time and hold instantaneous conferences with the prime minister.

Newman

This technique is already being used by most progressive business firms, but in Ottawa where the writing of memos is a sacred rite, the move signified a revolution.

It's all part of the new style that Trudeau and his troupe are introducing to the musty halls of bureaucratic Ottawa. Despite the Trudeaumania phenomenon, it is not show business that has taken over Canadian politics.

TECHNOLOGY

It is with industrial technology that Trudeau's men intend to alter the political climate of the nation and break the traditional, time-worn approaches of the senior civil service.

Trudeau demonstrated the effectiveness of his unique approach during the Liberal leadership convention and the election campaign. In both instances, two new elements were introduced to expand his popularity: an appeal was made directly to the electorate through the mass media, in effect bypassing the traditional party apparatus; and in the application of this appeal use was made of the latest and most sophisticated scientiic business techniques.

GENERAL THEME

The philosophical basis for this new kind of "participatory politics" is the Liberal leader's view of man as a multidimensional being. He refuses to perpetuate the standard view of the voter as a one-dimensional figure (a farmer, a French-Canadian, an old-age pensioner, etc.) whose loyalty can be won through specific promises designed to woo each group. Instead, he believes in the thematic approach which puts forward a general theme (such as "a just society") and expects that people will find their own relation to his objectives, be attracted by his approach to them, and help him make them come true.

This requires genuine participation by the people in the governmental process and could, if realized, broaden the base of Canadian democracy.

It emphasizes not so much what the government will do as how it's going to do it. All through both his campaigns, Trudeau stressed that no leader can guarantee a country's future, only that he felt confident he could deal with the changing tides of the new social currents as they rise up.

To expand popular participation in his government, Trudeau's first step will be to set in train a wholesale

"MADONNA AND CHILD", by Pier Fiorentino, the 15th century Florentine painter, is the newest and most valuable acquisition ever made by the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria. Hanging the painting in the gallery's new wing is gallery curator William Hoare. The Fiorentino will be available for public viewing from July 2 throughout the summer.

PRIZED PAINTING DONATED TO GALLERY

The Art Gallery of Greater Victoria announced today the gift of the most important painting it has every received.

A 15th century Florentine panel painting by Pier Fiorentino, the gift is the most valuable painting to enter any public collection in the western Canadian provinces, says gallery director Colin Graham.

Donated by former Saanich resident Mrs. Rudolph Gutmann in memory of her husband, this depiction of The Virgin and Child with Saint John by Fiorentino is one of only three known examples by that artist to be found outside Italy.

"This magnificently generous contribution to the cultural life of Victoria, the most prized possession of two highly discriminating collectors," said Mr. Graham, "takes the gallery a major step forward in its plan of ultimately creating at least one gallery room of very high quality old master paintings and sculptures.

"Now that our oriental collection enjoys an international repute, we hope that means can be found to bring our occidental old master and modern holdings up to a similar standard."

BIG STEP AHEAD

The Pier Fiorentino will go on display for summer on July 2, along with the gallery's other old master paintings.

Fiorentino, a painter who devoted himself entirely to religious pictures, was active in Florence during the last three decades of the 15th century. Some three dozen panel paintings and frescoes from his hand are known to exist.

All are to be found in Italy with the exception of three, of which one is in the collection of the Victoria and Albert Museum in London and one in a private collection in New York, while the third has become the most important single work to enter the Victoria gallery's collection.

In downtown Victoria a furniture firm had filled Bastion Square with close to 200 chesterfields and chairs in an advertising campaign.

Tourists and youngsters all pitched in to get the furniture quickly out of the rain and hail.

reorganization of his own office. He plans to travel much more than previous incumbents, perhaps even hold regional cabinet meetings.

He will eventually participate in open-line television and radio programs to answer citizens' questions and gather their complaints.

The regional desks that will be established inside the PM's office will act like a kind of domestic external affairs department so that a well-briefed regional point of view is injected into government decisions at the highest level.

CONSULTATION

At the same time, the administration's policy will be disseminated to the regions involved. Always, the emphasis will be on dialogue, consultation and consensus.

The Pearson generation of Liberal advisers came into power with T. H. White's The Making of the President: 1960 as the main source of their ideas.

If the Trudeau group has a textbook, it's the recently published. The New Politics by James M. Perry, a senior editor of the National Observer.

The book, which deals with the expanding technology of political manipulation in the U.S., describes the application of computers, critical path flow charts and other devices to the democratic process.

WITHOUT SEX

"Political technocracy," writes Perry," is sexless; it has no soul and a computer for a heart. The candidate, for whom the technocracy works, must supply the human elements . . . the new political technology doesn't essentially change the climate of American politics, not at least at the outset. What it does do is take advantage of the fundamental changes that are occurring."

The only Canadian academic who has analyzed the use of the new techniques outlined by Perry is Prof. John Alexander of Carleton University who delivered a lecture on "Technological Politics" at this month's annual meeting of the Canadian Political Science Association at Calgary.

"This new technology of decision making is working profound changes upon the governmental process," he concluded.

POPULATION

It will not be long before the PM's staff will be making use of computers and other technical devices to help expand Trudeau's arc of participation with the population at large.

The rhythm of the election campaign just concluded was plotted on a critical path flow chart mounted in the office of Marc LaLonde, Trudeau's principal policy advisor. (A critical path flow chart depicts the sequence of events ahead of time, so that all of the elements in a major undertaking such as an election campaign can be orchestrated to coincide and climax at the crucial moment.)

INNER CIRCLE

The makeup of Trudeau's inner circle clearly reveals that the dominant strain in their backgrounds is not political science, but business administration.

Aside from LaLonde (who has a Master of Economics degree from Oxford) this group consists of Jim Davey (who has an Oxford MA in physics and was a computer and business management specialist in Montreal); Pierre Lavasseur (a master of business administration from the University of Western Ontario); Gordon Gibson (a master of business administration from Harvard) and Tim Porteous (who has a law degree but had business experience in Montral before coming to Ottawa).

NEW STYLE

These men—as well as Trudeau's other senior aides Romeo Leblanc (the press secretary) and Edward Rubin (the programs secretary)—will set the style of the new Liberal administration.

They will help decide whether Pierre Trudeau's dramatic intention of launching a new era of participatory politics in Canada remains a hopeful slogan or becomes a vibrant reality.

. . . LOCKOUT

anytime after Saturday afternoon but does not necessarily mean there will be a lockout.

The FIR offer included 15 cents an hour retroactive to June 15 and a further 15 cents next June 15 plus fringe benefits.

IWA regional president Jack Moore said while the new offer is not satisfactory — it is well below what the union was seeking and less than the 1966 settlement — "it's the first real indication from the industry that they are serious about negotiating an agreement.

SETTLEMENT HOPEFUL

"Despite the fact that this offer came as an ultimatum which included a threat of lockout and employer items to which we object, we felt we now have reason to hope for an early settlement provided negotiations continue."

The IWA has been seeking an extra 50 cents an hour in a one-year agreement on the present basic rate of $2.76 an hour plus a number of other items.

FIR said the total package offered would cost the industry 39½ cents an hour or $30 million over two years.

Fringe benefits included improved vacation entitlements of three weeks after four years service, four weeks after 15 years and five weeks after 25 years and an increase in the weekly indemnity for sickness to $75 a week from $50.

Other benefits in the package, which the IWA took under consideration, were:

- The eight-hour day and 40-hour week for cook and bunkhouse workers and time and one-half for all time worked on Sundays.
- Standby time for shake sawyers and packers;
- Preferential hiring at other operations in such cases as the impending closure of Hillcrest Lumber in Lake Cowichan;
- Deletion of female rates in the plywood industry;
- Provision of seniority lists twice a year;
- Write in the fire-fighting agreement into the master agreement;
- Clarify lyeave of absence clause;
- Single arbitrators for contract interpretation instead of three-man board;
- Dropping of the industry request for a bond against illegal strikes. An alternative proposal was made but not detailed publicly;
- Dropping of job evaluation proposal for logging and shingle mills.

FIR president John Billings said the proposal was a "sincere attempt to reach agreement" and the companies considered it realistic

JUDGMENT RESERVED ON PEPLER

The B.C. Court of Appeal has reserved judgment on an appeal by Frank Pepler of Victoria against his conviction last February for perjury in a murder hearing 25 years ago.

Pepler was sentenced to five years imprisonment by Judge Montague Drake after a 12-man jury found him guilty last Februrary.

He was said to have committed perjury at a preliminary hearing in Victoria in 1943.

Pepler testified that William Mitchell told him he murdered a girl identified as Molly Justice. Mitchell was acquitted and has since died.

Victoria lawyer Jack Gatehouse appealed Pepler's convictim to the B.C. Appeal Court. He contended thal Judge Drake did not properly charge the jury on the question of corroboration of statements Pepler was said to have made at the 1943 hearing.

emerged from the meeting a few minutes ahead of the prime minister. He was asked about the possiblity of a national postal strike this summer.

The workers and post office representatives are still in the conciliation process, Mr. Cote said. He was hopeful there would be no strike.

Meanwhile, the number one guessing game at Ottawa was the makeup of the new Liberal cabinet.

One source of speculation is whether Eric Kierans, the controversial Quebec politician, will be appointed.

ISN'T POPULAR

Repeated reports suggest Mr. Kierans, who lost out in an expensive bid for the party leadership won by Mr. Trudeau earlier this year, has rubbed some federal people the wrong way.

Meanwhile the New Democratic Party's federal executive meets in Ottawa Saturday. After the meeting, Leader T. C. Douglas, who lost his seat in the election, is expected to say whether he will step down.

Clifford Scotton, the party's federal secretary, told a reporter Mr. Douglas' wishes will largely determine whether an early convention is held to pick a successor.

There was nobody around who could defeat Mr. Douglas for the leadership if the 63-year-old veteran decided to stay, Mr. Scotton said.

The capital also awaits the return of John Diefenbaker, former Conservative leader re-elected in Prince Albert riding. Mr. Diefenbaker was fishing Thursday in Saskatchewan.

RESULT CALAMITY

Mr. Diefenbaker, succeeded by Robert Stanfield as leader last September in a forced changeover, said the Conservatives had suffered "a calamitous disaster" in the election.

It was speculated that Mr. Diefenbaker might wish to elaborate at a news conference called for next Tuesday to discuss his trip to Scotland later in July to unveil a statue of Sir John A. Macdonald, Canada's first prime minister. Mr. Diefenbaker returns to the capital Sunday.

Mr. Stanfield, resting at his Halifax home following his party's electoral defeat, will return to the capital a day or two after Mr. Diefenbaker to begin picking up the pieces after his party lost 22 seats from the last Parliament.

Results of the armed forces vote, collected from around the world, will be made public Saturday.

False Pretences Sentence July 5

A man who pleaded guilty today to three counts of obtaining goods by false pretences will be sentenced July 5.

Court was told David Hamms, 7101 Puckle, received goods valued at $70.08 from three lower Vancouver Island stores between March 19 and 21.

Magistrate Ostler called for a pre-sentence report after Crown prosecutor John Macintyre said the accused had a conviction in Ontario for theft in 1960.

Hamms pleaded not guilty to a charge of cruelty to animals. Trial date was set for July 11.

'REAL DEFEAT'

Gun Controls Facing Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The drive for stronger U.S. gun control laws, already beset by delays and apparent adverse public reaction, has suffered what may be a crippling setback.

The latest blow was a 7-to-5 vote by the Senate judiciary committee Thursday to delay further consideration of weapons control bills until July 9.

"Those concerned about the passage of responsible firearms legislation had better realize that this was a real defeat," Senator Joseph D. Tydings (Dem., Md.) said.

The outlook for new legislation urged by President Johnson was dimmed previously by a slowdown in the House of Representatives and by a sharp reversal in an initial flood of mail favoring strong gun control after the assassination of Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

Congress had seemed to be moving toward speedy action on a measure to prohibit interstate mail order sales of all firearms and ammunition and to ban their over-the-counter sale to non-residents of a state.

EXTENDS RESTRICTIONS

This would have extended to rifles and shotguns the restrictions provided for pistol sales in the recently enacted crime control bill.

But the first of this week, Johnson also asked Congress for laws requiring the national registration of all guns and the licensing of their owners.

Immediately after, congressmen reported their mail had reversed itself from favoring stiffer control laws and was running heavily against the proposals, particularly those requiring registration. This came after the National Rifle Association, main opponent of controls, called for a letter campaign against the bills.

In an apparent move to keep the registration controversy from affecting the mail order ban extension, Johnson asked in his message that the registration proposals not delay enactment of the bills already before Congress.

But his plea didn't seem to have any effect Thursday.

'SALVAGE' CAMPAIGN

Tories Saw Vote Defeat In Early June

By KEN CLARK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Conservative insiders foresaw the serious nature of the party's June 25 election defeat long before it happened, informants say. As a result, the late stages of the campaign amounted to a salvage operation.

The message began to hit home in early June. Polls, crowds attracted by the party leaders and other indicators were pointing to a Liberal victory and a Conservative defeat.

By June 10 or so, the message had become even clearer, partly because of the television debate among party leaders the previous day.

There were indications that Creditiste Leader Caouette's television pitch aimed at Quebec helped siphon off votes that might otherwise have gone Conservative in the predominantly French-speaking province.

Conservative hopes of almost tripling their Quebec representation in the Commons to 20 seats were dashed by the Creditiste upsurge that began to be felt right after the debate.

DIDN'T HALT SWING

Moreover the television debate failed to halt the general swing to the Liberals which had reached a peak following their early-April leadership convention, which put Pierre Elliott Trudeau in charge.

Well down in popularity to start the election campaign, the Conservatives had to overcome both the movie-star popularity of Mr. Trudeau—Trudeaumania—and the prime minister's one-Canada theme.

The insider's view is that the Conservatives might have been able to overcome one of the two obstacles, but could not handle both. Conservatives still insist Mr. Trudeau deliberately distorted the Conservative stand on the two-nations issue as a constitutional concept.

After it became evident that the Liberals were going to replace their minority of Commons seats with a majority, the Conservative aim then became to put an ideologically intact party back in Parliament. In effect, it was a holding action.

The earlier aim, at least in some quarters, was to hold the Liberals to another minority, then get to them in a later election when the Trudeau boom had subsided.

While the post-mortem talk swirled, Mr. Trudeau began remaking the caretaker cabinet he put together to tide him through the election. The result will be known in a week or 10 days.

New Guinea Studies Canada Vote Method

OTTAWA (CP)—At least two aspects of the Canadian federal election could be adopted to faciliate voting in countries with largely-illiterate populations, says a New Guinean electoral officer.

Simon Kaumi, deputy-chief electoral officer in the Australian territory of Papua watched Tuesday's election returns on television here and viisted some district returning officers. He was interviewed Thursday before leaving for a tour of the United States.

"The whole idea of voting for just one man rather than showing a preference for many candidates on the ballot simplifies the procedure immensely," he said.

Papua and Northeast New Guinea share the eastern section of one of the world's largest islands about 200 miles north of Australia. They have a joint population of about 2,300,000 and are usually both referred to as New Guinea.

Eligible voters there elect 84 members to a national assembly every four years but have to show their preference by marking numbers beside all candidates in their electoral district. The candidate getting the highest total wins.

SYSTEM COMPLICATED

"In a country where 90 per cent of the people are illiterate, this becomes an incredibly complicated system," he said.

The second Canadian aspect which Mr. Kaumi thinks would be helpful in voting in his territories and other similar areas is the de-centralization of the electoral machinery.

"All the work in New Guinea rests with the electoral officer and his staff and this tends to slow and complicate the system more."

He would like to set up district returning offices like those in Canada with responsibility for voting in their areas.

The chief electoral officer would act as "a kind of manager over all," he said.

With Fringe Benefits

SOVIET-AMERICAN NEGOTIATIONS on nuclear and other armaments over the years have been so seldom productive of tangible advances that it has become customary to evaluate the sparring and the conferences on the basis of intent rather than results. Thus an overture from one side or the other is hailed as progress whether or not it seems likely to lead to agreement. The mere fact that the international situation had eased sufficiently to produce a friendly suggestion has been welcome in itself, quite apart from what it might develop in the way of actual steps toward disarmament.

Thus Russia's apparent willingness to talk with the United States about limitation of "rocket systems, both offensive and defensive," is viewed not only as a step which could lead to a reduction in costly nuclear weapons and the defenses against them, but also as renewed evidence of a definite desire on the part of Russia to establish better relations with the United States and a better basis for world peace. The Soviet proposal is a most welcome one.

It forms one more item in a growing list of agreements between Moscow and the West which began with the historic undertaking of 1963 to halt experimental nuclear explosions in the air and the sea and progressed, although with painful slowness, to the recent agreement to restrict proliferation of nuclear weapons among nations not now possessing them. There is still opposition to this measure among some of the countries without nuclear weapons, notably India and West Germany, but the mutual acquiescenee of Russia and the United States marked a long step forward.

Although the Soviet offer, voiced in an address to the Soviet parliament by Foreign Minister Gromyko, gave no details, the proposed talks would have in view the eventual "outlawing of nuclear weapons." Preliminary moves would be directed toward "the mutual limitation and later reduction of strategic weapons, both offensive and defensive, including anti-ballistic missiles."

The latter item is particularly interesting, inasmuch as it reverses an earlier Russian refusal of a proposed ban on rockets designed to counter nuclear missiles. Russia is believed to have started on development of a system of such rocket sites at enormous cost, and the United States is planning a similar, but thinner, anti-missile shield ostensibly against Red China.

Mutual de-escalation of defences and attack strength in these fields would be greeted gladly by most of the world. Since it is unlikely that Peking would participate in any such move, a side effect of even a limited agreement between Russia and the United States could be a mutual understanding that neither party to the agreement would be left by the other in a position of danger from Red China. And that type of co-operation could have unpredictable but vast effects on the whole system of global security.

The Solo Voice of Women

BY THE FORTUNES OF ELECTIONS, the House of Commons now has only one woman member, Mrs. Grace MacInnis, daughter of CCF founder, the late J. S. Woodsworth, and widow of the former member, the late Angus MacInnis. Others of her sex have retired or been swept under the rolling tide of votes for male candidates. This is a situation which brings little satisfaction to most Canadians who have shown, in recent years, a willing recognition of the part women can play in public life.

There can be little justification for the election of a woman merely because she is a woman, in a sort of token gesture to femininity. Women should enjoy public confidence on the basis of their abilities and character, not of their sex. Yet there are matters in which the feminine point of view differs from that of the male — and they are matters of concern to the country as a whole.

In this week's polling, voters had the opportunity to ballot for the candidate of their choice, and among those aspiring to office were a number of women. It is unfortunate, however, that in the new parliament the voice of women will be a solo — a point which should concern, among others, the Voice of Women.

Off the Track

IT WILL BE DEPLORABLE IF the question of a location for the proposed general hospital somewhere in the Elk Lake area should become a matter of parochial squabbling. Already some municipal councils have raised the flag of contention and a Saanich Peninsula chamber of commerce has entered the controversy with a demand for local preference.

Such reasoning is as good an argument for regional control of affairs as could be presented, for no consideration of municipal politics should be permitted to intrude on the serious decision of where to place the hospital. The needs of the hospital, of its patients and of its staff and professional medical experts are surely the determining factors in choosing a site.

The doubtful honor of enclosing the institution within the arbitrary boundaries of this municipality or that should have no bearing on the subject. The responsibility of those who make the decision is to the region as a whole, and any parochial deviation from this line should be sharply halted.

Ounce of Prevention

AN ASSEMBLY OF NEIGHBORS considering their own environmental future may be a great distance removed from official action determining the development of their particular locality. At the same time, the meeting of Cordova Bay residents for that purpose the other day represents a significant stride toward planning the type of district in which they want to live.

The Cordova Bay residents gave attention to such matters as the prospect of a hovercraft terminus in their area, the possible construction of high-rise accommodation, the form which the active community club should assume and other matters of local concern. The Rev. Gordon Walker, at whose home the meeting was held, explained its purpose: "We want to look at our community . . . see where it's going and how we can guide it to better things."

The concept is admirable. Too many areas on this continent grow like Topsy, without design, without purpose and vulnerable to the invasion of special interests not always sufficiently concerned with the wants and needs of those on the ground. Whatever else the meeting accomplished, the people who gathered in Cordova Bay appear to be aware of the necessity to look ahead now so that developments of the future will not seriously injure the assets which encouraged them to make their homes there. They recognize the old axiom that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

"... the more I think about it ... you ARE the man ..."

MAN WITH TWO HATS

By RICHARD PURSER

Vietnam No Football for Humphrey

VICE-PRESIDENT Hubert Humphrey took a little longer than most of his competitors to resume his presidential nomination campaign. When he did—at a National Press Club luncheon here June 20 — he was under pressure to show himeslf as something more than a puppet of President Johnson. Under the U.S. system, a vice-president has a choice between being a "puppet" and being cast into oblivion. The constitution gives him only two duties: waiting for the president to die, and presidng as president of the Senate. The president is under no obligation to give him the active role — usually as a sort of administration public relations advance man — that vice-presidents have had since the accession of Mr. Harry Truman to the presidency made the American people realize that nonentities were no longer acceptable as vice-presidents (That former non-entity Truman became a forceful president was sheer luck. He was not chosen as President Roosevelt's vice-presidential running mate for reason of any apparent presidential qualities.)

Purser

If he does not support the president, and so is cast out by him, the presidency of the Senate remains his only job. This involves only the dreary task of recognizing speakers and attempting to maintain some minimum of order in a body notoriously immune to discipline. The only drama inherent in the office is the occasional opportunity to break a tie vote. When the vice-president is busy elsewhere — as he usually is — the Senate is presided over in his place by some junior member. The very junior Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts, for example, was in the chair and being addressed as "Mr. President" when his brother — John, that is — was shot.

Pledged to Team

The vice-president is elected jointly with the president. In accepting nomination, he indicates support of the future president and elects to be on the team. Mr. Humphrey has been on Mr. Johnson's team, as Mr. Richard Nixon was on President Eisenhower's team. Yet no one ever called Mr. Nixon a "puppet" or begged him to defy his chief, as has been the fate of Mr. Humbrey at the hands of many of his former admirers.

The difference, of course, is Vietnam. The essentially non-activist Eisenhower administration lacked controversy of the fury that has surrounded the Johnson administration. Mr. Humphrey, because of his background, has found himself deeply embroiled in the present controversy.

Since he entered politics, he has been considered a liberal and has attracted the support of liberals. But today, American liberals have divided into those who believes that the Vietnam cause is an extension of the principles of liberalism, and those who believe it is a denial of them. Mr. Humphrey is in the first group. The second group, whose vociferousness need hardly be dwelt on, cannot believe in the honesty of the first group. They believe that Mr. Humphrey, however loyal he may be to Mr. Johnson on other matters, must defy him on Vietnam to prove his personal honor.

Perfectly Honest

But Mr. Humphrey does believe in the essentials of Mr. Johnson's Vietnam position, and is perfectly honest about saying so. But, while sharing the president's objectives, it is entirely possible — even probable — that he has his own ideas about methods. Should he become president, he will be able to try them out. Unfortunately, the circumstances of his present office do not permit him to present his thoughts on strategy. Such action could only undermine Mr. Johnson's own conduct of the war and of negotiations.

This fact was not recognized by some people who should have known better but who tried to put pressure on Mr. Humphrey in the days just before his Press Club speech. Mr. Bill Moyers, who was Mr. Johnson's press secretary and now is a newspaper publisher in New York, suggested in interviews that Mr. Humphrey was about to "say publicly what he has been feeling privately" — which was "that a military solution was impossible" in Vietnam.

Then Mr. Ted Sorensen, a top aide of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, said that if Mr. Humphrey "truly and sincerely changed his position on the war" he could attract some of the enthusiastic support that had earlier gone to Sen. Kennedy.

Mr. Humphrey neither followed Mr. Moyers' suggestion nor took Mr. Sorensen's advice. He assured his audience that they would have to take his word, based on his pre-vice-presidential performance, that he had always been his own man and would be again as president.

That audience of experienced political observers understood. But it remains to be seen whether the country's irate "split personality liberals" will ever realize that the vice-president of the United States cannot display his independence of the president by wrecking the latter's foreign policy for electioneering purposes — which is just what he is being urged to do.

Instead, he began charting his path as an independent campaigner along less damaging and more constructive lines. He declared his belief in the rightness of the recommendations of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders, and in the reasonableness of the demands of the Poor People's Campaign.

Mr. Johnson has ignored the report and recommendations of his own commission of inquiry into last year's racial disorders, irked by the commission's failure to make proper obeisance to his own achievements. And he has been stand-offish toward the Poor People's Campaign because of his sensitivity to public (i.e., white middle class) opposition to it.

Mr. Humphrey made it clear that the war for social justice at home will be his war if he becomes president. This is the only sound basis for his campaign. Other candidates can make a political football out of Vietnam; the vice-president cannot.

FROM WASHINGTON

By JOSEPH ALSOP

The Argument for the Bombing Curb

IN his talks in Washington, Governor Averell Harriman has used all his great, quite justified authority to oppose any extension of the bombing of North Vietnam. In this, he has had the full support of his co-negotiator, the able, hard-headed Cyrus Vance. For the moment, therefore, this is a dead issue. It can be brought to life within a week, to be sure, if serious trouble is caused by the major attack on Saigon which the enemy high command plainly hopes to mount in a matter of days.

Alsop

Yet General Creighton Abrams is already using all the terrible power at his disposal against the regiments of the enemy's 5th, 7th and 9th Divisions and the main force battalions from the Delta that are being moved up to the attack. The same thing can perhaps happen that happened a month ago in the central highlands.

In the highlands, another major enemy offensive was aborted by the fearful losses inflicted on the regiments of the B-3 Front chiefly by B-52s, while they were still en route to their final attack positions. Furthermore, General Abrams shows high confidence that he can handle the Saigon attack even if the present measures do not abort it.

Thus it may be worth backing away, for a moment, to have a look in depth at this question of once again extending the northern bombing. To begin with, it must be noted that this has been, and can easily become once again, a very much hotter issue than most outsiders suppose.

The fact is that a presidential order to extend the northern bombing came within an ace of being issued, not very long ago. With his rocket attacks on the civilian population of Saigon, the enemy was resorting to the equivalent of population-bombing. Strong messages came in from Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, who was deeply disturbed by the contrast between Saigon's affliction and the immunity of the north.

Extension Order Withheld

The ambassador accurately pointed out that it was illogical as well as politically risky to permit this contrast indefintely. But at this juncture, the Politburo member, Le Duc Tho, arrived in Paris. It was thought, quite incorrectly, that Le Duc Tho might have something new to say at the negotiating table. So the order to extend the bombing was withheld on the eve of issuance.

Thus the illogical contrast persists. Yet interest rather than logic, an over-all balance of pluses and minuses rather than mere tit-for-tat, ought to determine the answer to the question which now divides those two old friends, Ambassador Bunker in Saigon and Governor Harriman in Paris.

On the anti-Harriman side of the argument, the key fact is that the present narrow restriction of the northern bombing is an enormous badly needed respite for the Hanoi government, which the Hanoi government had done less than nothing to deserve.

In foolish quarters in the U.S. government, it has for some time been the fashion to represent the northern bombing as ineffectual yet as long ago as last September, Ho Chi Minh in person issued an astonishing edict against "counter-revolutionary activity," listing a whole series of crimes such as "treason," plotting "to overthrow" the government, "armed rebellion," attacks of all kinds on government personnel, "desertion," "harboring" deserters, and so on and on.

Trouble on Home Front

Such an edict could hardly have been issued in a vacuum, for no purpose whatever. It was, in fact, an open admission of very bad trouble on Hanoi's home front. Its evidence is in turn confirmed by POW interrogations, which show, for instance, high numbers of desertions by the wretched North Vietnamese conscripts, not just on the Laos Trail, but in North Vietnam itself.

Where one is to look for a source of this homefront trouble, if not to the bombing, no one at all can say, including those analysts who allege that the bombing must have been ineffective because their computers could not prove the effects.

The enormity of the respite conferred on Hanoi cannot in truth be denied. Nor can any sane man deny the risk that Hanoi will solve its desperate manpower problem by conscripting the hundreds of thousands of men formerly tied up at home by the bombing.

Allies Influenced

That is one side of the argument. Being a realist, Governor Harriman has never argued, on the other side, that he was getting anywhere at all in the actual talks in Paris. His argument has been, rather, that the Paris talks and the partial bombing halt have produced most important and valuable political results in allied countries and at home as well.

This is a perfectly valid argument. It is obvious that more extended bombing should not be ordered, except from political-military necessity, and with the aim of shortening the war. But that necessity may yet arise, unless the Hanoi war-leaders are ready to get down to business in Paris after their Last Hurrah against Saigon.

From the Times, June, 28, 1908.

Mr. F. M. Rattenbury, well-known local architect, believes that all new townsites should be provided with ample open spaces and building regulations should be imposed to prevent the construction of deadly straight streets with homes all similar in style.

He believes the government should see that all towns have ample land reserved for parks and playgrounds before the land is built upon and has to be purchased at enormous prices.

Letters

Speak to Me in Erse

Some young friends of my son have told me they received letters from Otto Lang, successful Liberal candidate for Saskatoon-Humboldt, which they cannot read. Their great grandfathers on their fathers sides came from Germany, Poland, and the Ukraine at the turn of the century. They think having these letters sent out to them in Polish, German and Ukrainian, which they cannot read, is plain, nutty, political propaganda.

As for me — I am insulted! My great, great grandfather on my father's side came to Canada from Ballymena, Ireland, in the period following the Napoleonic Wars, about 150 years ago. Even so, no letters were sent to me by the Liberals in Irish Gaelic (Erse).

What an oversight! — Kathleen F. Dempsey, Saskatoon.

Congratulations

The Victoria Times is to be congratulated on the renewal of its association with the Victoria YM-YWCA in the sponsorship of the Victoria 'Y'-Times International Track and Field Meet.

After several years absence from the schedule of track and field meets, the return of this fine tradional event was welcomed by everyone in sport. The 1968 version was indeed a success. The fine facilities of Centennial Stadium encouraged British Columbia's athletes in perhaps the finest overall provincial competition ever held in this area.

Special acknowledgement should go to Art Burgess of the YMCA as well as Ron Bowker for the organization of the competition. Continuing interest by Bob Hutchison, Bruce Humber, Raphael Duke, Cliff Salmond, Don Burgess and Terry Tobacco will revive Victoria's tradition as a track and field center to be followed throughout Canada.

British Columbia's athletes look forward to the 1969 Victoria 'Y'-Times International Track and Field Meet. —O. B. Clement, M.D., President, British Columbia Track and Field Association.

NEVER ON SUNDAY

Have you ever wondered why the doctor doesn't open his surgery on Sundays? You may have thought it was simply to give him a day off, but you're quite wrong. If he did open surgery then, he'd have nothing to do, because no one would be ill . . . not on Sundays, anyway. People just don't have time to be ill on Sundays. They save up their ailments and report sick when they're not so busy, Monday, for instance. The Monday waiting-room is always crowded, not with people who felt ill on Saturday and Sunday, but with those who didn't feel too good on Monday morning.

—Peter White on the BBC.

No Victory Yet

Against a determined and cunning enemy, the awesome might of the United States has had little effect. Tons of bombs have been rained on North Vietnam but they have have little effect—the bridge in the top photo was assembled by women and is taken apart and hidden during the day. After years of bitter struggle, the Viet Cong is still able to penetrate Hanoi (left) almost at will.

Soul-Searching Continues In Shattered Arab World

By DAVID HIRST
The Manchester Guardian

BEIRUT—A year ago as the Arabs reeled under the impact of a shattering defeat, their society seemed about to be plunged into chaos out of which a whole new order would eventually emerge.

It is surprising, therefore, that in terms of a formal change of regime ex-President Sallal of the Yemen is still the only casualty of the June war, left high and dry by the forced retreat of the Egyptians from the Arabian peninsula.

In Jordan, Egypt, and Syria, the three front-line Arab countries, King Hussein, President Nasser and Major-General Salah Jadid still hold sway, but they rule over people in ferment.

Searching its soul as never before, the Arab world is increasingly conscious of the inadequacy of the present systems of government. It is swirling with ideas about how to mend or to change them.

Old Parties

By and large the old parties and groupings still dominate the field, and no authentic new political movement has yet emerged which, if it could make its voice heard, would capture the imagination of the people.

The crucial exceptions are the Palestinian guerrillas. True, they do not represent a political movement in the normal sense — they deliberately shun politics. Their exclusive concern is the liberation of Palestine, but their impact on the Arabs at large continues to grow.

For the Arab people the Palestinians are not only fighting a sacred cause; they are, as it were, cocking a fist at Arab regimes everywhere. They are setting an example which other Arabs in other circumstances and for other aims will be encouraged to follow.

Moreover, as a kind of afterthought, the guerrilla organization Al Fatah does throw in a political message for the Arab world. Guerrilla operations, it says, offer a way out of the vicious circle in which the great Arab quest for unity became caught.

Israel disunites the Arabs, it continues, and the orthodox revolutionary slogan that unity leads to the liberation of Palestine should be reversed liberation is the road to unity.

This is a convincing argument because the harder Israel hits back against the guerrilla bases, the greater becomes the pressure on Arab governments to make a reality of a collective military strategy which has proved so elusive in the past.

King Hussein, President Nasser, and General Jadid are responding to the popular challenge in very different ways. Indeed, there has been an exact reversal of roles.

Ironically, it is King Hussein, the "reactionary" monarch, who has gone furthest to meet his people, or at least the Palestinian half of them who now make the running in his kingdom. Of course, he did his best not to, but now the Jordan has become a guerrilla base he has forfeited an authority which he will find difficult, if not impossible, to restore.

Adrift

Helplessly adrift on a popular tide of feeling for the guerrillas, King Hussein is being carried into the unknown. He was recently quoted here as saying to a friend: "Every time I take a step I move forward like a blind man. I never know where I'm going and what I'll be forced to do tomorrow."

President Nasser has only gone half way to meet his people.

In February, he felt first a premonitory upsurge of students' and workers' power. He skilfully warded it off and promised to press ahead with the construction of an open and democratic society which so many Egyptians seek.

The great preoccupation in Egypt today is the strengthening of the "home front" by "giving power to the active force of the people." This is to be achieved by elections within Egypt's only party. the Arab Socialist Union, but it all has a contrived and unconvincing air.

Democracy

How, one wonders, can Nasser introduce democracy now when he felt unwilling or unable to do so in bygone days when the whole Arab world was at his feet?

As for the Syrian Neo-Ba'athists, the true sons of the people, they have not given an inch to the postwar popular mood, They are setting up any number of "committees for the protection of the homeland and defence of the revolution," and they are self-righteously calling for the immediate unity of the progressive Arab countries — knowing full well that Nasser cannot accept — but one thing they cannot do is to take a look at themselves.

While, in Egypt, self-criticism has become a fashionable slogan, for the Ba'athists the lessons of the June war are so damning they simply cannot concede that there are any lessons to be learned.

In Egypt it was possible to make a convenient distinction between military and political leadership, with the guilt of one establishing the innocence of the other and leaving President Nasser as the regime's last great, unsullied asset. The so-called collective leadership makes this impossible in Syria.

General Jadid presides over an extraordinary paradox: the most unpopular and unrepresentative regime in Syria's modern history, but one of the most stable.

The junta knows that one chink in the armor of its hated military dictatorship could be fatal. It may survive a long time but the longer it does the further it will take its unhappy country down a dead-end street.

All three regimes, not to mention others in the Arab world, can only react to events. They cannot mold themselves any more.

Not even Nasser has much margin for manoeuvre. If King Hussein feels blind. Nasser must feel at least half-blind.

Some Device

On the issue of Palestine, Nasser would, no doubt, gratefully accept in the interests of a peaceful settlement some semantic device thought up by diplomats in New York and elsewhere which appeared to save the Arabs' honor. But he cannot be sure the Arab people would accept it.

It is this weakening grip which makes it doubtful whether President Nasser would, in the event of a serious Israeli response, carry his present peace offensive to a logical conclusion.

What Kind of a Military Leader Could Have Won Vietnam Victory?

Review of "Westmoreland: The Inevitable General" by Ernest B. Furgurson; (Little, Brown).

By WARD JUST

There is a passage buried deep in this book that probably gets as close as we are likely to get to the mentality of the general who for four years commanded American forces in South Vietnam. It is William C. Westmoreland speaking informally to the class of 1964 at West Point:

"... In my view, the positive approach is the key to success ... and it's the one that has a strong influence over people. Men welcome leadership ... speculation, knowledge is not the chief aim of man — it is action ... all mankind feel themselves weak, beset with infirmities, and surrounded with danger. The acutest minds are the most conscious of difficulties and dangers. They want above all things a leader with the boldness, decision, and energy that, with shame, they do not find in themselves. He, then, who would command among his fellows must tell them more in energy of will than in power of intellect ..."

Read that carefully and speculate.

It is the philosophy of a natural leader and the answer to his critics (who of course in 1964 had not emerged). The key to success "The positive approach." The chief aim of man? Not speculation, not knowledge, but "action." "The acutest minds" — for that, I suppose, read intellectuals — truly want the boldness and decision that "with shame" they do not find in themselves. The sine qua non of the man who would command? "Energy of will."

These are not the remarks of a man who finds fascination in ambiguity or truth in hallmarks of the successful general. Was it necessary for Westmoreland to have an appreciation of these things to succeed in Vietnam? What sort of intellectual equipment should a commander bring to a political guerrilla war, part civil struggle, part war of aggression?

●

The suspicion is that whatever it was, Westmoreland did not have it. But the final judgment will have to wait on events.

Ernest B. Furgurson does not attempt an assessment of Westmoreland's Vietnam years and the omission damages the book, which is an extremely valuable and well-written essay on the making of a general. Furgurson is an absolutely straight reporter who sticks to facts, a rare breed in 1968.

It could not have been an easy book to write: Westmoreland has apparently passed through life without acquiring a single vocal enemy or speaking a single really controversial word. This is literally a biography of an Eagle Scout.

Top cadet at West Point, a colonel at 30, in the mid-1950s the youngest major-general in the army, Westy was—as Furgurson's apt subtitle puts it—an inevitable general.

●

It is partly because we know so little of the American military as an institution that the rise of Westmoreland is intrinsically interesting. There would appear, from this narrative, to be no rhyme nor reason to his successive promotions. One job ends and a new assignment begins — as an artillery officer, chief of staff of a division, division commander, superintendent of West Point.

That the promotions would come, there was no doubt. But why this division and not that one? Who was pushing the levers, and making things happen? The American army makes the Borgia court look like Our Town.

The general ended up at one point, as a brigadier, at the Harvard School of Business. Like all the other appointments, Westmoreland's tour at Cambridge was a success. "He wasn't different," one of the general's businessman-classmates told Furgurson; "he might have been the vice president of a corporation."

As superintendent of West Point he could plaster the campus with posters reading "West Point points the way to post efficiency" and report at the end of the year that overall output by post employees was up 10.8 per cent.

There were other reports, Furgurson writes deadpan, which were accompanied by examples: The laundry processed more pieces with six few employees; the dry cleaners, motor pool and engineers followed suit.

The renaissance general. A great combat leader, a superb regimental commander, the staff officer who negotiated the crossing of the Remagen bridge, now worried about the processing of laundry at West Point.

This is a good biography.

●

It is a book about the general as professional manager, about the virtues of "energy of will." One wishes the author had not been quite so prodigious in his research, that the book had been cut by about one fourth, that he had risked speculation about the Vietnam strategy.

But that would have made a different book; as it is, there are three even-handed and factual chapters on Vietnam.

The charge will probably be made that "Westmoreland: The Inevitable General" is an encomium, a puff.

I think not. Furgurson had the bad luck to write a biography of a man very nearly perfect in all the conventional virtues. Of course there was the Vietnam business, but that is another story.

American Doctors Recognizing Health Crisis in Their Society

By VICTOR COHN

SAN FRANSICSO — American doctors are beginning to become aware that this is the 20th Century.

Last week a sleepy old dinosaur, the American Medical Association, showed signs of waking up and lurching into the future.

This is not at all sure yet. The AMA loves to take one or two steps forward and then a few backward.

But it absorbed some swift kicks in the tail last week and it responded with signs of stirring, as it held what can now be described as one of its most eventful annual sessions.

One of the week's first signs: The AMA Body, its council on medical service. plainly said good health "requires" ready availabilty of high quality care "without regard" to ability to pay.

This may not sound very radical, but it firmly refutes the AMA's 1967-68 president, Dr. Milford O. Rouse of Dallas who said on his inaugural last June that one of medicine's big "problems" was "the concept of health care as a right rather than a privilege."

Dr. Rouse's words have been thrown back to the AMA ever since by its critics. Last week his successor — Dr. Dwight L. Wilbur of San Francisco — quietly ate them by repeating again and again that medicne's main job "is to meet the health needs of the people."

"Financial barriers still exist for many people," Wilbur recognized. The council on medical service added that "the rapidly rising cost of health care is a problem of almost crisis dimensions."

Dr. Russell Roth of Erie, Pa., vice-speaker of the 242-doctor house of delegates, the AMA's national representative body, said: "I'm sure the poor are not yet receiving adequate medical care."

"But it is also a recognition that national health insurance is inevitable," an AMA staff member said privately. "And it at least gets us fighting for something new."

Infant mortality in poverty areas is too high, a special committee on maternal and child welfare concluded. In response, the house of delegates said doctors "shoud support all constructive community efforts" to improve living conditions and "take leadership" in expanding and delivering meecal services where needed.

This is a far cry from a tough stand against government-financed poverty area clinics taken by the AMA a year ago. The AMA is still officially against them — except where "necessary" — but Dr. Wilbur has himself taken part in starting and directing one in San Francisco.

The house of delegates also voted to seek a federal system of income tax credits and cash subsidies to help everyone buy the broadest possible private health insurance. This may be called an AMA attempt to stave off more medicare-style health insurance. It admittedly is. It may also be called an attempt to get the government to finance national health insurance without having control. And that it also is.

"But it is also a recogniton that national health insurance is inevitable," an AMA staff member said privately. "And it at least gets us fighting for something new."

AMA delegates also:

- Named nine distinguished non-medical men as an advisory committee on health care. "We must clearly understand," Dr. Wilbur told delegates, that "countless groups and individuals" outside medicine have just as much interest in medicine as do doctors.
- Took a first step toward cracking down on scattered local medical societies in the South which still deny full membership to Negro physicians. Final action is necessary in December but it is considered almost certain.

But, the meeting's big ripples were made by a kind of discontent.

First, three spokesmen for the medical committee for human rights and the poor people's campaign crashed the delegates' opening meeting and shouted that the AMA has ignored the poor and taken backward stands on every major health problem. AMA delegates for the most part listened politely but understandably did not applaud.

Most did applaud, however, when a fourth-year medical student from North Carolina gave an invited address and spoke nearly as bluntly of "the crisis today in our society" and "our failure" to deal with infant mortality, doctor shortage and health conditions among the poor that resembled conditions in underdeveloped countries.

Avalanche Kills 3 Japanese Climbers

KLUANE, Y.T. (CP) — Three Japanese mountain climbers have been killed in an avalanche in the St. Elias mountain range in the Yukon, it was learned Thursday.

Dead are Yoshikazu Nishikawa, Toshibaru Miyamoto and Yasuhiro Sawada, all members of the Osaka, Japan, Mount Vancouver expedition headed by Nobuo Kuwahara. All were members of the Federation of Japanese Alpine Climbers.

The seve nsurviving members of the 10-man party were flown to the airstrip at the icefield ranges research station near Kluane at Mile 1,054 of the Alaska Highway, 1,100 miles northwest of Edmonton. They were met by Professor Melvin Marcus of the University of Michigan and the Arctic Institute of North America, who is serving as field director for the summer.

Prof. Marcus said in a telephone interview that although a language problem existed, he was able to piece together the following story:

The 10-man climbing party arrived at Kluane May 25, and were flown May 28 to their base camp on the upper Seward glacier near the 15,700-foot Mount Vancouver on the Yukon-Alaska border.

The objective was to reach the summit via the previously-unclimbed south ridge of the mountain. At the time of the tragedy, which occurred June 10, two members of the party, Masaru Shibata and Shoichi Kimura, were on the summit of the south peak.

The three involved in the accident were climbing a steep snow slope between Camps one and Two and were at the 10,000-foot level when struck by the avalanche and swept over an ice fall.

The other five members of the party went immediately to the accident area where two bodies were recovered. Mr. Sawada's body was not found although a search was maintained for seven days.

After the search, the surviving members of the party took the bodies to base camp to await the scheduled arrival of the pick-up flight, and returned to Kluane about noon Thursday.

SERIOUS CRISIS

British Liberal Leader Troubled

By ALEXANDER CHANCELLOR

LONDON (Reuters)—Amid the risng din of battle between Britain's two main political parties, trouble is quietly brewing for Jeremy Thorpe, debonair young leader of the minority Liberal party.

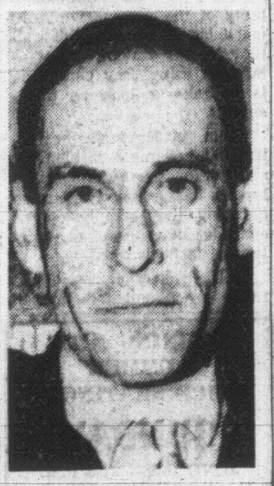
Liberal party spokesmen now openly admit the party is going through a serious crisis of morale, in which leadership is a major issue.

There have even been reports of a plot to oust 39-year-old Thorpe, who took over as leader 17 months ago. But these are denied by Liberal members of Parliament.

Behind the crisis lies deep disappointment at the party's failure to exploit what is believed to be popular disillusionment with the two major parties, Labor and Conservative.

The Liberal party, which controls only 12 of the 630 seats in the House of Commons, sees itself as the only radical alternative to socialism.

But, despite a dramatic fall in the government's popularity, the Liberals appear to have gained none of Labor's lost support. The result is restlessness and frustration in Liberal ranks.



THORPE
. . . old fashioned

One problem for Thorpe is the difficulty of holding together a party which includes wide extremes of opinion. Party members range from middle-class moderates to the "Young Liberals" who want to see fundamental changes in British democracy.

Many of the "Young Liberals" think Thorpe is old-fashioned and unsympathetic to their demands. He recently created great bitterness among them by referring to Marxists in the Liberal ranks.

John Walton, chairman of the Young Liberals of Southeast England, said "many sections of the leadership just do not understand what the radical section of the party is saying. To call us Marxists is eyewash."

Despite the widespread discontent with Thorpe's leadership, few Liberals expect a determined effort to unseat him.

Many observers believe, however, that his best hope of survival is to patch up his quarrel with the Young Liberals who represent the party's most vital force and its main hope for future political recovery.

Sidney Wants Share of Fire Dept. Assets

Sidney wants a share in the assets of the North Saanich fire department.

Mayor A. W. Freeman said Thursday the fire department was set up in Sidney, but when a fire improvement district was formed in 1956, it was named the North Saanich Fire Improvement District.

Later the improvement district was incorportated into the North Saanich municipality.

He said Sidney and North Saanich jointly pay towards the operation of the fire department, but legally the town had no share in the assets.

"We are presently preparing a detailed proposal to get a share in the assets of the fire department," the mayor said.

RIEL INSTEAD OF SFU URGED BY STUDENTS

BURNABY (CP) — Six members of the 13-member student council at Simon Fraser University want the university to be renamed in honor of Canadian revolutionary Louis Reil.

The councillors voted six to two in favor of the renaming proposal, a press realease issued by the student society said. Martin Loney, council chairman, was not required to vote. Four others were absent.

The resolution described explorer Simon Fraser "a member of the vanguard of pirates, thieves and carpetbaggers which dispossessed and usurped the native Indians of Canada from their rightful heritage." It was moved by John Conway, council second vice-president, seconded by Richard Apostle, arts president. Both are sociology students.

SILVERTON, Colo. (AP) — A tanker loaded with 6,000 gallons of molasses went out of control and overturned. Authorities reported that Dr. Lowell Bond, a tourist from Ames, Iowa, waded into the molasses and pulled Clark out.

EDMONTON PROJECT

Fabulous Library Pride of Capital

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Forbes

By now we should be hurrying on toward Battleford. But we were delayed a day when I was given the opportunity to see Edmonton's new Centennial Library.

My escort was James Pilton, the library's associate director. We started in an underground parking lot which accommodates 800 or more cars. And we ended two hours later in the office of Morton Coburn, library director.

I had been told by friends that if it wasn't for Mr. Coburn, Edmonton could not boast that its new library is the finest and most modern in Canada.

Before plans were drawn he spent a year's holiday time and nearly every weekend visting libraries in the United States and other parts of Canada. From each he culled ideas he wished to see in the proposed building.

Result is something that surely must make librarians — everywhere — very envious.

Now, with the library open every day in the week, including Sundays, Mr. Pilton adds his ideas to augment Morton Coburn's dreams and plans. Especially in the children's department, where a desire to have youngsters know and love small animals as he does himself, has been given every encouragement.

This department (also an air-conditioned auditorium of 250 seats) is situated on a below-street floor of the building. It has a spacious reading and play room, plenty of stacks for books and a small theatre with several dozen seats in the shape of bright colored toadstools. Here a staff member conducts a story hour twice a day.

* * *

Centre of the main play section has an enclosure for live animals. When I was there it held pink-skinned piglets with their mother. The children had watched these babies grow. Next day they were going back to the farm and a family of rabbits would take their place.

Around the walls were glass fronted cages for live guinea pigs, chipmunks, turtles, an iguana, a baby crocodile and other small animals. Some had been brought in by children who for one reason or another, were unable to keep them at home.

"They turn them over to us, then come in once or twice a week to make sure we are treating them right," Mr. Pilton told me.

* * *

He also explained that on occasions when white mice or rats multiply too rapidly, they are given as pets to other eager boys and girls.

Next to the children's department is a spacious room where books are repaired and rebound. Next to that is another room where supplies are gathered and prepared for eight branch libraries and three bookmobiles.

Next again is a workroom where many moveable displays — like the circus wagons in the children's department (created from cardboard boxes) are made and painted.

Street level and second floors have wall-to-wall carpets, plenty of contour chairs, reading tables and swinging stands for bulky volumes of fiction and non-fiction.

There is no special reference area. "Every section has reference books," Mr. Pilton told me.

* * *

He showed me a card index of 60 thousand songs. "You name it, we'll find it for you," he boasted. Also a daily index of the Edmonton Journal for the past five years, an index record of United States and Canadian stock exchanges, a section of large print books, another of books in other languages and a selection for beginners in English.

"We have a good many ethnic groups here," he reminded me.

Closed circuit television brings every corner of the two main floors to commissionnaires' desks. Library cards are processed almost entirely by automation. Students have access to electric typewriters in sound-proof booths.

Very soon a Canadiana Room is to be opened where serious students of history will be able to study, write and find help.

There is only one graduate librarian. The other 213 staff members (165 on full time) are trained in the building through courses conducted by the library's assistant director, Aleta Bixkse.

Two top floors of the building are still to be fitted for library use.

Trouble is that Edmonton's City Hall is so over-crowded many of its offices now occupy rented space. And some of the city fathers have their eyes on those two floors.

This doesn't seem to disturb unduly either Mr. Coburn or Mr. Pilton. They continue to make their plans. And they tell you quite confidently "we'll be up there as soon as funds permit."

SOCIAL WORKERS ASK DELAY ON MACE USE

VANCOUVER (CP) — More than 330 Vancouver-area social workers have asked Mayor Tom Campbell to delay arming city police with the riot control chemical Mace. The group said it is not convinced the spray is harmless and stated more research is needed.

FUNNY BIRD

No. Funny-looking, maybe. But functional. Built for work. His natural habitat is high grass, weeds, brush. He mows them down, little grass blades to 1⅜" saplings. With 36" or 44" snout... He floats over rough terrain—safer, faster, easier, with a longer proven life—even before medicare.

You see more JARI's in the yards and on the grounds of America than any other bird. Insist on JARI.

He'll reward your good judgment with dedicated service.

Russ Leaders Nervous About Ties With U.S.

An AP News Analysis
By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Soviet Union's foreign minister says there is reason to believe that American-Soviet relations can be improved, but the Soviet press reflects anything but enthusiasm for such a development. It indicates that the Kremlin is apprehensive about better relations with the United States.

Like an elephant among mice, the Soviet leadership seems to be acting the role of a frightened giant. The case of jitters displayed by commentaries in the press suggest that Kremlin worries about Western "bridge-building" and about developments in Communist-ruled Eastern Europe can prove a major obstacle to better East-West relations and a more peaceful world.

Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, addressing the Soviet parliament, reported his government ready to exchange opinions with the Americans on curtailment of offensive and defensive rocket systems. There would be mutual benefit in such a curtailment.

But Gromyko also insisted that the United States is to blame for cool relations, that it must "stop trying to turn the world inside out." The implication was that any real detente would be impossible until the Americans are out of Vietnam. On that issue, the Russians support the North Vietnamese stand that peace in Vietnam is simply a matter of ending American "aggression."

The tone of the Soviet press in recent days has, indeed, indicated that the Soviet leadership is far from in the mood for any significant co-operation with the United States and is suspicious of American moves in that direction. The press treatment of recent events, notably in Eastern Europe, indicates that the Kremlin worries inhibit co-operation.

FEAR CONTAGION

—The Soviet Communist party leaders obviously are frightened by the possibilities of contagion from movements for more freedom inside the bloc of European Communist nations and from the general ferment among youth and intellectuals around the world.

—They are worried by the progressive splintering of the Communist movement, by the increasingly independent attitude of Communist-ruled Romania, by the "democratization" process in Czechoslovakia, by the failure of a large number of Communist parties around the world to fall into line behind a Soviet drive for a world meeting of Communists.

—They are worried by the attitude of China toward the future of Asia and toward the war in Vietnam and they are worried, too, about the Vietnam war itself.

CZECHS SCARE THEM

The elephant-mouse complex apparently has been generated by little Czechoslovakia, a land of 15,000,000, whose recent developments have thrown a scare into the leaders of the Soviet Union, a land of nearly 250,000,000.

Pravda and Izvestia these days carry articles which sound much like those of the Cold War at its coldest. They single out three main enemies for constant attack: the "U.S. imperialists," the "West German militarists" and the "Israeli expansionists."

It seems likely that the whole thrust of this campaign is to warn both the Soviet people and those of Communist-ruled countries that the big bear can be pushed too far.

The ferment in Czechoslovakia and the phenomenon of free expression in a Communist-ruled country cannot easily be hidden from Soviet intellectuals, who, along with those of other bloc countries, could easily be infected.

The Soviet problems and worries were taken up at the April meeting of the Soviet party's central committee. This resulted in a declaration that all parties had a duty "to do everything necessary to strengthen the community, politically, economically and defensively."

Many in Europe are concerned that the Kremlin will over-react to its worries. Literarni Listy, a Czechoslovak publication, recently quoted an East German Communist as saying that what is going on in Czechoslovakia is "counter-revolution."

The source was quoted: "A Socialist country cannot afford to look on passively. . . . In the case of an intervention, possibly a military intervention, there would naturally be a collective step."

Bratislava Pravda in Slovakia, citing this article, called it "frightening."

THREE CHILDREN DIE IN CAMP TENT BLAZE

ST. HILAIRE, Que. (CP) — Three children died Thursday in a fire that destroyed their tent at a camping site near this community 30 miles east of Montreal.

The bodies of Dina Duchesne, 8, and her two brothers, Serge, 7, and Gilles, 6, were found just inside the entrance to the tent.

Their mother, 30, and her four-year-old son escaped with serious burns. They were taken to hospital near Montreal and were reported in fair condition.

Talks to Resume

VANCOUVER (CP)—Negotiations between the Pulp and Paper Industriail Relations Association and two unions are to resume Wednesday. The International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers and the United Papermakers and Paperworkers seek a 12 per cent increase on a base rate of $2.85 an hour.

Flees Hospital

VANCOUVER (CP) — Morley Theodore Wells, 29, arrested five months ago after a kidnapping and shooting near Windermere, about 350 miles east of Vancouver, has escaped from Riverview mental hospital. RCMP said the man is dangerous.

Plimleys Marking 75th Year

The Plimleys — like the internal combustion engine — appear to be here to stay.

Marking its 75th anniversary at the end of June, Thomas Plimley Ltd. claims to be among the oldest North American auto dealerships, with establishments in Victoria and Vancouver.

Basil Plimley, a third generation of the family involved in leading the firm, observed that his 17-year-old son Mark is about to enter the business as a gas pump attendant this summer, making it a four-generation company.

Visiting Victoria from his head office in Vancouver. vice-president Basil Plumley is the active manager of the company, which had its start in Victoria in 1893 as a bicycle shop.

Being third principal of such a long-established family undertaking is a challenge, he finds. Employees and customers must be treated fairly, and "if there is one thing that has contributed to the success of this company, we think it has been the employees," he said.

SATISFACTION

Mr. Plimley expressed satisfaction that members of the firm are so loyal that four Victoria mechanics have been employed by the firm for more than 20 years and one in the parts department has been there over 30 years.

"Tradition is a lively young word here," the vice-president said. "But we don't want to rely on reputation alone. We want to earn it."

Founder Thomas Plimley was born in England, came to Victoria in 1891 and set up his shop two years later, dealing in motorbikes and cycles, then the "horseless carriage" shortly after 1900.

Through the years Plimley has dealt in the Oriental Buckboard, McLaughlin Buick, Overland, Daimler, Rover, Packard. Wolsley, Singer, Maxwell, Austin, MG, Dodge, Chrysler, DeSoto, International trucks, Jaguar, Nash, Rambler and American Motors — it reads like a directory.

Horace Plimley took over the company when Thomas, his father, died in 1929, and remains president. Basil is the son of Horace.

What about the future of the industry?

"I think the internal combustion engine is here to stay," he said. "I don't think the steam or electric engines will be as practical or as feasible as some form of the internal combustion engine, whether they run on electricity. or perfume, or what."

Space Track Tests Prove Efficiency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Space Agency reported Wednesday that a satellite 22,300 miles over Brazil has repeatedly tracked a specially equipped automobile traveling at 60 miles an hour on the Baltimore-Washington Parkway.

The automobile's track, according to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), was located with 1,000 feet of its actual position.

The experiment was one of several being conducted by NASA's Goddard Space Flight Centre, Greenbelt, Md., with the Applications Technology Satellite (ATS) 3.

ATS 3, launched Nov. 5, 1967, is circling the earth at a speed matching the planet's rotation and thus appears to be stationary in space. In other recently concluded tests is has tracked and located a small boat in Chesapeake Bay, a NASA airplane, and the coast and geodetic survey ship, Discoverer, in the Caribbean.

Thus far ATS 3 has spotted ships' position with an accuracy of one or two miles and aircraft positions within five miles of the actual ones.

WEATHER DEVICE

The ATS 3 system originally was designed by weather scientists for tracking balloons or floating buoys carrying transmitters. It can receive weather information from as many as 40 balloons every three minutes.

Such a system, if it can be extended to include contact with several hundred balloons on a global scale, can produce new information on wind circulation and its effect on the weather. meteorologists say.

ANTHES IMPERIAL HAS 35 DAYS TO ACCEPT

Molson Gets Merger Green Light

MONTREAL (CP) — Shareholders of Molson Breweries Ltd. authorized the company at a special meeting Thursday to go ahead with a merger proposal to Anthes Imperial Ltd.

The shareholders approved bylaws giving Molson the "powers and instruments" required to implement the terms of the contemplated merger and created additional shares to enable the deal to go through.

Senator Hartland Molson, chairman of the board, told the shareholders and directors the company proposes to make an offer to all the common shareholders of Anthes Imperial Ltd. — other than those resident in the United States — "with a view to effecting a merger with Moson Breweries Ltd."

Anthes Imperial shareholders will have 35 days from Thursday to accept the Moson offer, and 75 per cent of the shareholders must give approval for the deal to be carried out. This means that roughly 15 per cent of the Anthes Imperial shareholders could sink the merger proposal because 10 per cent of the shareholders reside in the United States.

Senator Moson said, however, the "proposed merger has the unanimous endorsation of the officers and directors of both companies." It represents "in their eyes a further step, perhaps a giant step would be more apt, in the diversification of Molson."

NAME CHANGES

Under the proposed merger, the name of Molson would become Molson Industries Ltd. in English and Les Industries Molson Ltee in French.

Management of the two companies would be integrated with Senator Molson continuing as chairman of the board, D. G. Willmot, now president of Anthes Imperial, becoming president and chief executive officer, and D. M. Chenoweth, now president of Moson, becomeing vice-chairman of the board.

The shareholders voted to create an additional 2,000,000 class A shares and 1,000,000 class B shares. This increase in authorized capital was necessary to provide the company with sufficent additional shares to issue as "circumstances warrant."

The agreed, if the merger goes through, to increase from 14 to 18 the number of the board rate to $1.22 upon acceptance of of directors of the newly-merged company.

Under the terms contemplated, an Anthes class A shareholder, now receiving an annual dividend of 68 cents, would be able to increase this the offer.

The financial position of the merged enterprise would be "very strong" with $10,000,000 in cash resources, a strong working capital position and only an eight-per-cent debt ratio.

Firms to Get Tax Refunds

OTTAWA (CP) — Refunds of $236,000,000 to about 25,000 companies will begin June 30, the national revenue department announced Thursday.

The sepcial refundable tax was a feature of the 1966 budget and the refunds will carry five-per-cent interest calculated from the end of the month in which the payment was made.

The tax was levied from May 1, 1966, to March 31, 1967. The first refund installment will cover amounts paid to July, 1966. On Aug. 31 the July, 1966, payments will be refunded. Every second month thereafter another month's tax will be refunded.

Bitter Financial Battle Looms in Takeover Bid

LONDON (Reuters) — Four world tobacco giants are involved in an American bid to gain control of Britain's second largest cigarette manufacturer.

They are lined up in two rows for what appears to be a bitter financial battle.

In the front row, the Gallahers group of Britain faces its American rival Philip Morris, which sent its chairman to London Wednesday with authority to offer £46,000,000 (about $119,600,000) for half of Gallahers' share capital.

In the second row is Britain's biggest manufacturer, the Players, Wills, Imperial group and the American Tobacco Co. of New York, both of which have a sizable stake in Gallahers. They are not immediately involved in the takeover bid but are watching it closely and are liable to join in.

Philip Morris offered 25 shillings (about $2.73) each for half of Gallahers' 74,000,000 shares — nominally of 10 shillings (about $1.30) each. It made a conditional bid for the balance.

The bid came as a surprise to Gallahers chairman, Mark Norman, who only three months ago helped Philip Morris expand its worldwide empire by selling to them Gallahers' tobacco interests in Australia.

"Quite inadequate," Norman said Thursday on the share bid offer. But he asked Philip Morris for more details of their intentions.

Dealers Thursday increased Gallahers shares by three shillings and six pence each—adding nearly $12,000,000 to their market value, and lifting the price seven pence above the bid offer.

The pound is worth about $2.60 Canadian.

Seven years ago Imperial bought a 42½-per-cent share in Gallahers to ward off a threat of an earlier American takeover.

Then the British monopolies commission cracked down on the ethics of Imperial's part ownership of a rival. Although it was allowed to keep the shares it had to promise not to influence Gallahers' policy.

In May Imperial sold 26,000,000 of its Gallahers' shares for 20 shillings (about $2.60) each — five shillings less than the American offer Thursday. It still owns more and so has a direct shareholders' interest in the Philip Morris deal.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — A light trade contributed to declines in most commodities today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Considerable liquidation was noted in flax where there was little support. Liberal hedges in rapeseed were met by limited support from exporters and oats and barley trade was limited to domestic shipper interest.

Neon Shoots Ahead

Rapidly expanding Neon products shot ahead $2 this morning posting a new high of $43 on the aVncouver Stock Exchange.

All sections of the market posted strong gains as 1,040 shares changed hands to 11 a.m.

In the industrials, Imbrex, recently taken over by Neon, advanced $1 to $16 while MacMillan Bloedel gained 75 cents to $24.50 and Woodward's .50 to $17.

Hearne Copper led the advances in the mines adding on 40 cents to $4.05, followed by P.C.E. Explorations, up 20 cents at $3.70 and Brenda, up 15 cents to $9.60.

Only losers in the mines were Coronet, off 13 cents to 86 cents and Utica, down 15 cents at $3.45.

Trans Canada Oil, on the board for the first time today, traded at $3.10 while other oils showed small gains.

AT TORONTO the market posted small gains in late trading. Base metals were off.

Canadian Industrial Gas and Canada Bread advanced 1¼ each to 18¾ and 13¾, Consolidated Bathurst 1⅛ to 16½, Neon Products 1 to 42 and Thompson Newspapers 1 1-8 to 44 1-8.

Ontario Store Fixture dropped 22 to 34½ and Inco 1⅜ to 110½.

Dickenson gained 30 cents to $4.80 and Giant Yellowknife ½ to 11. Denison and Roman Corp. fell ⅜ and 24⅝.

Charter Oil and Numac picked up 25 cents each to $7.45 and $6.10. Westates Pete lost 50 cents to $9.00.

AT NEW YORK the market drifted lower in quiet trading after an early advance.

Prices eroded for no apparent reason.

Declines of individual stocks predominated over advances in a reverse of the early trend.

Although trading volume started off at a swift pace, it slowed to one of the lowest rates in recent weeks.

Only aircrafts, oils and drugs were able to maintain their position on the plus side.

Among Canadians, Granby Mining was up 1⅝, Distillers Seagrams ½, Hudson Bay Mining ⅜, Walker Gooderham ●. McIntyre Porcupine was down 1, Canadian Pacific ½, Dome Miness ½, International Nickel ⅝ and Massey ⅛.

Consolidated Proprietary added 11 cents to $1.31 on 43,650 shares in speculative mines and oils.

AT LONDON the market drifted down today on precautionary selling motivated by anxiety about economic stability at home and abroad.

British funds bore the brunt of currency fears, with losses ranging to 15-16.

Dollar stocks lacked a trend. Papers were marginally firmer, with Consolidated Paper adding $2¼ to 43¼. Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas and Imperial Oil firmed to 50 cents each.

Maximum Mortgage Rate Down

OTTAWA (CP) — The maximum rate for National Housing Act lending will drop July 1 to 8⅞ per cent from 9⅛ per cent, Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. announced today.

The new maximum applies for the months of July, August and September to mortgage loans insured by the federal government.

The NHA rate had topped nine per cent for the first time when interest rates reached a peak earlier this year.

A formula that ties the rate to yields on long-term government bonds resulted in the decrease of one-quarter of one percentage point after yields dropped off this month with the strengthening of bond prices.

Today's announcement said CMHC will continue to make direct loans for home-owner and rental housing at 8¾ per cent, the rate that has applied since April 1.

Approved lenders such as insurance companies have been charging about 8.90 per cent for home-owner loans and 8.82 per cent for rental housing during the last few months.

The NHA rate formula adds 2¼ percentage points to the average yield on seven long-term bonds during the four weeks preceding the end of each quarter. The result is dropped to the nearest eighth point.

Yields in the last four weeks averaged 6.7425, bringing the result to 8.9925, which was rounded off at 8.8750 or 8⅞.

Dissenters Want Cowichan Control

By AB KENT
Business Editor

Kent

A move to take over management control of Cowichan Copper Co. Ltd. is not regarded by president Oswood G. MacDonald as a serious threat.

"We'll keep working and let the results speak for themselves," Mr. MacDonald said.

He was answering an organized effort by former Cowichan secretary-treasurer Edward C. Dobell, who is seeking shareholder proxies in support of a new board of directors presented for the annual meeting, which has not yet been set.

Mr. Dobell has written to shareholders naming a slate that includes three professional engineers and only one name from the old board.

* * *

He complains about Mr. MacDonal—president since Cowichan was formed 16 years ago:

"His operating methods have proven to be generally in conflict with the best interests of your company.

"The affairs of the company are in a continual state of crisis. Bankruptcy has been postponed by frequent injections of new capital obtained from the public through the sale of treasury shares."

Mr. Dobell said future obligations of the company must be met from earnings since all of the 5 million authorized shares have been issued.

Mr. MacDonald said the company has been meeting obligations out of earnings, and with the advent of open pit mining—perhaps next month—mining operations should show increasing returns.

About his detractors Mr. MacDonald said:

"What have these people ever done? Where were they when we flooded? (a reference to flood that shut down the Sunro operation at Jordan River for two years).

"I spent my own assests to get going again."

He said he put $450,000 into rehabilitation, getting his money back through shares, but without interest, bonus or options.

* * *

"I've always looked after the shareholders," the president said, and outlined some of the achievements of Cowichan:

- Starting with a 10-cent stock, two mills had been put into production—a 500-ton mill at the original Cowichan Lake property and the existing 1,500-ton operation at Sunro.
- Of the money raised through treasury shares 96½ per cent has been spent on the property.
- The adverse opinion of geologists regarding ore supply had been disproved.
- In 1958 Cowichan was the only copper producer in B.C.; it was the first post-war company in Canada to negotiate a non-ferrous metal contract with Japan; the first minnig company in B.C. to employ longhole contractors.

And, finally, Mr. MacDonald said, Cowichan had put the old Sunro mine in production and built its Hatch Point loading terminal for less than $500,000.

Mr. Dobell's slate includes himself, engineers Donald Pringle (existing director), F. A. McGonigle and Richard Addison; Stafford Wilson, Sidney Fowles and William Hoyle.

* * *

Another among Canadian companies continuing to seek diversified interests is Maple Leaf Mills Ltd., which is already involved in baking, other food and grain businesses and shipping.

President G. M. MacLachlan told the annual meeting the company is looking out for firms that will integrate well with existing operations and yield higher investment returns when combined.

He also said there is a problem with existing flour sales to Russia due to Canadian wage increases, something which the Russians do not have to contend with, and the result is a profit squeeze.

He said the milling industry is unsettled and that a day of reckoning is approaching—possibly some type of compulsory arbitration in labor disputes, especially essential industry.

* * *

Cost of new mill to put Dolly Varden Mines Ltd. property into production would be a maximum of $3.4 million, according to information supplied shareholders by president Peter Cromie.

The holder of four silver properties in the Alice Arm area is seeking financing for a program that would see its Wolf group of claims first into production. Consultants indicate seven years of minng should produce 1.19 million tons of ore.

'Power System Integration Can Cut Costs'

JASPER, Alta. (CP) — Integration of electrical power systems, across provincial, state and national boundaries, can cut expanding costs, a co-chairman of British Columbia Hydro said today.

Hugh L. Keenleyside told the annual convention of the Canadian Electrical Association that integration of neighboring systems provides a "certain, immediate and substantial" way of cutting costs.

He said capital expenditure on power systems in Canada in 1968 is expected to reach $1,330,000,000, 177 per cent of the 1964 level. Even this would do little but protect against threats of blackouts.

Integration of neighboring systems carried danger — shown by the November, 1965, blackout in Ontario and the northeastern U.S. — "but this is a technical problem which can be solved."

$ EXCHANGE

VICTORIA—Purchase of U.S. funds in terms of the Canadian dollar was quoted today at $1.07⅛ for cheques, $1.07 for cash, $1.06 for silver. Sales were $1.07⅞ for cheques and $1.08 for cash.

MONTREAL (CP)—The United States dollar in terms of Canadian funds was up 3/32 at $1.07 19/32. Pound sterling was up ¼ at $2.56⅝.

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian dollar was down 3/64 at 92 15/16 in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling was down 1/32 at $2.38 17/64.

Search Starts For Right Man To Lead Lions

The big search started today at Royal Roads.

British Columbia Lions got down to serious training in preparation for the Canadian Football League season with head coach Jim Champion hunting for a quarterback to take the place of retired Bernie Faloney.

Among the candidates for the regular signal-calling position are Pete Ohler and Henry Schichtle, but neither has previously owned a starting quarterback job in the Canadian League.

Champion is expected to leave the quarterback training and the searching for the right man to lead the Lions to assistant Jackie Parker, one of the former greats of Canadian pro football.

"I'll be concentrating on the linemen," said Champion, who took over the club from Dave Skrien in the middle of last season. "The others can start work on the offence."

CACIC RETIRES

Champion was presented with an extra problem Thursday as the club held a light drill at the Services College field before having medical checkups.

Tackle Mike Cacic, fullback Bill Munsey and defensive back Neal Beaumont were absentees as the training grid was launched.

Cacic, a veteran of 10 pro campaigns, informed Champion he is retiring in a decision that appeared to surpsise the head coach.

Champion "didn't know" why Munsey wasn't on hand, while Beaumont was classified as a holdout but later announced a decision to retire.

WORK TWICE DAILY

A few players were late in arriving, but otherwise the opening day proceeded as expected. Following medicals, players were told to prepare for twice-daily workouts in their second successive pre-season visit to Royal Roads, which Champion believes has the "best facilities in Canada" for a training camp.

Lions will work out here until July 9, then return to Vancouver for an exhibition game against Saskatchewan Roughriders the following day.

WHL Gets 'Salty' Flavor

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Owners of Western Hockey League clubs voted unanimously on Thursday to grant a franchise to Daniel H. Meyer for a new club in Salt Lake City, Utah, league president, G. Al Leader, of Seattle, announced.

The Salt Lake City entry will begin operations in the 1969-70 season in the new 11,000-seat Salt Palace, which is to be completed by early next season, Leader said.

In other business, the owners voted to eliminate overtime play in the WHL,

COQUITLAM, B.C. (CP)—New Westminster Salmonbellies moved into a first-place tie with Vancouver Carlings in the National Lacrosse Association's Western Division Thursday night with a 15-10 win over Vancouver before 2,078 fans.

The game was played in Coquitlam because a civic-workers strike in New Westminster has closed down Queen's Park Arena, Salmonbellies' home.

Wayne Shuttleworth scored two goals and three assists for New Westminster. Paul Parnell scored three goals while John Shmyr, Wayne Goss and Ken Oddy each scored twice. Single goals went to Denis Deslauriers, Barrie Brownlie, Larry Henry and Ian Bull.

For Vancouver, Bill Robinson, Bill Barbour and Bob Salt each scored two goals. Bill Rawson, Val Robertson, Tony Ciolfitto and Gord Liebscher scored the other goals.

Scoring Error Sidelines Stan

MONTREAL—Veteran professional Alvie Thompson won the first round; the battle is over for Stan Homenuik, and West Coast challengers were very much in contention.

Thompson, the capable Toronto pro, moved into today's second round of the Quebec Open at nearby Islesmere Golf Club as the leader on the strength of an opening round 68—four under par—fired through a cold, windy and rainy Thursday afternoon.

Homenuik, of Winnipeg, figured to be just one stroke off Thompson's pace along with Bob Cox of Vancouver at tee-off time today.

However when officials checked his score card they found that one of his threesome—Lyle Crawford of Vancouver—had inadvertently marked a birdie four for Stan on the second hole instead of the par five that should have been scored. Crawford had a 76.

As a result the tournament committee ruled that Stan is out and it will be up to brother Wilf to carry the family colors for the remaining 36 holes of the $12,000 tournament which winds up Saturday.

Wilf was well back in the field with a six-over-par 78.

Six golfers hit par. They were Vaughan Trapp of Victoria, Robert Legare of Cap Rouge, Que., Montreal's Phil Giroux, John Green and Leon Decaire of Toronto and Bob Boldt of Eugene, Ore.

Wayne Vollmer of Vancouver, a pre-tournament favorite, was grouped at 75 with 14 other players, including Bill Wakeham of Victoria.

Olympics Buckle To Armour's Five

By The Canadian Press

Bill Armour apparently decided it was time the Peterborough Lakers defeated Detroit Olympics.

So, Armour scored five goals to lead Peterborough to a 17-11 victory over Detroit Thursday night in the Eastern Division of the National Lacrosse Association.

The victory was the first this season in six attempts for Peterborough against Detroit.

In another Eastern Division game, Toronto Maple Leafs scored six goals in the final period to trounce Montreal Canadiens 13-8.

Cy Coombes scored three goals for Peterborough while John Davis, Bob Sicinski and Jim Grady had two each.

Gaylord Powless and Grant Heffernan scored three times each for first-place Detroit.

Jack Madgett and Ron MacNeil scored two goals each for the Maple Leafs who posted their fourth victory of the season against Montreal.

O'Keefes' Newcomers Clip Oldstylers Again

Newcomers Mike Good and Jim Butterfield sparked Nanaimo O'Keefes to their second win in as many nights over Victoria by clipping the Oldstylers 8-7 in a Vancouver Island Senior Lacrosse League game at Memorial Arena Thursday.

O'Keefes had clouted Oldstylers Wednesday, 14-8, in Nanaimo.

Good set up three while Butterfield nailed two goals Thursday. Harvey Thien was the top scorer with three goals while Brian Bamford, Ken Henderson, and Keith Manns each added one.

Tom Skinner's shots hit the net twice for Victoria while other goals went to Dave Collet, Alex MacLean, Keith Lawrence, Ron Marshall and Tom Collett.

Bill Russell sparked Wednesday's victory with five goals while Ray Williams had three for Victoria.

JACKLIN IN GROOVE . . . . . . WITH SIZZLING 66

Unintentional Rest Cures for All

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tony Jacklin appears to be in the groove again and he owes it all to an unintentional layoff.

The British golfer failed to make the cut in last week's Canadian Open and did not qualify for the U.S. Open two weeks ago.

"I was mentally exhausted and I only had two weeks off in the last six months," the 23-year-old pro said Thursday after taking a three-stroke lead in the $110,000 Cleveland Open with a five-under-par 66.

Jacklin figures only two rounds of golf in the last two weeks has him back in stride.

"My play has gotten gradually worse since I won the Jacksonville Open. I finished 20th in the Masters and seventh in the Tournament of Champions. After that, it was nothing but picking up a few $200 checks."

And that's a mere pittance for Jacklin, who has won more than $51,000 this year, only his second time on the American circuit.

Gusty winds and temperatures in the 60s plagued most of the 144 golfers on the 6,742-yard Lakewood Country Club course but hardly bothered the popular Englishman.

He registered seven birdies and was one over par on only two holes in his fine performance that included 10 one-putt greens and only 26 putts.

Chasing Jacklin were a quartet of pros at 69. They were Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina, Hideyo Sugimoto of Tokyo, Dave Stockton and Wayne Yates.

Fourteen others were locked at one-under 70. This group included Deane Beman, George Archer, Tommy Aaron, Gay Brewer, Chris Blocker, Julius Boros, Bob McCallister and last year's winner Gardner Dickinson.

U.S. Open champ Lee Trevino posted a one-over 72 and complained about poor putting.

Bosox Insisted on Hitting When Sam Wasn't Striking

Mets Near Lofty Plateau; Dodgers Cool Off Marichal

By The Associated Press

Sam McDowell was fine as long as he was throwing strikes. It was only when he let Boston Red Sox hit the ball that he got in trouble.

McDowell, selected as a member of the American League all-star pitching staff earlier in the day, struck out the side in the first inning against Boston Thursday night. But in between the Red Sox scored six unearned runs on their way to a 9-3 romp over Cleveland Indians.

In the only other American League game played, Minnesota Twins blanked Baltimore Orioles 2-0 in a game ended by rain after five innings.

Joe Foy opened the Red Sox first against McDowell with a bloop single and raced to third when Larry Brown threw wild on Jerry Adair's grounder. McDowell struck out Carl Yastrzemski but Ken Harrelson stroked the first of his three hits, scoring Foy.

Brown's second error of the inning gave Boston another run and Rico Petrocelli singled for the third one. George Scott struck out but Russ Gibson walked, loading the bases and Jose Santiago singled for two runs. McDowell wild-pitched the sixth run in and walked Foy before fanning Adair for the third out.

Santiago, also an all-star, worked five innings before leaving with a slight soreness in his right elbow. He got his ninth victory in 13 decisions.

Harrelson raised his league leading average to .322 with his three hits, driving in two runs and scoring another.

Boswell Leads Twins Into Second

Minnesota moved into second place, one-half game in front of Baltimore and Cleveland and one game up on idle Oakland Athletics, by whipping the Orioles in a rain-abbreviated game.

Dave Boswell got credit for the five-inning shutout, allowing four hits.

Like McDowell, loser Jim Hardin was the victim of unearned runs. The Twins scored twice in the second when Tony Oliva opened with a wind-blown double and moved to third on Brooks Robinson's error on Bob Allison's grounder.

Allison was caught off first as Frank Quilici struck out but reached second when the Orioles tried in vain to trap Oliva off third. Jack Hernandez hit a sacrifice fly scoring Oliva and Boswell doubled Allison across.

New York's grown-up expansion babes soared within a stride of hitherto unreachable heights in the National—for the fifth time this month by trimming Houston Astros 3-1 behind right-handers Don Cardwell and Ron Taylor.

The victory put the Mets' season won-lost record at 35-36. They never have reached the .500 level, after the first week, in any of their previous six National League seasons. But for the past two weeks they've been knocking on the door.

A four-game winning streak brought the Mets within a step of the elusive break-even point on June 14. But they just can't get over the lump.

Marichal's Streak Stopped at 10

In Thursday's only other National League games, Los Angeles Dodgers nipped San Francisco Giants 6-5 on Zoilo Versalles' 11th-inning homer, ending Juan Marichal's personal winning streak at 10 games, and Atlanta Braves shaded Philadalphia Phillies 4-3 under the lights as brothers Hank and Tommie Aaron combined to drive in three runs.

Cardwell, who went into the Houston game with six straight setbacks and a 1-8 record, blanked the Astros for seven innings before leaving under fire in the eighth. With one run in, Taylor came out of the Met bullpen and got the third out, stranding two base runners, then retired the Astros in order in the ninth.

Two of Ed Charles' three hits figured in the New York scoring. Singles by Cleon Jones and Charles, a late throw to the plate on Jerry Grote's grounder, a balk by losing pitcher Denny Lemaster and Jerry Buchek's sacrifice fly sent two runs across in the seventh. Singles by Charles, Grote and Don Bosch produced an insurance run in the ninth.

Versalles' lead off homer off Marichal in the 11th ruined the Giant ace's bid for his 15th victory and dropped San Francisco into third place, one-half game behind Atlanta and seven back of the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals.

Willie McCovey drove in four runs with his 19th and 20th homers, but the Dodgers rebounded on Len Gabrielson's two-run homer in the fifth and tied it on pinch hitter Ken Boyer's run-scoring single in the sixth.

Four Dodger relievers then battled Marichal, 14-3, to a standoff until Versalles' second homer broke the tie.

Hank Aaron drilled his 14th homer and Tommie delivered two runs with a pair of singles, helping the Braves take a 4-2 lead into the ninth.

Springs Invade Cowichan Bay

By STEWART LANG

While Victoria anglers have been waiting for the long weekend something has happened. Salmon fishing has dropped off near home.

However, they might find the extra time just the thing for a safari to northern portions of Vancouver Island, where salmon and trout catches have been more consistent.

Of course, the picture could change in a hurry, but this is the way things have been shaping up in Island water:

In the Campbell River area, spring salmon are reaching the 30-pound class and coho over five poinds are no longer unusual. Butler's Point, the Lighthouse and the more sheltered waters of Brown's Bay and Duncan Bay have producing good catches.

Dogfish have presented some problems off Comox, but fishermen are connecting with fair numbers of Coho out towards Texada Island, using up to 16 ounces of weight. Coho and springs are both hitting well at Bate's Beach and some husky springs are striking lures near the black buoy between Comox and Royston.

Across the Island, springs and coho are moving near the mouth of the Alberni Canal and some brisk action has been reported around Kirby Point and Swail Rock.

Nanaimo sportsmen have been trolling deep for catches offshore from Entrance Light, Five Fingers and Snake Island.

Cowichan Bay is causing some excitement with an unexpectedly early run of big springs. Moochers have been hooking salmon up to 30 pounds off the CNR wharf and deep trollers are also connecting with big ones. Some fair catches of fish up to 12 pounds have also been taken on herring strip used with six to eight ounces of weight. Deep fishing is also producing a fair number of springs in Sansum Narrows.

★ ★ ★

Some anglers believe the springs at Cowichan Bay have moved in from Saanich Inlet, where an influx of brown algae last Saturday apparently ended a long stretch of excellent fishing. The discolored water probably makes it difficult for fish to see lures and when anglers have been dropping lines below the algea area they have been been plagued by hake and sea bass.

While very few large springs have been caught in Inlet waters this week, some coho and jack springs have been taken off Mill Bay and Patricia Bay and in Sattelite Chanel.

Some coho have been jumping at the Goldstream end but few are hitting and the best bet for persistent anglers appears to be the centre of the Inlet.

On the unusual side, the Reverend Canon Baker was fishing near Bamberton when he boated two steelhead—9:06 and six pounds.

Pedder Bay now boasts the largest fish reported caught in local waters this season—a 36-pounder—and big springs and coho have moved into the bay itself. Most catches have been coming in from the yellow buoy to the loading docks.

Off Oak Bay, fishing has slowed down in the past week with some springs off Trial Island and the Gap, and a few coho near Goat Island and Fiddle Reef.

★ ★ ★

Trout fishing is still holding at the excellent mark in the Campbell River area, with most lakes good on fly, troll or casting. And there is an unconfirmed report of a summer run of steelhead in Gold River.

Fishing has been good near the top end of Comox Lake, especially in Mosquito Bay. Elk River is producing on flies and spinning lures near the mouth. Forbidden Plateau lakes above 2,200 feet are still out of the question unless someone wanted to try ice fishing.

The Wilimar Lakes have also been reported excellent for both rainbow and cutthroat trout.

Black ants have been hatching in the Nanaimo area and Kidney, Westwood, Panther and Echo lakes are good bets.

Brown trout are still biting from the Mile 66 bridge on up the Cowichan River but the lake is quieter than last week. Nanaimo Lakes are not too bad near the upper end and some sea-run cutthroat have been taken in tidewater near Duncan.

Closer to Victoria, Weeks, Shawnigan, Durrance, Elk and Prospect have been producing. Wolf and Council Lakes are fairly good.

NIBBLES: Don't forget the VSIAA junior derby on Sunday, July 14. All youngsters of 16 or under may enter and win prizes but to win the trophies they must be members of the VSIAA. Derby hours are from 6 a.m. to 12 noon ... Oregon fishermen hooked 24,800 sping salmon this year in the Columbia and Williamette Rivers. Biologists said there were 14,800 taken from the Columbia and 10,000 from the Williamette and the catch was still below last year's ... Figures released by the Fish and Wildlife Branch note a record deer harvest on Vancouver Island and the adjacent Gulf Islands last fall. A harvest of 25,979 deer were taken by 24,288 hunters, 91 per cent of which were island residents. Forty-two percent of the hunters were skunked, 23 per cent got one deer, 18 per cent got two and 17 per cent bagged three.

Ingrahams Taste Sweet Success

"What's in a name?"

"That which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet."

But it was the aroma of victory — not roses — that clung to Ingraham Hotel (nee Orphans) as they pounded Greaves Movers 19-4 in a Senior Amateur Baseball League game at Layritz Park Thursday.

Another sweet smell was that of revenge as Jerry Ciochetti and Bob Lumley faced former manager Les Brice of Greaves for the first time since being traded two weeks ago.

Ciochetti went three-for-four at the plate and scored three runs while veteran catcher Lumley scored three times.

Harold Cliff posted the win by pitching a four-hitter as Ingraham loosed a 15-hit barrage against Brice, Stan Thame and Bob Bowles.

Al Hurst was three-for-three, Tony Crozier three-for-four, while Brian Craig and Brian Brossard each drove in three runs for winners. Victoria sent 13 men to the plate during the 10-run fourth inning.

KEN ROSEWALL
. . . one to beat

Booming Serve Throws Scare Into Rosewall

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — If anyone is to stop Ken Rosewall from winning the Wimbledon open tennis championships, he's got to do it by scoring points quickly.

Ask Charlie Pasarell, top-ranked U.S. amateur who came near to toppling the great Australian in the second round Thursday.

"Unless you score the points quickly, you don't win it at all," the husky star from Santurce, Puerto Rico said.

"Once a rally gets going, he gets better and better with each stroke and eventually he puts one right through you."

SERVE ALMOST WORKED

Pasarell's booming service—one of the most powerful in the world—brought him close to glory on the centre court. Finally Rosewall, after trailing 0-2 in the final set, won 7-9, 6-1, 6-8, 6-2, 6-3.

It was a classic match and it left the fans wondering whether Rosewall can win Wimbledon 12 years after his last final appearance. He turned pro after losing to fellow-Australian Lew Hoad in 1956. Rosewall has been classed with veteran Pancho Gonzales as the best player never to win Wimbledon.

Australian pro Rod Laver moved into the third round Thursday with a hard-won 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 victory over Stan Smith of Los Angeles, Calif.

URBAN WINS

Faye Urban of Windsor, Ont., had three match points against her in the third set but still defeated Britain's Margaret Lee 5-7, 6-0, 7-5 in the first round.

The match was the last played on the outer courts and it was almost dusk when Miss Urban broke Miss Lee's service to lead 6-5 and then close out the match with greater power n the rallies.

WESTERN SPEEDWAY

Hot Field to Run In Foster Hundred

Red hot super modifieds return to the car racing oval at Western Speedway Monday as the Canadian-American Modified Racing Association presents this season's first championship competition — the "Billy Foster Championship 100".

Twenty-four cars will start in the gruelling 100-lap main event, which will be preceeded by trophy and heat races.

Officials indicate there is an outside chance that defending-champion Norm Ellefson of Spokane will attend. Two-times CAMRA champion, Ellefson has been competing in an eastern circuit for the past few months.

Already entered is Jim Roberts, currently top driver in the CAMRA loop and winner of the Strawberry Cup event here last May.

Second-place Bud Gorder and 30-year-old professional veteran, Bob Gregg, who holds the track record for modifieds at Western, will be trying to gain on Roberts.

ROY SMITH ENTERED

Among contenders coming from Vancouver will be ace pilots such as Glen Parsons, Denny Goldstraw, Cal Arnold and Len Jones.

Victoria's hopes for victory must rest with Roy Smith, currently eighth on the CAMRA circuit and rookie Tony Mortel, who has shown exceptional promise in recent races.

Race time is at 2 p.m. Monday with time trials at 1.

On Saturday the regular stock car events will be run, plus the first crash-elimination derby of the season, which has drawn a pre-entry of 15 cars. Time trials start at 7 p.m.

Early Spurt By Bottlers Chills King's

John Sanderson singled in one run and then scored on an error in the first inning to spark Victoria Bottle Exchange to an early lead and a 6-1 victory over King's Hotel in Stuffy McGinnis Senior Men's Softball League play Thursday in Heywood Avenue Park.

Barry Granger scored two runs on two hits in aiding the winners.

Ron Griffis' single and Mike Cox's double accounted for Kings' lone run in the sixth.

Five games will be played in double-knockout fashion each day, starting at 10 a.m.

O.C. CRICKET

SOUTHEND, England (Reuters)—Bob Cowper, 27-year-old offspin bowler, returned career-best figures of seven for 42 as he ripped through the Essex batting Thursday to give the Australian cricketers a win by an innings and 58 runs with a day to spare.

Cowper, who had never previously taken more than five wickets in an innings, dazed the Essex batsmen as he emulated the feat of team-mate Dave Renneberg who took eight for 72 in the county's first innings Wednesday.

Surrey 210 for nine declared and secondly 19 for no wicket, Somerset 116.
Sussex 169 and secondly 99 for four, Lancashire 169.
Northamptonshire 202 for four vs. Warwickshire.
Worcestershire 178 and secondly 59 for no wicket, Nottinghamshire 155.

Jack Butterfield was re-elected president for a three-year term.

Sacrificing Style Paid Off for Lions

Red Lion Inn went a sacrificial route Thursday to gain a 3-0 shutout victory over Bate Construction in Senior Men's Softball League play at Central Park.

The sacrificing paid off as Don Lyon of Bates held Lions to a mere two hits.

Don McIntosh and Bob Holness walked in the first inning and catcher Ralph Branting dropped a sacrifice bunt to advance the runners. Harvey Stevenson then lofted a sacrifice fly to score McIntosh from third base.

McIntosh drew another walk in the third inning. Holness' sacrifice bunt and a two-base error enabled McIntosh to come home.

Tim Goudie scored Lions' final run in the fifth inning, on Jack Lusk's sacrifice fly.

Glen Langsett struck out nine batters for a three-hit win that pushed Red Lion into third spot.

NO REPEATERS FROM 1967 . . . . . . FOR ANNUAL ALL-STAR GAME

Williams Selects Young Pitchers

BOSTON (AP) — New Faces of 1968 could well be the name for the youthful and relatively inexperienced pitching corps which will represent the American League in the All-Star game at Houston July 9.

Not a single repeater from 1967 was on the seven-man staff named Thursday by manager Dick Williams.

Four were chosen for the first time in their careers, while the other three—Denny McLain of Detroit, Tigers Sam McDowell of Cleveland Indians and Mel Stottlemyre of New York Yankees—have hurled in just one previous classic each.

The quartet of newcomers includes Jose Santiago of Williams' own defending champion Boston Red Sox, Luis Tiant of Cleveland, Tommy John of Chicago White Sox and John Odom of Cleveland.

ODOM IS YOUNGEST

Santiago, 27, is the oldest member of the staff. Odom, who turned 23 last month, is the youngest.

McLain, the league's big winner with a 13-2 record, was the starting pitcher the only other time he was selected in 1966, hurling three perfect innings.

McDowell, 7-6, pitched two innings in the 1965 game, giving up one run in taking the 6-5 loss. The fireballing left-hander also was selected in 1966, but had arm trouble and was replaced on the squad by team-mate Sonny Siebert.

Stottlemyre, 9-4, was picked but did not play in 1965, then pitched two scoreless innings in 1966.

John, only other southpaw selected besides McDowell, has compiled a 6-0 record despite hurling for the light-hitting White Sox.

The 1968 starting team except for the pitcher, chosen by vote of the players and announced earlier includes catcher Bill Freehan, Detroit; first baseman Harmon Killebrew, Minnesota Twins; second baseman Rod Carew, Minnesota; third baseman Brooks Robinson, Baltimore; shortstop Jim Fregosi, California Angels; and outfielders Carl Yastrzemski, Boston, Frank Howard, Washington Senators, and Willie Horton, Detroit.

The rest of the squad will be selected by Williams and named later.

Castle Leads Prize Parade

Agnes Castle took the largest share of honors in the first quarter of the women's division of Gorge Vale Golf Club.

Mrs. Castle won the 36-hole club handicap with a net 158, one stroke ahead of Clara Johnson, and the medal honors in the Paterson Cup event. Mrs. Castle was second to Elsie Saunders in the Paterson Cup final.

Mrs. Johnson teamed with Nancy Sing to take the Wenger Basket greensome event, finishing a half-point ahead of Jennie Harlan and Eleanor Cosborn.

Mrs. Harlan and Anne Dye took the four-ball Hannan Cup event; Mrs. Dye won the Hodges Cup competition, and Chris Holland took the Wilkerson Cup. Margaret Fry, Mrs. Harlan, Muriel Ellingson and Pat Mitchell won awards for their 18-hole rounds in the latter two events.

4 on the floor, 5 in the seats,* 96 under the hood and only $2495 in the showroom.

This low priced Datsun wagon could well turn out to be the perfect family car.

It doesn't look like a box. Or park like a bus.

It can carry a family of five plus the faithful St. Bernard. Or two people and enough champagne and luggage to escape from the kids for a month.

But you don't give up one bit of car comfort. The attractively contoured body gives room inside without bulk outside. The independent front suspension picks its way over bumps like a cat. The luxurious interior remains whisper quiet. The windows-up ventilation system changes the air several times each minute as you drive. The strong heater-defroster quickly makes high noon out of chilly mornings.

There's security too. Smooth, sure disc brakes on the front. Safety glass all round. Three point seat belts. Door locks that can't spring even under extreme pressure. Unlimited visibility with no side-window blind spots.

As for pep. Heartwarming. This is the most powerful wagon in its class. It has 96 HP geared to deliver a top speed of 100 m.p.h. It cruises at freeway speeds with the solid feel of a thoroughbred sports car. And only sips at the gasoline . . . thanks to the advanced design of its overhead camshaft engine.

SPECIAL NOTE: See how the rear door swings up. There's no lip on the vinyl covered deck so that you can slide shopping or heavy packages in at knee height. No awkward lifting. Come to think of it . . . better than a car!

You can buy this smart looking wagon with sporty bucket seats and four on the floor for $2495 (suggested retail P.O.E.). Or the relaxing Borg-Warner Automatic, with bench seats, for about $200 more. Both offer you the big Datsun benefit . . . 100,000 mile reliability.

Check the Datsun wagons out at your nearest dealer. But we warn you. Once you've seen them it's hard not to get carried away.

ANOTHER SEAT LOST BY U.K. LABORITES

LONDON (CP) — The opposition Conservatives wrested yet another stronghold from Prime Minister Wilson's Labor party Thursday, winning a byelection in the textile towns of Nelson and Colne in northwest England.

The vote was 16,566 for Conservative David Washington against 12,944 for Labor's Betty Boothroyd. David Chadwick polled 3,016 for the Liberals and Brian Tattersall, running as an English nationalist, received 1,255.

The Conservative victory reduced Labor's over-all majority in the 630-seat Commons to 68, compared with 97 after the 1966 general election.

Regatta Featured on Weekend

By SHIRLEY HEWETT

This is an active weekend for yacht racers.

As well as the Victoria-Mauri Race, many Northwest Sailing boats will be involved in the annual Pacific International Yachting Association Regatta.

Hewett

Seattle is the host club, and the racing is at Bellingham Bay in co-operation with the Bellingham Yacht Club.

Pre-race rendezvous is Tuesday at Decatur Head. The regatta concludes with special events for the Six Metres the following weekend.

* * *

Two Royal Victoria Yacht Club racing teams will travel to Seattle this weekend for semi-final elimnations.

The Clifford D. Mallory Cup is awarded to the championship senior sailing crew in North America.

Originating in 1952, the annual series was at first open only to men 18 and older. Since 1953, the regulations have permitted the two crew members to be either male or famale, but the skipper must be a man.

The Seattle series will be hosted by Corinthian Yacht Club, with the two-day events sailed in Thistles.

Skipper Sid Halls with crew Robert Grundison and Jeremy Hewett will represent Vancouver Island for the area H contest.

Winner goes to San Francisco in August, where the finals will be held in Tempests.

At the Seattle Yacht Club, the sail-off for an Area H. Sears Cup team will involve Chris Sanderson with crew Rob Hughes, Dave Carere and alternate Rob thompson.

The Sears Cup is open to crews of three (boys or girls) over 13 and under 18. Donated in 1921 for competition in Massachusetts Yacht Clubs, it was later deeded to the NAYRU, and is now North American in scope.

It has been won four times by Canadians, in 1960 by a Royal Vancouver Yacht Club team.

The Victoria boys will represent Vancouver Island, following last weekend's elimination series at Maple Bay, sailed in Lightnings.

* * *

Exactly one year ago, newly-elected Esquimalt-Saanich MP David Anderson conquered a challenge of another magnitude.

From riot-torn Hong Kong, he could enlist only one crew member to accompany him on a 2,100-mile voyage to Yokohama, with a brief stopover at Naha on Okinawa Island.

David was skippering his own 30-foot yawl. It was a trip marked by bad weather. For much of the three weeks he travelled without mainsail and with a sea anchor.

He had no sunsights because of the weather, and his radio-compass quit because of the humidity. He suffered a knockdown which split the cabin.

His route was long one of the world's most heavily travelled shipping lanes, where the large bulk carriers were an added hazard requiring constant lookouts.

He recalls the adventure matter-of-factly, commenting that he expects a little smoother sailing when he rejoins his yacht where she is presently moored in Ottawa. The boat was shipped back on a freighter from Japan to Montreal.

BRING 'EM BACK ALIVE SAFETY COUNCIL SLOGAN

Come back alive!

But, predicts the Highway Safety Council, 90 people will not this Dominon Day weekend.

The "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" slogan has been adopted by automobile clubs across Canada and it is hoped that, by summer end, fewer people will have died on the highways than in past years.

The highway council predicts that in B.C. alone seven people will die at the weekend.

There is a trail of grim statistics to back up that forecast.

In the first four months of this year, traffic accidents have taken 153 lives, injured 5,354 and caused almost $8 million in property damage.

GRIM STATISTICS

There have been nine traffic fatalites in the Victoria area so far and Victoria hospitals report an increase in the number of patients treated for injuries from automobile accidents in the first five monhs of this year over 1967.

I doesn't have to happen.

"We have grown too complacent," says Jerry McHale, manager of the Victoria Automobile Association. "We think it can't happen to us. We drive for years and nothing happens, so we think we're safe."

But a B.C. study of highway deaths in the province in 1966 shows that in 85 per cent of fatal accidents the drivers involved were in "normal condition" and had over five years driving experience. Often the driver knew the roads well and became complacent.

The aim of "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" is to serve as a constant reminder to the drivers.

"It's a more positve approach," says Donald Bruce of the Vancouver association. "It's better than just predicting deaths."

The auto club offers the following tips:

- Make a special effort to keep alert, especially on "familiar" stretches of highway near your destination and around your home. Studies show drivers tend to be lulled into a false sense of security here and accidents, often fatal, result.
- On the road, stop and rest at least once every three hours. This is a minimum. A stop every two hours is recommended to avoid highway hypnosis.
- Keep speeds and passing down. This is a holiday not a race. Excessive passing leads to driver tension.
- Light rainfall creates a dangerous slick on highways, and should be taken as a warning to slow down.
- In packing the car, put all articles in the trunk. Any object loose inside the car becomes a dangerous projectile in the case of a collision or violent stop.

These tips cover situations which have caused the bulk of highway deaths or injuries.

This weekend and throughout this summer a greater flow of tourist and holiday traffic is anticipated than ever before.

SURREY YOUTH DIES OF WOUND

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) —Wayne Kiwasaki, 17, of Surrey, B.C., died in hospital Thursday of a bullet wound in the head suffered two days earlier when he was shooting with companions in bushes at Surrey.

New President To Revitalize Portage Issue

The new president of the Portage Inlet and Gorge Waterway Association wants to see the organization revitalized.

Dr. John Rogers said he wants to see more people join the association "and more public interest in the deplorable state of the "Gorge." He succeeds Lloyd Smith as president.

"Unless we get more support it will be a considerable time before anything is done about it," he said.

The annual meeting Wednesday night attracted 30 voting members "and there are 250 people who have homes around Portage Inlet and the Gorge. Something is wrong."

He announced a new policy of co-operation with the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health, in contrast to past conflicts between the two groups, most recently over the posting of polluted water signs.

"I told the members before my election that I am not in favor of the present policy of fighting with the board," he said.

"I feel this association has the same objectives and the same problems as the board and we should be working towards one end."

Other officers elected were James Gorst, vice-president; Richard Faulks, secretary, and Dennis Hendrickson, treasurer.

Nfld. Signs Big Oil Contract

ST. JOHN'S—Premier Joseph R. Smallwood, of the province of Newfoundland, announced today that his government's refinery, now under construction at Come By Chance, Newfoundland, has contracted for 100,000 barrels of crude oil a day for 10 years with the British Petroleum Company Ltd. This will amount to 360 million barrels over the 10-year life of the contract, and is one of the largest crude oil sales contracts in the history of the oil industry.

CONCILIATION REQUESTED

Airport Workers Seek Higher Pay

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Air Traffic Control Association said today negotiations with the government for higher pay and improved working conditions for air traffic controllers are deadlocked.

The association, representing about 1,000 government employees who man airport control towers and supervise military and civilian air traffic, applied to the labor department for appointment of a conciliation board.

John David Lyon of Winnipeg, association president, said in a statement that the union's discussions with the federal treasury board have been under way since January, but have dwelt mainly on administrative matters such as training and safety.

"Monetary matters have not been seriously discussed," he said.

"We feel the treasury board has displayed a rigidity and indifference to our position, and they do not appear to be seriously interested in working toward a solution."

A dispute between the government and the association in December, 1966, ended with a government threat of legislation forcing the controllers to remain on the job. Now, under civil service collective bargaining, the association would have the right to call a strike after normal labor law requirements are met.

The government now has offered increases of three per cent this year and three per cent next year. The spokesman said this is inadequate, in view of the rising cost of living, increased complexity of the air controllers' work, and the fact they did not get all that was suggested by the conciliator in 1966.

The spokesman declined to make public the association's present wage demands.

Chief Justice Faces Protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eighteen Republicans in the U.S. Senate, opposing President Johnson's appointments to the Supreme Court are far short of the force they must marshal to block confirmation. But it is enough to make rough going if a filibuster develops.

Signers of the petition so far represent half the Senate's 36 Republican members. More could sign.

If Southern Democrats, loudly critical of the court's liberal rulings, should join the opposition, confirmation of Abe Fortas as chief justice and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice could be in doubt.

President Johnson Wednesday named Fortas to succeed the retiring Earl Warren and Thornberry to the vacancy created by Fotas' elevation. Fortas, fourth Jew ever to serve on the court, would be the first to lead it.

The Republican petition, circulated by Robert P. Griffin of Michigan and George Murphy of California, takes a stand against letting a "lame duck" president fill court vacancies.

HAS NO GEARING

Both Griffin and Murphy said it had no bearing on the personalities of Johnson's appointees. The petition was drawn up before Johnson made public his appointment with the object of opposing Johnson's move to name anyone to the court.

Since Thornberry and Fortas have taken stands on the liberal sides in cases involving such things as civil rights, they could be expected to side with liberals on the court.

No date has been set for the committee's hearings on the nominations, but indications are that none will be held until after Congress returns on July 8 from the Fourth of July holiday.

Low Cost Dental Care Plan Urged

VANCOUVER (CP) — Guidelines for a pre-paid dental care program for children, based primarily on preventive care, have been adopted by the Canadian Dental Asssociation annual convention.

The association is calling on all provinces to enact legislation for compulsory fluoridation of water supplies as part of the program.

President W. P. Munsie said Thursday the association is suggesting provincial dental associations set up pilot dental care programs in cooperation with government and health departments.

He said the program would include an intensive dental health education program carried out mainly through the schools and public health departments.

Dr. Munsie said the association envisages a pre-paid dental care program based on the individual's ability to pay.

Close to 7,000,000 children under 14 would be eligible for the program by 1980, requiring 3,400 dentists, at a cost of $175,000,000, the association said.

STUDY OF MAN

UBC Receives Ford Grant Of $500,000

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Ford Foundation Thursday announced a $500,000 grant to the University of British Columbia for a study of man and his environment.

William E. Felling of New York, a foundation officer, said UBC was chosen largely because of its work in such fields as fisheries, forestry and agriculture.

Chosen to correlate the studies, zoology professor Crawford Holling said advances made at UBC in biology, fisheries, agriculture, forestry, resources economics and community and regional planning were the basis for UBC getting the grant.

Dr. Ian McTaggart-Cowan, UBC dean of graduate studies, said a long series of B.C. Resource Conferences which bring together university, government and business representatives annually has laid a good basis for the studies.

An objective of the project is to train a new type of scientist capable of managing natural resources.

FRIGID DAYS MAKE PHONE CALLS MOUNT

EDMONTON (CP) — The Edmonton telephone system has 177,739 telephones.

Last year, subscribers placed 368,146,400 calls, which works out to 2,081 calls a year from each phone.

Bert Billingslye, commercial manager of the city-owner system, thinks this is greater per-capita use of phones than anywhere else in Canada.

The reason?

"Our cold climate might have a lot to do with it," he says.

FIVE-YEAR PROGRAM

NWT Makes Bid for Tourist Dollar

By RON MacDONALD

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) —Canada's Far North is out to attract tourists.

A five-year tourist development program in the Northwest Territories was outlined Thursday at the opening of the Territorial Governing Council.

The first phase of the program next year will try to attract tourists to the highways in the southwestern part of the arctic lands with campsites and access to such spectacular attractions as Alexandra and Louise Falls and Dead Man's Canyon.

The plans were outlined in the opening address of the council by Commissioner Stuart Hodgson, chief officer of the Northwest Territories government. He said their fulfillment hinges on obtaining necessary financing from the federal government.

Arctic winter games, drawing competitors from the Yukon and Alaska, as well as the territories, are proposed in the second phase in 1970, which will be built around the theme of the territories' centennial.

The territories were created as part of Canada by order-in-council July 15, 1870.

Other centennial proposals include a canoe race down the Mackenzie River, and an Arctic Ocean cruise from Europe into the Baffin Island-Hudson Bay regions.

PLAN NEW PARKS

Also planned for 1970 is the creation of new national and territorial parks.

Mr. Hodgson also announced appointment of J. J. Choquette, executive director of the Canadian Association of Provincial Liquor Commissioners, as chairman of a board of inquiry which will study liquor control and drinking problems in the North.

Other members of the board are the Right Rev. H. G. Cook, Anglican Bishop of the Mackenzie diocese; Mayor Dunn Godwin, Hay River, N.W.T.; and M. Rennie, manager of the Hudson's Bay Company store at Frobisher Bay.

The commissioner noted the announcement of Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing that administrative responsibility for education, welfare, municipal services and local government will be transferred from Ottawa to the territorial governments here during the next two years.

Mr. Hodgson said effort will be needed to involve Indian, Eskimo and mixed-race people in the expanding processes of government.

HOW MUCH DO YOU GIVE AND HOW MUCH DO YOU EXPECT!

Values are relative, you can't give a little and get a lot. If your sense of value concerns itself only with the present and ignores the future, then prepare for regrets! The basic cause and reason for differences of values is according to your capacity for giving. So give the most and expect the best!

DOCTOR DOLITTLE

Victoria Premiere
Haida Theatre

"I talked with a pig this morning!"

This is a film, not just for children, but for all who believe in a corner of their hearts in good white magic.

It has fantasy, humor, a little pathos and a number of talking animals that can be enjoyed by children of four, old ladies of 94 and dignified professional gentlemen of 54.

A large and diversified audience entered fully into the whimsical spirit of Doctor Dolittle Thursday night and the entire proceeds of the premiere performance went to the G. R. Pearkes clinic for handicapped children.

Rex Harrison now almost synonymous with Professor Higgins in My Fair Lady, fairly dominates the screen as the gentle doctor who learns to converse with animals in more than 400 languages from Alligatorese to Zebran.

He also studies Goldfish by placing one ear in the water.

* * *

This rare ability leads Dr. Dolittle and his friends into an exotic world of exotic journeyings in which the abnormal is accepted as the normal.

It would be foolish to take this film seriously. It is based on 12 Dr. Dolittle novels by the late Hugh J. Lofting, which originated as letters to his children during the First World War.

Over the years they have been accepted as classics.

Anthony Newley is starred as Matthew Mugg, the Irish Cat's Meat Man, and Richard Attenborough has a field day as the circus proprietor.

The end result is a poetic and humorous tale in which there are bright, lively tunes, fine color photography and some pointed comments on the treatment of animals by human beings.

Nude Helen Bit Nervous On Stage

STRATFORD ON AVON, England (AP) — A female nude appeared on stage at the Royal Shakespear Theatre in the Bard's hometown Thursday, and to the surprise of none there was an enthusiastic capacity audience on hand.

Blonde Maggie Wright, 24, was playing Helen of Troy in a first-night performance of Dr. Faustus. Casting the role, producer Clifford Williams had advertised that he wanted a nude Helen because that was the best way to give an image of physical beauty.

The young actress made two brief appearances in the raw. The first time the audience had a side view for half a minute as she sauntered across the stage.

The second, she was on stage for about three minutes and was kissed twice by Eric Porter playing the lead role.

Miss Wright was not available for comment afterward.

A theatre spokesman said: "She was a bit nervous."

French TV Network Blackout Ends

MONTREAL (CP) — The CBC resumed French-language newscasts at 10 p.m. Thursday on its radio network and at 11 p.m. on television, ending a blackout of regular news broadcasts in French it began at midnight Tuesday night.

Cause of the blackout was the refusal by reporters in the Montreal French-language newsroom to participate in the corporation's planned television coverage of election results Tuesday night.

The CBC ran a movie film in place of election night coverage and reacted to the work stoppage by suspending news broadcasts on its French-language radio and television networks until the dispute could be settled.

The newsroom reporters voted 84 to 6 in favor of refusing to work on the election show following the removal Tuesday of Claude-Jean Devirieux, a television reporter, from the election staff.

DEVIRIEUX
. . . in storm centre

Mr. Devirieux was removed after CBC management objected to his description on a news broadcast of bloody riots which followed separatist protests to the presence of Prime Minister Trudeau at the St. Jean Baptiste Day parade in downtown Montreal Monday night.

COVERED RIOT ALONE

Talks were held all day Thursday between management and the reporters' union, which has claimed the dispute could have been avoided had the CBC assigned more men to cover the riot—Mr. Devirieux was alone—and had it televised the riot live.

Mr. Devirieux also was present at the talks, but a management statement announcing resumption of regular newscasts in French said the corporation would suspend judgment "on the disciplinary measures it feels should be taken against the personnel responsible for the blackout of election night coverage."

ABERNATHY TO FAST IN POVERTY PROTEST

By THE WASHINGTON POST

WASHINGTON — The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, the jailed chieftain of the poor people's campaign, started an indefinite hunger fast Thursday in a new gesture to dramatize the plight of the poor.

"This is indeed a sick society," he told a packed press conference at D.C. jail, referring to what he feels has been an inadequate response so far by Congress and the government to the demands of the 8-week-old campaign.

"It seems that even the battle for the right of poor people to live decently requires an almost revolutionary impact on Congress and the nation before they will react," he said.

"I must make my witness and join the ranks of the hungry people to arouse the conscience of this nation," he said in reference to his liquid-only fast.

"I also want to appeal to my brothers not to fall to the temptation of violence," he said.

Violence and rioting do "so much damage to our communities and give license to the police to inflict even greater punishment on our people," he said.

TORONTO STRIKE ENDS

Tons of Garbage Confront Crews

TORONTO (CP) — Pick-up of more than 50,000 tons of accumulated garbage began today after a strike by 3,700 outside workers ended with an apparent Metropolitan Toronto victory over the union.

The membership of Local 43 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees voted Thursday night 1,062 to 724 to accept wage proposals essentially the same as Metro's offer before the strike began a week ago.

Street cleaners and workers who man water and sewage treatment plants and look after maintenance at parks were to report to work today.

The workers originally asked for a 50-per-cent increase in the basic wage of $2.61 an hour for laborers. Prior to the strike they had scaled down their demands to 20 per cent.

Metro's offer, accepted by the workers at a meeting Thursday night, was for a 15-per-cent increase—10 per cent retroactive to last Dec. 31 with an additional five per cent Dec. 31, 1968. The settlement now will raise the hourly rate to $3 for laborers by Jan. 1.

Nearly every speaker at the membership meeting which preceded the voting called Metro's offer unpalatable.

But after a week without pay, most members appeared anxious to settle and return to work.

Meto Chaiman William Allen said that the city and Metro held to a principle.

He said Local 79, representing Metro's inside workers, settled this year for a 15-per-cent increase in wages. Metro was "determined not to doublecross them."

Mr. Allen said what was fair for inside workers was fair for outside workers.

Mainlanders To Play City Polo Players

The newly-formed Victoria Polo Club will play its first match on home grounds this weekend.

The Saturday-Sunday matches starting at 2:30 p.m. on both days, will mark the opening of the club's polo field at Veyaness and East Saanich Roads.

The challenging team is from the Southland Polo Club of Vancouver who are bringing over 16 horses for the event.

Saturday will be a round-robin and Sunday the main game.

Victoria faces a hard match as its top player and captain Tony Younge, won't be among the players. He's recovering from an injury received while playing in Washington.

Jonathan Parker will replace him as captain. Other players are Eoin Ruthven, Andy Barrie, Basil "Nip" Parker and Arthur Weeks.

Vancouver will be represented by Don Moffet, Charles Hetherington, Pat Oswald, and Dr. C. McKenzie.

Since the club was formed earlier this year, members have played the Toppenish Club near Yakima, Washington, and the Oswego Hunt Club, Portland, Oregon.

Arthur Mayse

Although most of us have become city-broken to the point where we patiently wait our turns in any line-up, there's always at least one aggressive-primitive type who insists on breaking the pattern.

On the highways, he's the weaver who endangers a hundred lives in the course of a traffic mile. At bargain counters and cashiers' wickets, she's the woman—I will not call her a lady—who shoves or edges her way in front of you.

If she bothers to excuse her behavior, her line runs like this: "I'm in a terrible rush. You don't mind, do you?" Variations are, "I'm so sorry, but my husband's double parked," or "I just have this one little item."

Of course you don't mind, but being civilized, you don't crush her instep or go out and clobber her husband, if he isn't too big. Anyway, the poor guy has to live with her, and that's punishment enough. So, by sheer gall, this outlaw gets away with it.

But here's a lady of our town who, her rightful place usurped, was granted a small, sophisticated triumph.

She was waiting in a meat-bargin queue when one of these female place-pirates barged in ahead of her.

The clerk glanced at our girl, who lifted her eyebrows and shrugged her shoulders. Reading assent, the young man wrapped the line-crasher's steak and ran up 89 cents on his cash register.

He then took our lady's bargain special — same weight, same price — and with the merest hint of a smile, rang up 79 cents.

I have always regarded Ralph Loffmark as a brand to be plucked from the Social Credit burning. Now, by his veto of the atrocious scheme by which an urban and semi-urban area's raw sewage would be dumped into the saltchuck, he has justified my hunch.

After purging and penance, our provincial health minister may make a good, honest Liberal one day.

Now, if he will but dig in his heels and stand firm, the official advocates of outfall disposal will be forced to do as they should have done in the first place.

This is to make a thorough study of two aspects of pollution control that appear to have been passed over with hasty and misleading statements.

One should concern itself with sewage treatment — not mere chopping, but treatment in approved form.

The other related study should deal with land disposal methods, which seem to have been discarded with virtually no investigation.

I trust too that the provincial ban will apply to the 1,300-foot outfall through which Saanich discharges raw sewage into Haro Strait.

As a further note on a problem that has been too long skirted, we have MP-elect David Anderson's assurance that under a still-active federal scheme, Ottawa stands ready to help municipaliteis finance approved sewage disposal systems.

Months ago in this column, I suggested that we should be hollering for just such aid. What better time than now?

For the final instalment in my this-week's account of deputy-returning officers at work, hark back to election night when they descended on the returning offices from all points of the compass.

Most were women, and they clung firmly to those ballot boxes with their counted but still vital cargo. No husband was going to carry them, by golly! Not till they had surrendered their burdens to harried clerks with six arms each did the deputies relax.

"A long, long day!" one of them remarked. And another, "Wonder when we get our $24?" And from somewhere in the weary throng, a cheerful voice declared, "Thank goodness that's over!"

So it is, except to report that on election day morning, the notice board outside a Victoria place of worship carried this question: "How Should a Christian Vote?."

Came Wednesday morning, and on the board this terse declaration: "Hell on Earth!"

ONE OF A VARIETY OF YACHTS entered in the trans-Pacific Victoria-Maui race starting Monday is the 54-foot sloop Gabrielle III owned by P. R. Sandwell of Royal Vancouver Yacht Club. She was designed by Sparkman & Stephens and built last year, of wooden construction, in Scotland.

Sailors Can Feel Mighty Low In 'Pacific High'

The yachts now gathering in Victoria's Inner Harbor for a marathon race to the Hawaiian island of Maui face a common enemy—the "Pacific High."

It's an eerie wildless spot in the middle of the North Pacific. More properly known as the North Pacific high pressure zone, its centre is calm and it sits astride the most direct race route.

Monday morning at 10 a.m. retiring Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes officially launches the 15 or 16 competitors on the second Victoria-Maui race, a direct distance of 2,310 miles.

Starting point is off Brotchie Ledge, near the outer wharves of Ogden Point.

The race is expected to take from 14 to 19 days. Yachts from Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle, Tacoma and Los Angeles may travel 3,000 miles or more as they bend their courses around the Pacific High.

ALL BY SAIL

They must do it all by sail. The rules are so strigent that only if a man falls overboard or batteries need urgent recharging can a yacht even turn on its small auxiliary motor.

At the end of the race, each entrant must sign an affidavit that he did not use his motor to move forward except in the case of man overboard.

1970 NEXT

The race is the second, and largest. The first, in 1965, drew only three entries. Another is planned for 1970. Sponsor is the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club.

Laymore, a Canadian Naval armament ship, will accompany vessels on the race.

Pre-race briefings today and Saturday include instruction in drawing and interpreting weather maps. Contestants will be given the latest map three hours before the start and daily will receive a coded report which will allow them to draw up-to-date maps.

A pre-race dinner will be held at the Red Lion Inn Saturday night. Each competing yacht crew will have a table reserved. Also attending will be non-participating club members and guests.

ONTARIO-BUILT is a Victoria entry in the Maui race, Don Lawson's 28-foot fibreglass sloop, Cubara. Designed by Sparkman & Stephens, she was built this year at Hughes Boat Works.

Man Named Vancouver Knew Route

By SHIRLEY HEWETT

Sailing exploits of close to two centuries ago link the Hawaiian Island of Maui with the Pacific Northwest.

And the sailing master involved is a name that lives on here.

Captain George Vancouver wintered at Maui from 1793 to 1795, returning each spring to continue surveying the coast from Puget Sound to Alaska.

He was also keeping an eye peeled for a western outlet to the Northwest Passage.

The idea for a Victoria-Maui race originated with Jim Innes of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club in 1963. That club was represented by two of the three competitors when the first race started June 29, 1965.

•

Innes' Long Gone won that first event. Lol Killam's Veraris and Ron Ramsay's Norena of Wight were the other two contestants.

Yachtsmen throughout the Pacific Northwest have been working since then to establish the race as a regular event on the Pacific racing calendar. The next race is shceduled for 1970.

When the race which begins Monday ends in an estimated three weeks, the trophy presentation at Lahaina on Maui will be in an intriguing setting.

It will be held in the Haie Paahoa. This was a prison built in 1852 to detain renegade whalers. Now it is a restored historic building.

The night of the presentation it will be decked out for the yachtsmen to hold a traditional Hawaiian luau.

•

MAUI RACE SHORT TACKS: Speculation about the Maui Race is a favorite topic of yachtsmen's conversation these days. Some state that the race will be won or lost between Brotchie Ledge and Cape Flattery (which is also the windward leg of the Swiftsure course) ... One high-performance yacht which was designed especially for windward work is Don Lawson's 38 foot Cubara. On the wind, she reportedly sails "like a meter boat," which is hardly surprising, considering that her underwater profile resembles the America's Cup winner Intrepid, by the same designer ... Ian Sherwin will navigate on the Cubara, a position which he has held while racing with Lawson over the past two years ... Navigator on another Royal Victoria yacht, Dave Angus's 40-foot Tiffany, is Alex James ... This could be the Oriole's race. The 91-foot ketch is at her best while running or reaching, conditions that prevail on the ocean crossing ... Bill Killam's Porpoise III will definitely be in the running. Second boat to finish Swiftsure 968, Porpoise has great potential as an ocean racer.

•

Another strong contender is the Tacoma yacht, Moonglow III, first boat to finish Swiftsure 1968. Like the others in the Cal 40 class, which have done well in ocean racing, the Moonglow has the ability to surf before the wind, which enables a yacht to exceed its hull speed.

A 40-FOOT SCHOONER in the race is William B. Johnson's Rainbird, from Tacoma Yacht Club. An adaptation of a Gloucester fishing schooner, she was designed by William Garden and built in Seattle.

SAILING UNDER THE BURGEE of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club is John Long's 49-foot sloop, Mary Bower, built in England in 1939 of a Robert Clark design.

TOP RATE OF $635 MONTHLY

30-35% Increases for Nurses

A settlement proposal in the dispute betwen more than 4,000 registered nurses and 61 hospitals in British Columbia would boost monthly salaries by 30 and 35 per cent in a two-year agreement.

Formal acceptance of the proposal by the B.C. Hospitals Association, on behalf of 61 hospitals, was announced today.

The revised settlement proposal was arrived at in joint discussion after members of the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C. voted 95 per cent in favor of strike action.

They had earlier rejected increases of 21.8 per cent and 27.4 per cent in two steps this year in an 18-month agreement.

The hospitals spokesman said the new proposal represents an increase of 30 per cent in the starting rate and 35 per cent in the top rate in three stages of a two-year agreement.

Present pay starts at $390 a month and increases to $466 after four years.

The new proposal would increase the starting rate to $508 at Jan. 1, 1969, and the top rate would go to $635 at the same time, but a fifth year's increment is added, said the hospitals spokesman.

The starting rate would be increased to $450 retroactive to last Jan. 1 and go to $475 July 1 before reaching the $508 figure.

Earlier, nurses voted 81 per cent to reject a proposal which would have taken the starting rate to $475 July 1 and the top rate, adding a fifth year's increment, to $593.75 at the same date.

The nurses were seeking increases of more than 50 per cent — $600 a month to start rising to $841 after five years.

The new proposal also includes vacation benefits, shift differentials and portabilty of salary increments when nurses change hospitals.

The last contract covering more than 4,000 registered nurses, including those at Royal Jubilee, St. Joseph's and Gorge Road, expired at the end of last December.

The nurses bargaining committee recommended acceptance of the revised proposal. The results of the membership vote should be known Tuesday.

Tories Support Manning Credo

Oak Bay Byelection Won't Be Contested

By BRUCE YEMEN

Directors of the Greater Victoria Conservative Association have endorsed a form of political realignment along the lines of Alberta Premier Ernest Manning's Social Conservative philosophy.

They also have decided against fielding a candidate in the provincial Oak Bay byelection and endorsed Socred candidate Peter Pollen.

The statement agreed on Thursday night by the directors as individuals was a resolution reading as follows:

"The executive as individuals believe the party should support the concept of political realignment of conservative views and in this regard enthusiastically support Peter Pollen's ideas on political realignment and his candidacy in Oak Bay."

Mr. Pollen, an automobile dealer, is a member of the executive.

'TAKING RISK'

Association president Eric Makovski said the executive, which has not had time to discuss the matter with the association, feels it is "taking a risk" by being the first Conservative executive in Canada to speak out on political realignment.

He said the directors' views are similar to but do not necessarily coincide with those of Alberta's Socred Premier Manning who last year called for political and philosophical realignment of conservative forces in Canadian society.

Mr. Manning's ideas were contained in a book called "Political Realignment: A Challenge to Thoughtful Canadians."

He said after publication last August that if the theory of realignment were put into practice by the Conservatives, Social Credit could disappear as a national party.

Mr. Pollen said the subject has not been discussed with the Oak Bay Social Credit Association which selected him as the candidate in Oak Bay.

STEP FORWARD

But he felt sure provincial Socreds would welcome the move as a big step forward in politcal development.

The endorsement of the need for "political realignment of responsible conservative elements in the community" was done by the directors as individuals, it was stressed.

Part of the projected plan would be to work closely with the Socreds both provincially and federally to avoid fragmenting the "responsible right wing" in society.

Reaction of British Columbia Socreds to Mr. Manning's book published last August was decidedly cool, with several cabinet ministers wary of commenting on it.

Premier Bennett frequently claims that the provincial Socreds are "more liberal than the Liberals, more conservative than the Conservatives and more socialist than the socialists."

This "middle-of-the road" stance was believed a barrier to any B.C. Socred acceptance of the Manning-philosophy.

There has been a similar lack of favorable response from Conservatives but some political analysts believe that time is on Mr. Manning's side.

The poor showing of the federal Social Credit party in Tuesday's election, accoridng some views, was a predictable symptom that sooner or later will drive right wing elements together.

Subscription Salesman Jailed Year

Partly Corrupted By System—Judge

An 18-year-old magazine salesman was sentenced in Victoria county court today to one year definite and one year indefinite in the Young Offenders' Unit at Haney.

Guy Jodoin was found guilty Thursday night by a jury of six women and six men on three counts of fraud in the selling of subscriptions for Maclean's Magazine and Chatelaine magazine.

The jury added a strong recommendation for leniency.

"I think this young man has been corrupted to some degree by a system of selling and advertising that is much to be deplored," said Judge Montague Drake.

"At the same time, he put up with it. I agree that some leniency is called for, but society must be protected against fraudulent salesmanship."

Jodoin was found guilty of defrauding Christina Cameron, 86, of $184; Agnes Cross, 76, of $179 and Mrs. Mary E. Kinsey, 79, of $27 in the sale of magazines.

His counsel, Dermod Owen-Flood appealed to the judge to "remember what the accused has suffered from this sales organization."

'WICKED SYSTEM'

Earlier, in his address to the jury, Mr. Owen-Flood likened the selling organization of Maclean-Hunter publications in Vancouver to the Hitler Youth Movement.

"This boy is not a criminal, but the victim of a crime," counsel said. "He is every bit as much a victim of this wicked system as the tragic old people who were taken in."

Mr. Owen-Flood said the "sales racket" operated on behalf of Maclean-Hunter encourages young salesmen to persuade old ladeis to buy their publications so they can win a their education."

BRAINWASHED

Counsel said the sales organization deliberately selects young men of clean-cut appearance and "brainwashes" them. Victims of these selling techniques don't know they are the subjects of hypnotic sales training.

"They are brainwashed and kept active by an ingenious system of pressures. And one of their favorite methods is to get a young salesman to buy a car so he will be in debt to them.

"Can you imagine the impact on a boy of 16 or 17 years old on being offered a Cadillac?" counsel asked. "This, was the carrot they offered and this was the way they enslaved him and committed him to sell enough of their products to pay them $100 a week!

For three years, Mr. Owen-Flood said, the accused worked under this indoctrination and the indoctrination succeeded "too well."

"This boy was trapped and bullied and tricked into carrying out the sales methods of this firm. He was abused with violence. He was degraded and insulted by the respressntatives of this firm."

Crown prosecutor J. W. Anderson said he did not disagree with Mr. Owen-Flood's argument that Maclean-Hunter were "part guilty."

But he said, the accused was old enough to be aware of the "crooked" salesmanship in which he was engaged.

FISHERMEN SURVIVE SINKING

Two Victoria fishermen arrived home this morning after surviving the capsizing and sinking of the 36-foot troller Sea Ranger II.

The mishap occurred Thursday night off Estevan Point about 40 miles north of Tofino.

Bruce Petrie, 26, of 2950 Leigh Road and Lloyd Crother, 23, of 1090 Goldstream, clung to an overturned dinghy for about an hour before scrambling ashore on nearby Bartlett Island.

Cold and hungry, they were spotted by a civilian aircraft this morning.

A Canadian Coast Guard helicopter brought them to Victoria.

STERN FIRST

Mr. Petrie told the Times the troller started taking water over the stern in heavy seas.

"It filled the cockpit and we sank stern first.

"I managed to get off a couple of 'Maydays,' but the radio kept shorting out."

The men jumped into the sea and held on to the troller's dinghy. They were hampered in reaching Bartlett Island by a powerful undertow near the beach.

Rain fell throughout the night as they awaited daylight. They were rescued about 7 this mroning.

The fate of the Sooke-based Sea Ranger II has not yet been decided. Mr. Petrie said he will contact his insurance company on the possibility of raising her from about 144 feet.

Four Injured In Collision At Intersection

A two-car accident at the intersection of Kings Road and Victor Street Thursday sent four persons to hospital—one with serious head injuries.

Police say a car driven west on Kings by Diane Hudson, 21, of 1504 Davie, was in collision with a vehicle driven south on Victor by Gertrude Byers, 30, of 1505 Oakcrest. Both cars were heavily damaged.

Both drivers and one passenger, Kerry White, 10, of 110 Menzies, are listed in fair condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital today.

One other person was treated and released earlier. White, who suffered head injuries, was described as in "fairly good" condition.

Overseas Honey Bears Send Us Their Stores

By PENNY SAVER

Honey! I don't think there is a place in the world where honey isn't the favorite sweetener. Wherever there are flowers there will be some kind of bee and wherever there are bees, men will be relieving them of their surplus winter supplies. Sugar takes a lot of refining before it reaches our tables, but honey is ready to serve, packed by the industrious bees in tight, wax containers.

Honey is a favorite in the Saver family. Even after it has reached a fine stage of crystalization my family will spread it on bread. Not that it ever sits around that long. The last jar of honey that crystalized around our place was one that got "lost" during the transition from cabin to city. We found it months later, a mass of yummy amber that crunched like peanut butter.

I often wonder how many people realize the difference that flowers make to honey. The wise beekeeper will send his bees out to selected fields gaining a honey that can be classed as clover, fireweed, autumn flowers and so forth. The difference is fantastic.

I was thrilled the other day to find some honey imported from New Zealand. This honey comes in attractive plastic containers in all colors. The lids snap on and off to keep that honey fresh and the whole container can be re-used as a refrigerator jar or lunch container. For 35 cents (three for $1) you can buy a small half pound jar — just the thing if you live alone like my mother. The larger one-pound jar is 58 cents.

Flowers with Fascinating Names

These were unmarked but the $1.25 packages next to them made my heart leap with joy. These packs contain three jars of selected honeys —each one different. These packs would make a lovely shower gift for the honey-loving bride-elect, or for that matter, any honey-lover on any occasion. The names of these New Zealand honeys are fascinating. The combinations include such flowers as rewarewa, tawari, lotus, white clover, rata, kamahi, manuka, pohutukawa and niue.

Local honey can be bought in combs as well as plain. A 12-ounce section of honey-comb in box is 89 cents.

I thought I knew all about honey, but when I saw a jar marked "cappings" at 75 cents a pound I was puzzled. The salesgirl informed me that this is the part of the comb that is sliced off before the honey is drained. A bottle of cappings includes wax, honey and some pollen. Many people chew this, believing it to be helpful for sinus troubles.

Many housewives are complaining now about the amount of sugar packed in canned fruits. If they are dieting they find these fruits verboten while others just dislike the overly sweet taste. Fruits packed in water without added sugar are available in 14 ounce tins. Bartlett pears are 37 cents a tin; peaches, 35 cents; apricots, 37 cents and bing cherries, 39 cents. Packed in B.C., these fruits are quite delicious. Also packed in water by the same company are tomatoes. These have no added salt and are just the thing for those on low sodium diets. These tomatoes are 25 cents a can.

If you would like to know where these items may be found please call me at 382-3131.

'Steady's' Mother Has Much to Learn

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old girl. I am a virgin and I intend to stay that way until I get married.

With my parents' permission, I started going steady with a boy I'll call Vic. He is 20. Vic is a gentleman and he treats me with respect.

Vic's mother invited me to her house for supper last night to "get acquainted." She seemed very nice and friendly and I really liked her. Then she got me aside and said, "It's none of my business how far you go with my son, but as a favor to me, I want you to take these birth control pills. I'll buy them and keep you supplied. All I want is your promise that you will take them."

Abby, I was too shocked to say anything except, "Thank you very much, Mrs. ——, but I won't be needing them."

She insisted that I take them anyway, saying, "Vic's older brother had to get married three years ago, and I don't want to go through that again, so as a favor to ME, I want you to take them. And please don't say anything to Vic about this." And she shoved them into my purse.

Abby, I am not going to take these pills. I don't need them. Should I tell Vic? What if Vic's mother asks me if I am taking them? Should I lie and say yes to avoid an argument? I honestly don't know what to do and I can't ask my mother.

VIC'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Give the pills back to Vic's mother and tell her firmly that you appreciate her offer, but you have no use for them. I see no point in telling Vic.

DEAR ABBY: I am stumped. We have a young woman renting a room from us. My wife and kids will be gone most of the summer, and I would rather not have that girl staying here while my family is gone.

There is no attraction on either side, so that's not it. Also I'm not worried about gossip. I just would rather not have her here is all.

She doesn't have a lease, so that's no problem. I mentioned this to my wife a couple of weeks ago, and so far she's done nothing about it. I am very easy going and dislike scenes, so what do you advise me to do?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Search your mind and try to come up with the REAL reason you don't want the girl there. (Could be you're deceiving yourself.) In any case, as long as you know you want her out, ask your wife to tell her she'd better look for another room — or YOU tell her.

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the teen-aged girls who kept their room in a horrible mess to the dismay of their mother reminded me of my own girlhood. My sister and I were also careless and lazy about keeping our room tidy. No amount of nagging or threatening helped.

Finally, one day mother came into our room with a WHEELBARROW and RAKE and proceeded to "clean" our room. We all had a good laugh, but somehow after that we kept our room clean. Sometimes humor gets through when everything else fails.

Reader Praises Razor

Mac Lean

Dear May — In reading your column I noticed the article on linting or pilling on sweaters or other articles of clothing. I run into this all the time due to carrying my smaller children in my arms and the diapers or sweaters cause the linting. It's very simple to solve. All you need is a razor. You simply glide the razor over the pilling and presto, it's gone! (ordinary safety razor only).

One day I was so angry because my black slacks had been going to the cleaners and they were not removing the pilling at all, so I tried the razor and it did the trick! I find it easier to do when the article is on you than when loose. Use up and down motion as if you were shaving.—Mrs. S. G., Hamilton, Ontario.

Dear Mrs. S. G. — Thank you for your interesting letter, and I pass it along to the other readers. It sounds a very simple way to remove those pesky little pills, though do be careful not to cut the fibres of the wool or fabric.

Dear May — Would you have a pattern for a purse in shell stitch crocheted? I made several about 20 years ago and have lost the pattern. — Mrs. D.D., Pointe Claire, P.Q.

Dear Mrs. D. D. — I regret that I do not have the pattern you want, so I am publishing your letter in the hopes that another reader does and will loan it to you.

If you remember how to make the shell stitch, you can make a plain oblong in the shell stitch, fold it over and sew the side seams, then insert a zipper along the top. The lining would be very simple to make, it could be a matching color, or contrasting and showing between the shell stitches.

So many of you have written requesting more patterns in children's sizes, so that I am happy to feature this week these adorable easy-to-care pullovers for your little tots in sizes 2-6 years.

Knitted with a machine washable, machine dryable yarn, they can be made with very little effort and for a fraction of the cost. They can be knitted with or without the pretty eyelet pattern at the yoke, with a choice of neckline and sleeves.

To order Leaflet No. 7-68, send 35c in coin or money order, together with a stamped (5c) self-addressed long envelope to: May E. Mac Lean, "KNIT AND CHAT," c/o this paper.

Please be sure to state the pattern number when ordering.

GUSTY WIND ADDS COMPLICATIONS TO CEREMONY

Norfolk House School Holds Annual Exercises

The wind battled for equal air time when Norfolk House School held its closing exercises Thursday on the playing fields of the school.

The speakers fought back however, and won the day. The ceremony went on with only minor interruptions.

Both the headmistress, Miss A. Winnifred Scott, and the chairman of the board of governors, H. L. Henderson spoke of the proposed gymnasium for the school. Mr. Henderson also reported that the board of governors and the parents' auxiliary are "co-operating as never before."

Miss Scott gave a summary of the year, rebuking "writers of articles who say that the old-fashioned methods of teaching stifle creativity." She suggested that the parents take a chance to view the works of art and drama created by the children and on display in the school.

FUTURE COURSE

Norfolk House School has been in operation 55 years and Miss Scott gave a brief history of the school then went on to describe the course it may take in the future. She said that the school would try to find a method of teaching between the extremes, "flexible enough to meet the needs of all individuals."

She then went on to give thanks and goodbyes to the teachers who are leaving the school. When she spoke of Miss Mabel Goldfinch, teacher at Norfolk House since 1939, the student body gave the retiring teacher a standing ovation.

Trevor Davis presented the prizes. Winners in each grade were: Carolyn Simpson, Grade 1; Barbara Taaffe, Grade 2; Anne Wallis, Grade 3; Julia Charles, Grade 4; Janice Regan, Grade 5; Margaret Ransford, Grade 6; Rosalind Scott, Grade 7; Alison Henry, Grade 8 (white); Hilary Groos and Rosemary Barber-Starke, Grade 8 (green); Debbie Ratcliffe, Grade 9 and Gail Stirling, Grade 10.

SPECIAL PRIZES

Winning special prizes were Lisa Stone, junior French; Kathleen Kendrick, junior history; Holly Fowler, sewing; Hilary Groos and Valerie Denford, music; Susan North and Rosalind Napier, drama; Karen Falder, best literary entry in magazine; Margaret Bigelow, art; Gail Stirling, Spanish, and Daphne Trewlawyney, H. E. Beasley special prize for Wymondham in French.

Winning the prizes for French presented by the government of France were Karen Falder, French public speaking, and Diana Houston (by reversion from Leslie Horne) Grade 12 French.

Leslie Horne, Grade 12; Nichola Young, intermediate scripture, and Kathleen Gibson, scripture (in memory of the Right Reverend George Bell, Bishop of Chichester), won the prizes for German presented by the federal Republic of Germany.

Winning book prizes in Grade Two were Helen Ohrt, English and social studies; Jill Brock, mathematics and science, and Karen Falder, languages. Mary Bigelow won the prize for history, Grade 12, and English, Grade 12; Leslie Horne, for Latin, Grade 12; Elizabeth Grant, geography, and Diana Houston (by reversion from Elizabeth Grant), mathematics. Elizabeth Grant won the Dr. Trottier memorial prize for Grade 12 science.

Many cups were awarded. Winning the senior championship tennis singles cup was Diana Houston, while Diana Houston and Janice Melville won the senior tennis doubles. Junior tennis doubles was won by Janet Andreae and Sarah Angus.

SHARE AWARD

The cup for house singing went to Wymondham and Dereham, Wymendham won the cup for house gymnastics and Walsingham the Davies cup for house debating. The Pooley Cup for academic honors went to Caister and the Cock House Cup for total points to Wymondham.

Deborah Bedford won the Grads of 1964 Cup. The Old Girls Public Speaking Shield for the senior winner went to Mary Bigelow and the book prize for the intermediate winner to Janet Andreae. Peggy Angus received the Charles Heisterman Cup and Cathy Campbell the Prior Cup. The Burridge Cup was won jointly by Judy Fowler and Elizabeth Grant. Diana Houston won the Young Cup for academic work and athletics, and Mary Bigelow the Hammond Cup for Merit.

A New You

by Emily Wilkens

Most girls try their best to look their best but total success is often elusive. Somehow nasty little beauty bugaboos creep in and work their mischief unseen, unheard and unsung!

Unfortunately, it's the grooming and beauty flaws that you CAN'T see but others CAN which act as deterrents to allover loveliness. Remedy the situation by using this check list as your all-seeing mirror.

POSTURE PERFECT: There's no doubt about it, your posture and stance can make or break the whole beautiful image. Stop and think for a moment of a desolate, unhappy individual — head down, shoulders slumped, obviously broken in spirit. Then switch your thoughts regally and see the beautiful confidence of the person who stands glamorously, STRAIGHT! Your carriage projects your total image, so give good looks a head start by tending to this vital area.

NOW HEAR THIS: Don't let your ears take a back seat to normal good grooming routines: Keep them as immaculate as your face, using cream plus cotton swab as a handy cleaner-upper, particularly important after shampooing, urgent after hair coloring or tinting. Every little crevice counts.

DOWN WITH FROWNS: Crinkles, wrinkles and plain old frowns can frazzle even the most meticulous makeup. Make it a thrice-daily practice to stop whatever you're doing for a few minutes to discourage those lines.

Lean on the table or your typewriter, rub the palms of your hands together to generate heat, relax your head in your hands and cup your warm palms over your eyes. Shut out all unpleasant thoughts — think of blue skies, soft clouds — you'll feel and look refreshed in minutes.

BREATH-TAKING: Bad breath, the notorious despoiler of daintiness! Beat it with good dental hygiene: Proper brushing, dental floss used nightly, daily dedication to mouthwash, especially the chlorophyll type.

Most helpful: An a.m. tongue cleansing from top to bottom with a clean girdle bone.

Preventive medicine: Ample fresh fruit and vegetables in your diet, with special emphasis on crisp apples, celery and the like.

NECK KNACK: Tension makes you look tired; dispel it with this exercise which should be done frequently each day. Move your shoulders up and down vigorously trying to "touch" your ears; pull them way down, then back up and down several times.

TUMMY TAMER: If your tummy is less than trim, conscientiously HOLD IT IN as if you were wearing the tightest invisible girdle (accomplish this by contracting buttock muscles and tummy muscles simultaneously). Pretty soon you won't need a real girdle at all.

VANISHING VEINS ... To camouflage those unsightly little spidery lines, cover them with leg makeup — stick form is handiest. It's best applied when your skin is still warm after a shower or bath.

When you banish those insidious beauty bugaboos THE NEW YOU can sail forth with self-confidence to spare.

JUST FOR YOU: Your voice counts, too. Warm up your vocal tone and your disposition as well by singing in the shower in the a.m. If you simply can't sing, pretend you're entertaining a small child by talking or reading aloud. It helps put sunshine into your voice.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It's Possible to Quit Smoking Habit Without Gaining Weight

Lowman

Q. I want to stop smoking, and I am sure I could, but I am afraid I will get fat. Is there any way to stop smoking without getting fat? Every friend I have has gained a lot soon after quitting.

A. Yes, it is possible to stop smoking without gaining weight if you are forewarned and watch out. Smoking is partly a nervous habit and also a mechanical habit. Many folks smoke during times of most strain. Lots of times people will light a cigarette when they really don't want it. It's just a mechanical habit; something to do with their hands.

Of course, this isn't the whole answer. However, it is something to keep in mind. If you reach for something besides a cigarette, make it an apple, some celery, a glass of tomato juice or a low calorie something, instead of cake and candy and calorie-rich items. Also don't reach too often for anything.

Q. I have followed your SPRING MAKEOVER and liked it except I do not like some of the foods on the diet. For instance I don't like coffee, grapefruit, eggs, skimmed milk, fish or salad. I want to lose from 5 to 10 pounds but I don't like some of the items mentioned.

A. You can substitute for these foods with other foods from the same category. For instance, you can substitute one cup of unsweetened orange juice for one cup of unsweetened grapefruit juice. They are both rich sources of vitamin C, and there is only about 10 points difference in the calorie count.

Coffee is optional. It has no calories and no health value. Substitute seafood or poultry or lean meat for fish. Eggs are excellent nutritionally but if you get enough of the other protein foods, and vegetables and fruits, you can leave them off the diet.

There are many different kinds of salads that I do not see how you could dislike all of them. However, substitute cooked green and yellow vegetables and fresh fruit for the salads.

Q. Will shaping the eyebrows make them become thinner over the years? A friend tells me it will.

A. There is no reason why shaping the brows should make them become thinner. There is a tendency for the brows to thin some as a woman grows older,

ROB PETER TO PAY PAULINE

NEW YORK (UPI)—What used to be his is now hers in the new fall millinery.

The designers who hat the women have snitched from the men such items as the classic, tailored fedora, the visored newsboy cap, the doughboy helmet of First World War, the stetson of the westerner, the head-hugging leather gear of the motorcycle set, the highlander's tam o'shanter, even the wide, sun-screening brim of the padre's hat.

As a commentator for the semi-annual millinery show in New York put it, "Women are in the man-tailored era. What with the girls taking the blazers, the trousers, the knickers, the Nehru jackets, why not the hats too."

The great male robbery showed repeatedly in the industry's roundup of trends for the coming season, sponsored by the millinery institute of America, a trade and promotion group.

Fashion Circus Features Shoes

MONTREAL (CP) — A three-ring shoe fashion circus complete with animal sound effects and cracking whips brought back the untamed beauty of the female leg and reinstated the delicate curve of the ankle.

A drum roll, the roar of a tiger and the press review was on Thursday for the newest collection of Canadian shoes presented by the Footwear Bureau of Canada.

Leading Canadian shoe designers had a chance to get into the "ring" and illustrate what promises to be a most colorful and elegant shoe story come fall.

One full-toe model, aptly titled elephant, was designed as a high-gore pump with tortoise shell buckle and brown grosgrain bow.

NEW ROLE FOR CYC?

'If You Become An Issue, You're Yanked'

By JOHN SLINGER

A system of provincial agencies with the Company of Young Canadians acting as liaison was suggested Thursday as an alternative to the present CYC by the director of the Alberta Service Corps.

Don Hamilton, after outlining the two-year-old Alberta program to Jaycee convention delegates, said provinces could more effectively assess problem areas and could, simply because of distance, maintain better control over operations.

The program (ASC) is considerably different than the CYC and, Mr. Hamilton suggested, considerably more successful.

- ASC volunteers are university students enlisted for only the summer period; CYC volunteers sign on for two years.
- ASC sends its volunteers into a community or institution to work on a specific project; CYC favors a broad approach to over-all community development.

And, said Mr. Hamilton, it is no good to take "two kids from downtown Toronto" and throw them into a small, remote, depressed community and say "fix it up."

B.C. Interested

He said ASC volunteers are told they are going into communities "that have issues and problems — and if you become an issue and problem, you're going to get yanked out."

Persons within the B.C. government have approached ASC for information on its organization and programs, he said.

ASC pays its volunteers $1 a day plus room and board during the summer and gives them a further $200 when they return to school.

"They lose money," he said.

They are trained for one week — "to prepare them for a cultural shock" — then taken into the community by a worker familiar with the local situation.

Last year there were 21 workers on various projects.

This year 180 students applied, but costs limited recruitment to 40.

Expensive

Costs for the first summer were $30,000. This year ASC expects to spend $50,000.

"It is expensive," said Mr. Hamilton, who is the only salaried employee of the organization, and might be best described as a cigar-smoking United Church minister who is a civil servant and part owner of a pizza stand. He is 31.

His speech was laced with expletives as he almost evangelised ASC's effectiveness to the nearly 200 Jaycees in the Empress Hotel.

The absence of bureaucratic profusion at the top of ASC — he is directly responsible to the youth minister — and the relative nearness of a number of projects within provincial boundaries, meant that communication was more effective within the corps and action faster.

Workers did not have to resort to placard-waving or public demonstrations to draw head office's attention, he said.

Volunteers now are working in two provincial mental hospitals, with pre-school Indian and Metis children in depressed communities, in a girls' jail and with a Calgary motorcycle gang.

In the hospitals:

Mr. Hamilton said there is a desperate shortage of trained staff in Alberta mental hospitals, "which are no more archaic than in any other province — but that's not saying much."

Overcrowding leads to regimentation of inmates which, coupled with the formal doctor-patient relationship, leads to a depersonalization of patients and development of "institutional neurosis."

ASC's volunteers are directed to do no more than provide company for the patients on a person-to-person basis.

Last summer a patient who was catatonic mute—had spoken only the word "No" in 10 years—was shown attention by a girl from ASC and, in the course of the summer, began to speak. He was released from the hospital during the winter, Mr. Hamilton said.

This summer the hospitals' administrations requested three times the five volunteers they had last year.

With the Indian and Metis children:

In some of the depressed communities, the pre-school children speak no English, have no concept of what Caucasians mean by time—hours and minutes—and have never played an organized game.

"We throw them into a white, middle-class school system in Alberta and they can't cope.

"Of course they can't cope. They come from a completely different cultural background."

There were some communities where children up to age 15 had never heard a story read.

ASC volunteers ran "head start" programs for the children that ended with a two-week session in an actual school where some of the children had to be shown how to operate such hitherto unknown equipment as toilets.

In the jail:

Two girls were sent to live with juveniles in the Alberta Institute for Girls.

"We thought they would be crucified by the kids in the jail, they're pretty tough."

But they were immediately accepted, by the prisoners if not the staff, and the prisoners welcomed assistance from persons "who just wanted to help them get out of their bad new situation."

With the motorcycle gang:

One volunteer in Calgary bought a $130 used motorcycle so he could keep up with the Grim Reapers' gang.

Mr. Hamilton said the gang members accepted his presence in their midst, even offering to fix up the motorcycle, "except 10 of them just got sent to jail."

Effective Job

"But, I think the guy is going to do an effective job. He's doing something you or I or a social worker couldn't do—they'd just tell us to go to hell."

The ASC chief said an ideal situation would be a network of such provincial corps through which exchange programs could be arranged permitting the workers "to come to grips with some of the national social problems."

He urged the Jaycees to try putting pressure on their own provincial governments to at least consider setting up a similar program.

Some people were skeptical of how much could be accomplished by such young people, but Mr. Hamilton said there was tremendous energy in "harnessing this kind of courage, this kind of idealism, this kind of enthusiasm."

By telling the volunteers to "get off your white horses ... be positive ... and don't lose your cool," Mr. Hamilton said he thought ASC could avoid some of the difficulties the CYC encountered.

Montreal Violence Divides Separatists

QUEBEC (CP) — Rene Levesque announced Thursday that his Quebec independence movement has suspended negotiations on political union with Pierre Bourgault's separatist party because of the riot during Monday night's St. Jean Baptiste Day parade in Montreal.

Levesque, former Liberal welfare minister, made the announcement at a press conference during which he condemned "all forms of violence, whose only result can be to divide and to weaken even more a little people."

The leader of the Mouvement Souverainete-Association said suspension of negotiations on separatist unity inevitably means that his group will hold its founding convention this fall without the presence of Bourgault's Rasemblement pour l'independance nationale.

Bourgault was among those arrested during rioting around the parade reviewing stand, occupied by Prime Minister Trudeau and other dignitaries.

Levesque cited comments made by Bourgault at an RIN meeting in Montreal four days prior to the annual holiday celebrating Quebec's patron saint. In a statement to reporters, Levesque said:

"Too many people and often alas, those who should be the most responsible, now play with violence like so many novice witches. The events of June 24 at Montreal are sadly revealing.

"In the days preceding (June 24), there was direct incitation to employ violence as a means of political action. The MSA proclaims without ambiguity that it condemns completely these methods, which ... only lead to anarchic adventures where everyone is degraded."

He said the movement he founded last fall after quitting the provincial Liberal party "will continue to avoid this chasm into which the historical chance of Quebec can sink."

In a statement on the results of the June 25 general election, Levesque, Independent MLA for the Montreal riding of Laurier, said: "Pierre Elliott Trudeau has retaken the torch of John Diefenbaker."

He interpreted Trudeau's capture of 55 of Quebec's 74 Common seats by saying: "It's certain that in Quebec there is sort of a climate of last chance, a climate of the last try."

PAKISTAN ENDS PACT WITH U.S.

RAWALPINDI (AP) — Pakistan's military alliance with the United States has ended, Foreign Minister Arshad Husain told the National Assembly today.

"Special relations between Pakistan and the United States under the mutual security pact of 1954 and the bilateral agreement of 1959 have ceased to exist now," Arshad said.

The United States has suspended military aid to both Pakistan and India since the two countries engaged in a brief, bloody war in 1965, but it has continued economic assistance to both governments.

TV IMPACT GAUGED

Politicians Turn To Image Makers

The status of Canadians as television-viewers is "in danger of being amateur," said Fred Davis whose status, as CBC host of Front Page Challenge, is "personality."

He told a Jaycee convention luncheon Thursday at the Empress Hotel that "ballyhoo" might have more influence on Canadian viewers than on Americans who are more accustomed to it, hence, "more sophisticated."

It was partly television's influence that made the June 25 election unique in Canadian history.

Perhaps TV has so sated the Canadian public's emotions that "it took a kind of Grey Cup madness" to stir up election interest.

Mr. Davis worried that the sight of national political leaders "blaming the ills of society on each other" on television tended to oversimplify matters.

The downgrading "might contain a grain of truth—but it takes a pretty sophisticated audience to get it."

And, he said, the need for a television image prompted employment of professional image-makers who might in the future, and he emphasized in the future, lead the public to accept the "worst man with the best image."

Image-makers sometimes miss the beat, though.

"Bobby Baby" seemed as odd an image for Conservative leader Stanfield as "Abie Baby" would have seemed for Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. Davis said he was surprised, after watching the hard-line taken by television reporters covering Robert Kennedy's campaign, to hear that the New York senator had a human side. It did not come out in the media until the assassination.

Quoting Canadian communications philosopher Marshall McLuhan, Mr. Davis said the advent of television and the advent of worldwide violence and disorder were nearly simultaneous.

Television was not alone responsible.

But television created a new frontier—taking the whole world—"and frontier areas have always been areas of unrest."

Television prompted the so-called quiet revolution in Quebec.

"It brought Quebec from the 18th century to the 20th century," completely skipping the 19th.

Drinks Costly; Man Assaulted

A Victoria man who told police he was assaulted and robbed in Bastion Square early Thursday was later treated for head cuts and bruises in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Andrew Toderian, 525 Johnson Street, told police he was walking through the square with a stranger he had earlier been drinking with when he was hit over the head and dragged to a nearby alley.

He told police the stranger and another man robbed him of a wallet containg $5 and pieces of identification.

Toderian was released from hospital after treatment.

CHURCH PLAN REJECTED

Rockland Ave. Status Maintained

A 96 tenant boarding home planned for the Rockland Avenue area was vetoed Thursday by Victoria city council.

The rejection marked the second time city authorities have refused to accept an Anglican Church proposal to demolish the Caroline Macklem home for elderly people to make way for a bigger, more modern structure.

The existing home houses 24 senior citizens.

In rejecting the proposal for a second time the advisory planning commission said that to permit a newly built multiple dwelling in the area would be a violation of past policies to preserve the Rockland Avenue area at a low density level.

Ald. Lily Wilson, long a champion of better facilities for the elderly, reluctantly went along with the decision.

She said she knew of at least three other proposals for new lodging houses in the area if the Anglican application went through.

Aldermen Robert Baird, Clyde Savage and Lloyd Clarkson were absent from the meeting.

Ald. Percy Frampton said he was originally in favor of the move to provide extra accommodation for the elderly but had been made to realize that Rockland Avenue was not the area where the proposed new home should be built.

WALLACE ORDER?

Film Seized From ABC Cameraman

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Broadcasting Co. said today that George C. Wallace, a U.S. presidential candidate, ordered a personal bodyguard to seize and destroy ABC-TV news film of Wallace shaking hands with a man the network said was Robert Shelton, an imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan.

The network said on a radio broadcast that the film was forcibly removed from one of its cameras Wednesday night at a fund-raising dinner for the former Alabama governor in Eutaw, Ala.

The network said the Wallace bodyguard, who refused to identify himself, first asked the camera crew to give up the film. When the crew refused, ABC said, Wallace told the bodyguard: "Take it."

The bodyguard pulled the camera from the shoulder of cameraman Charlie Jones and removed the exposed film, the network said.

At a news conference at Friendship Airport in Glen Burnie, Md., Wallace denied a charge by the American Broadcasting Company that he ordered his bodyguards to forcibly seize the ABC newsfilm.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The club champion sat gloomily in a corner. Not only had he failed to win the weekly duplicate but he had actually made a below-average score.

He was moaning quietly and and if you were to listen to his moans, you would hear something like, "Why couldn't I have played simple bridge!"

Opening lead—♣K

Today's hand shows one of his bottom scores. As anyone can see four hearts makes easily. All declarer has to do is to ruff the third club, play ace-king and another diamond for dummy to ruff, draw trumps and concede a spade trick at the finish. Of course, declarer should play one heart before going after diamonds as a general mild safety precaution.

Now let's see what our champion did. First, look at the bidding. West's overcall had nothing to commend it but when West did overcall, it seems that East might well have either raised clubs or tried two spades. Obviously, East was familiar with West's overcalls and passed.

Anyway our champion made a sort of advanced loser-on-loser play. He discarded a low spade on the third club lead. East was in with the queen and returned a diamond. The champion won that trick, played his ace and king of trumps and remaining high diamond.

Then he ruffed his last diamond in dummy, cashed dummy's ace of spades and ruffed a spade to get back to his hand. West overruffed and the champion had the distinction of being the only man to make only nine tricks at hearts.

We don't really approve of his line of play but it might well have been the winning one. Suppose for example that hearts broke 2-2 and diamonds 6-2. The players who led one trump and then tried to ruff a diamond would have seen that third diamond ruffed by the opposition and gone down while the champion's play would have been the winner.

Byelections Recapturing Public's Eye

By BRUCE YEMEN

Voters who regard British Columbia's three provincial byelections July 15 as an anticlimax are getting no encouragement from the politicians.

Both Premier Bennett — breaking a two-day silence — and Opposition Leader Strachan stirred the political pot with optimistic vigor Thursday and the Liberals mapped plans to name an acting leader to replace Ray Perrault before the byelections.

Two candidates were chosen Thursday in North Vancouver-Capilano, the seat Mr. Perrault resigned to challenge — and apparently defeat — NDP national leader Tommy Douglas in the federal election.

Charles MacLean, who polled only 3,000 votes to Mr. Perrault's 17,000 as a federal Tory candidate in Burnaby-Seymour, was named provincial Conservative candidate and promised "a real gangbuster of a campaign."

THREE NOMINATIONS

Lawyer Sid Simons was chosen to represent the NDP in the Liberal stronghold North Shore riding.

Two businessmen have been nominated for the other parties — Dave Brousson, 48, for the Liberals, and Peter Robinson, 39, for the Socreds.

Oak Bay NDP Association will decide whether to field a candidate in Oak Bay at a meeting tonight at 1018 Blanshard Street at 8 p.m.

Opposition leader Strachan said Thursday he expects a candidate to enter the Oak Bay race against car dealer Peter Pollen, Social Credit candidate, and lawyer Allan Cox, Liberal.

Premier Bennett, in his first post-federal election comment, said in Vancouver Thursday night that the provincial Socreds will be unaffected by the dismal showing of their federal counterparts in B.C.

"Provincially we are strong," he said. "Next time we'll have a greater majority than ever."

Mr. Bennett said resignation of National Socred leader Robert Thompson who joined the Tories was a bad blow for federal Socreds and left the B.C. party as a disorganized splinter group.

Furthermore, only a nominal campaign was run, he said, and there was a strong swing toward majority government — a federal election reusit which Mr. Bennett welcomed.

SOCRED LEADER

He suggested Quebec Creditiste leader Real Caouette would make a good national Social Credit leader.

The B.C. Socreds received only 5 per cent of the popular vote in the province — a drop from about 125,000 to 45,000 votes since the previous election.

Opposition leader Strachan said the federal Scored showing was significant provincially and said former Randolph Harding's victory in the federal election augers well for railroader Bill King, the NDP candidate in the Revelstoke-Slocan byelection.

Mr. King is battling Castlegar newspaper editor Burton Campbell who carries the Social Credit banner.

In Vancouver, Mr. Perrault made clear he is definitely resigning as provincial Liberal leader regardless of the final outcome of his cliffhanger victory over Mr. Douglas,

Dr. Pat McGeer, MLA for Vancouver-Point Grey, reconfirmed his earlier candidacy for the leadership while Allan Williams, MLA for West Vancouver, said he had not decided whether to enter the race.

Mr. Perrault said he expected a leadership convention in mid-September.

Imprisonment In Fraud Case

A woman who admitted defrauding welfare authorities of $2,145 was sentenced Thursday to three months in jail and fined $200.

Magistrate William Ostler told Mrs. Brenda Nordstrom, 28, of 928 Esquimalt Road, she was lucky the crown had not laid the charge under a section of the Criminal Code rather than the Social Assistance Act.

Under the former the maximum penalty is 10 years and she would have received a substantial sentence he said. As the crown proceeded summarily under the latter act, the maximum penalty he could give was three months and a $200 fine.

Mrs. Nordstrom had awaited sentence since June 14 pending a pre-sentence report which prosecutor John Macintyre said read like a credit rating.

He said punishment of some kind was called for.

The magistrate agreed and said the probation report was concerned mainly with restitution.

Court was told earlier Mrs. Nordstrom was employed during the year she received the welfare money and earned an additional $5,100.

HALF CAMSELL'S CREW TO APPEAR IN KING NARWAHL'S COURT

Icebreakers Live It Up Before the Crunch

By PAUL MUSGROVE

The Canadian Coast Guard icebreaker Camsell leaves Wednesday to face the rigors of the Arctic — and about half her 55-man crew will appear in King Narwahl's court.

As the ship crosses the Arctic circle on her annual icebreaking tour, King Narwahl —a type of whale — appears on board to sit in judgment of those crossing for the first time.

The ritual features the eating of "the flesh of our long-dead sacrificial whale" along with such other goodies as "ice worms."

Once the court is over, the survivors are presented certificates stating that each "hath this day crossed the Arctic Circle."

However, the trip is far from all fun and games. There is ice to be broken and a way to be cleared for supply boats to the various DEW outposts.

There are four types of ice the Camsell might encounter — young winter, thick winter, young polar and arctic pack.

An ice observer flies ahead of the ship daily, making a map of any clear areas or cracks that promise easier going.

In the course of her journey, the Camsell could hit ice up to four feet thick.

Captain Jack Lennie, spelling off Captian John Strand this trip, said the hardest part of the trip is the stretch between Barrow Point and the MacKenzie delta. This is the area in which winds could push the polar ice pack right up against the shore.

The supply ships the Camsell escorts are loaded at the Great Slave Lake and sailed up the MacKenzie River to join her on the Arctic Ocean.

The Camsell must stay in the Arctic until every supply run is safely finished — a task that might be complicated by the ice pack which starts to close in for the winter about Sept. 15.

Another complication is the cold. Temperatures in an Arctic summer seldom go above 40 degrees and generally range around 34.

Piloting the vessel through the ice is done from the flying bridge.

Captain Lennie said as long as the wind is coming head on the job isn't bad. It's when the breeze comes amidships or aft things get cold.

Men are relieved from the flying bridge every hour.

Since the sea bed in the Arctic is sparsely charted, a 24-hour watch on the depth sounder must be maintained. The man on duty cannot even take his eyes off the screen.

The scenery is less than spectacular. It ranges from barren in the northerly areas to the occasional forest giant — soaring to 14 inches — in the southern zones.

And with all these pleasant cruise benefits, the Camsell wants a guest!

Captain Lennie said the ship still hasn't got a doctor for the trip, and sailing date is approaching.

Any doctor with time to spare and a yen for ice-worms is invited.

Two months of practice on Mill Bay prepared students for 700-mile adventure.

Boys Off on Adventure They'll Never Forget

The surge of the mighty Mackenzie, the forested slopes of B.C.'s interior and the mysteries of Headless Valley.

Fifteen boys from Brentwood College on mill Bay are tasting these explorers' delights on a 700-mile canoe trek from Fort Nelson to Great Slave Lake.

Led by Barry de Temple, history and English teacher at the college, the boys are travelling in two canoes and carrying food supplies for a month.

The canoes are 25 feet long, have a four-foot beam and are 17 inches deep. Each weighs 350 pounds. The boys have been working at their padding and boating techniques on Mill Bay for two months.

The trip will take the boys in part up the Mackenzie River in the path of the famous explorer who gave the river its name.

They will also travel the Nahanni River to Headless Valley, rich in legend and accessible only by water.

★ ★ ★

Wednesday, the group departed by bus for Fort Nelson. The bus will meet it at Great Slave Lake in an estimated three weeks. Along the way the boys will be "lining" their canoes up white water with nylon tow ropes.

The trip will cost each boy $500. They range in age from 15 to 19.

CHARGE REDUCED IN FATALITY

LADYSMITH — Andrew Willott, 22, of Ladysmith, has been committed for trial on a charge of dangerous driving.

After a preliminary hearing Wednesday the charge was reduced from criminal negligence.

Willott was charged following a Feb. 2 traffic accident two miles south of Ladysmith in which his passenger, Kenneth Judson, 17, was killed.

NEEDED IN RECREATION

Planning Role Asked for Board

DUNCAN—Six recreation commissions will ask Cowichan regional district board to have planning included as one of its functions.

This will require a change in the letters patent.

South Cowichan recreation commissioner Frank Martin said Thursday planning is essential for recreational development in the region.

The other commissions involved represent Duncan, North Cowichan, Shawnigan Lake, Saltair and Ladysmith.

Regional board secretary Gordon Berry will be asked to assist in drawing up a petition to be presented to the regional directors from Shawnigan Lake, South Cowichan, Saltair and Ladysmith.

Aim of the petition is to have these directors agree to their areas joining Duncan and North Cowichan in their proposed $800,000 swimming pool and munity centre.

'MINI-BOOM'

Mayor Excited About Boardwalk

NANAIMO — Nanaimo could become "one of the most beautiful and exciting waterfront cities in western Canada, Mayor Frank Ney said Thursday.

He commended a new waterfront boardwalk proejct for Nanaimo, saying it would accentuate the waterfront aspect of the city's personality.

A report on the project, compiled by Willis Cunliffe, Tait and Co. of Victoria, was presented to city council.

"Nanaimo city council is attacking this year's work program with a progressive and vigorous outlook, and commissioned an engineering firm to bring in this proposal" Mayor Ney said.

"It could develop into one of the most important steps Nanaimo has ever made. The first phase of construction of the promenade could encouage and result in many million dollars worth of construction in the downtown area.

"The downtown area has some very valuable property which is not being used to its best advantage. By showing some leadership on the waterfront, entrepreneurs could, with some confidence, rebuild on these locations.

"And this could result in a mini-boom in the downtown area, givng the city more taxes to complete the many proejcts so necessary on the council's program."

Bathtub Race Starts Big Day at Chemainus

CHEMAINUS — Organizers of the Dominion Day celebrations at Chemainus have stolen the idea of Mayor Frank Ney of Nanaimo.

First event in a busy day Monday at Fullers Lake will be bath tub races.

The races and a display by the Victoria Water Ski Club will be curtain-raiser for the official opening ceremonies of the new Fullers Lake ice arena.

Chemainus Centennial Queen Lorna Maddin will have the honor of cutting the ribbon.

Rest of the afternoon entertainment will be sustained by Cowichan Judo Club, Duncan Music Club and Ladysmith Kin Swingers plus local entertainers.

A family-style gingham dance is planned for the evening.

TIPS FOR HOME GARDEN

Bark Mix Proves Puzzling

By JACK BEASTALL

In the south-west corner of Bastion Square stands an interesting tree that evokes more comment during the winter than it does in full leaf in summer. Its winter characteristic is the mass of twisted branches that crown a stout trunk, causing one gardener to aptly describe it as "a tree with its roots in the air."

Jack

Close inspection reveals the bark on the branches to be quite smooth while that on the trunk is very rough, and this is a puzzle to many people.

When in leaf, visitors casually refer to it as some kind of elm, which is quite true.

There are a variety of common names under which it is known. Generally called the Scotch or English Elm, it is also known as the Weeping Elm, the Umbrella Elm, and Camperdown Elm.

Botanically, the listing is Ulmus glabra (smooth bark), variety Camperdownii.

These umbrella shaped, weeping elms are produced by grafting Camperdown Elm to an eight-foot common elm trunk, which accounts for the smooth bark and the rough bark.

The age of this particular tree has not been definitely established, but from what is known of its history prior to being moved to Bastion Square, it is estimated as between 75 and 100 years.

Other Camperdown Elms are in the city. Two are in the grounds of St. Andrew's Cathedral at the corner of Blanshard and View Streets, and another is located in Ross Bay Cemetery to the east of Stannard Street entrance.

YOUR HEALTH

Let Laugh Follow Hot Flush

By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

It is so unfortunate when, while suffering from a harmless nervous spell, such as goes often with a post-menopausal storm, a woman gets the idea that she is going to lose her mind, or is going to have a stroke or a heart attack—and then gets panicky.

Alvarez

The spell can be distress enough—perhaps with flushing, sweating, dizziness, nausea, shakiness and uncertainty—but it can become almost unbearable when panic is added to it.

Many a time when a patient in such a panic has called up her doctor and has been told kindly but firmly that there is no cause for alarm, she has quickly felt much better.

Often the doctor will say that he has seen hundreds of menopausal women go through just such a storm, and every one came out on the other side, well again.

Also, the doctor may say, "You can't go insane with all those wonderful ancestors back of you; also, anyone who, like you, for half a century has been a sensible, devoted, unselfish and wonderful wife and mother, cannot now depart from her established way of living and thinking; you have to go on being sensible and sane."

To me, when for a while I talk quietly and reassuringly to a panicky woman, it is such a joy to see her smile again—and perhaps to hear her laugh again. As I always say, I never saw a woman go insane when she could laugh, and especially when she could laugh at herself.

After I have gotten the woman out of her panic, the next thing I have to do is to try to get her to see that the next time she goes into a hot flush, with jitteriness, much sweating, and fear of approaching insanity, she must fight the tendency to get panicky—and she must refuse to go into a panic.

I have known people who won out in this way, with sheer will-power.

For instance, for years I took care of a fine, sensible and kindly nurse who was an epileptic. She told me that sometimes when she felt a seizure coming, she would keep saying to herself, "No; no, I just can't have a spell here and now; I won't have a spell!" And often she managed to block it from coming.

Fine men have told me that in the same way, they often refused to panic and to give in to fear. It certainly is easy to give in to fear; and perhaps it is only a little harder to refuse to give in to fear.

The person who fights off fear will be greatly rewarded, because fear of a disease is often worse than the disease itself.

One of the terrible things that can happen to a patient in a panic is to fall into the hands of a physican who accepts, say, the woman's self-diagnosis of a near-fatal heart attack, and rushes her to a hospital—in an ambulance, with the siren screaming—and then puts her in an oxygen tent, and in every way, "gives her the works."

Naturally, then, the woman feels that she has had a close brush with death, and after that, every time she gets panicky, she wants to be rushed to a hospital and treated strenuously.

Worse yet, if in one of these spells a fine, able physician is called in, and sees in a minute that there is nothing wrong with the woman's heart, and tells her so, she may become very angry with him and may tell him to get out and never come back.

As he grows older, every physician should become ever more tactful—especially in the taking away from patients of a disease which they have come to like or need.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a World Book Atlas.

Andy sends a complete, 20 volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Louise Finnamore, age 10, of Fredericton; N.B., Canada, for her question:

Why are the Pyramids called Wonders of the Korld?

Mankind is a born traveler and the human family loves to take vacation trips to other places on our planet, A few roam idly from one place to another, but most of us prefer to plan our tours and look forward to visiting, say, the Pyramids or some other wonder of the world.

Right now; thousands of families are planning to take summer vacation tours to visit places far from home. We tend to think that this kind of touring was invented along with trains and buses, planes and automobiles. Not at all. Our ancestors who lived in the earliest settled communities also liked to take trips once in a while. They travelled on horsae and camels, donkeys and often on foot to visit neighboring cities. Some trudged thousands of miles through strange and faraway countries.

The times change, but human nature changes very slowly through the ages. Like us, the tourists of the ancient world longed to visit other places and like us, they returned with a fuller understanding of their home communitites. News also travelled around in those days, though more slowly. Returning tourists told of wondrous places they had visited. The ancient Greeks had guide books for hopeful tourists, just as we do. To them, there was something magical in the number seven. So their guide books included a list of seven wondrous places that every well-travelled tourist should visit.

These fabulous places were known as the Seven Wonders of the World. All of them were breath-taking, man-made structures in lands near the Mediterranean Sea where our Western civilization was born. A well-travelled tourist of 2,000 years ago did his best to visit all Seven Wonders of the ancient world. But the only one remaining to this day is the sturdy Pyramids of Egypt. Those massive tombs have been visited by admiring tourists through more than 4,000 years. Though now a bit worn by the weather, we still refer to the great buildings as one of the wonders of the world.

Natural Wonders

The other six wonders disappeared long ago from the list of tourist attractions. At Ephesus in Asia Minor, the lavish temple to the goddess Diana was destroyed by a firebug in 262 A.D. The Greek temple at Olympia lost its immense gold and ivory statue of Zeus in the Middle Ages. The wondrous Hanging Gardens of Babylon have long since crumbled to dust. In Asia Minor, only a few relics of the stupendous tomb of King Mausous can be found. Tourists of the ancient world sailed from afar to a Greek island where a bronze statue of Helios the sun god stood, 105 feet tall, guarding the harbor. In 224 B.C., this famous Colossus of Rhodes was toppled by an earthquake. In 955 A.D., another earthquake toppled the sixth of the ancient wonders. This was the Pharos of Alexandria, an elegant lighthouse of gleaming white marble which held its warning beacon 400 feet above treacherous shoals in the sea.

★ ★ ★

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Linda Moyer, age 9, of Fullerton, Pennsylvania, for her question:

What kind of rock is used to make plaster?

Rocks are minerals and every mineral is made of its own special atoms. Its special ingredients make it behave differently from all the other minerals. In New Mexico, there in a snow white stretch of desert called White Sands. Its crusty frosting is made from the mineral gypsum, called calcium sulfate because the intredients in its molecule packages are atoms of calcium and sulfur. Gypsum which is to be used for plaster is first dried and ground to powder. When water is added to the powder, a pasty mixture is form which can be applied to a surface. The mixture dries and becomes solid white plaster.

We call this solid gypsum Plaster of Paris and use it to make plaster casts for broken bones. A few other rocky minerals can also be used to make plaster. A spreadable paste made of powdered limestone dries and forms plaster. If sand is added to this limestone mixture, the plaster is stronger. Several rocky minerals are mixed together and baked to make powdered cement. Many wall plasters are mixtures of sand and lime, gypsum and powdered cement. If hairy threads are added to the moist paste, they bind the brittle plaster and make it less likely to crack.

ALPINE MEADOW LAND PRESERVATION SOUGHT

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Vancouver Island conservation and outdoor groups are being drawn into a battle to save a wilderness area in southwest British Columbia.

They are being urged by the Okanagan-Similkameen Parks Society to press the government to set aside as parkland the last remaining virgin meadow in the vicinity of the Cathedral Lake district.

The sub-alpine meadow is about 40 miles south of Keremeos, near the U.S. border.

The 500-acre area is in danger of being leased for cattle grazing. This would destroy its alpine cover and drive existing wildlife towards extinction.

The society claims B.C. Forest Service has already leased a part of the meadow for grazing after being told by former agriculture minister Franck Richter than land would not be used for farming.

Dr. D. S. Sparling, president of the Victoria Natural History Society, said the preservation of the meadow is as important to Vaictorians as mainland groups.

"If the meadow goes, we lost a unique biotic region," he said. "The government will never regret setting aside the land as a park from both economical and recreational aspects."

On the mainland, chambers of commerce, fish and game organizations, and some farm lands, are backing the society's park proposal and letters pressing the government for action are piling up.

Dr. Sparling said he has also received word from the Similkameen society that it had received a $2,000 grant from the Leon and Thea Koerner Foundation for the purchase of vital winter range for a band of 250 rare California Bighorn sheep.

The range is near beautiful Vaseaux Lake, about 18 miles south of Penticton.

The society has already purchased 576 acres of range land and is now seeking to augment this by 243 acres.

Donations towards the project have been received from England, Malaysia, Italy and Holland, Dr. Sparling said.

The project is urgent as the Bighorns are on the list of near extinct wild animals.

Their numbers have been reduced. Approximately 1,500 reduced from about 1,200,000 to 2,000. Approximately 1,500 are now left in remnant bands in B.C., the remainder in the Competition from agricultural, residential and commercial developments is responsible for their decline.

Indians Protest

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—The Native Brotherhood of British Columbia and Nishga Tribal Council have launched an official protest opposing log drives on the Nass River by Columbia Cellulose Co. Ltd. The protest, sent to federal Fisheries Minister H. J. Robichaud and provincial Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, accused the company of disregard for salmon and oolichan conservation requirements.

SOLUTION OF LANGUAGE ISSUE HOPED

BRUSSELS (AP) — The Belgian House of Representatives gave a vote of confidence to the new coalition government of Premier Gaston Eyskens today. But the 115-to-86 vote fell short of the two-thirds majority Eyskens needs for a constitutional amendment to ease the country's critical language issue.

The government is expected to win another vote of confidence in the Senate.

Eyskens' Catholic-Socialist coalition is pledged to solve the language problem, a manifestation of the strong animosity between Belgium's Flemish north and the French-speaking Walloons of the south. The issue brought down the previous government.

'Spirited' Exchange Program

MONTREAL (CP) — Strikes which have closed down breweries in Ontario and liquor stores in Quebec have led to a new form of exchange between the two provinces.

Communities on either side of the Ottawa River are being visited daily by residents from the other side who are unable to get various kinds of alcoholic beverage in their home province due to the strikes.

Quebecers are pouring into such towns as Hawkesbury, Lancaster and Vankleek Hill — all within a few miles of the provincial boundary — to buy liquor and wine at Liquor Control Board of Ontario branches.

Meanwhile, hordes of Ontario residents are making the short trip to Grenville, Shawville and Hull to purchase beer at licensed groceries and to quench their thirsts at restaurants, bars and taverns.

LIQUOR STORES CLOSED

Ontario establishments which normally sell beer have been left dry by a strike which began last Friday. All but two breweries have been closed, either by striking workers or by management locking out their workers.

The 220 branches of the Quebec Liquor Board have been closed since Sunday because of the St. Jean Baptiste Day provincial holiday Monday, the federal general election Tuesday and, finally, by the strike, which began Wednesday.

Customers at Ontario liquor board branches near the Quebec boundary are limiting customers to five cases of 12 26-ounce bottles each, with no two cases containing the same kind of liquor.

"But all you have to do," say Hawkesbury residents, "is go seven miles down the road to Vankleek Hill for another five cases.

"And then if you need another five, Lancaster is 38 miles due south."

LCBO branches in the three communities report sales have increased 10 times since have increased 10 times since the Quebec strike began, while beer outlets in Quebec say their business has doubled during the last two days as the neighboring province runs out of the foamy brew.

Laws in both provinces prohibit the importing of alcoholic beverages without liquor board permission, but police are said to have been lenient so far.

" 'Tis the spirit of '68," said one elderly lady from Montreal as she stood in line outside the Hawkesbury LCBO branch.

"Sixty-eight proof."

Heart Switch In Montreal

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

MONTREAL (CP)—A new heart is beating today in the chest of Canada's second heart transplant patient, 49-year-old Gaetan Paris, fewer than three hours after a surgical team began the operation at the Montreal Heart Institute.

The institute said the "new heart began beating with the help of a single electrical shock at 11:12 a.m."

Dr. Paul David, executive director of the institute, said that "at this stage the conditions of the operation are more favorable than in the first transplant."

The operation was completed at about 12:30 p.m.

Canada's first heart transplant, in an operation lasting more than four hours May 31, also was performed at the institute by a team headed by Dr. Pierre Grondin, who performed today's operation.

The first recipient, Albert Murphy, 59, died 46 hours later of various circulatory complications.

FOUR ALIVE

Today's transplant was the 22nd in the world. Four are still living. Mr. Murphy was the world's 18th transplant patient.

The heart of Mr. Paris, an electrical designer and father of five living in nearby Laval, came from 23-year-old Yvon Bastien who died Thursday night of injuries suffered in a motorcycle accident.

One of Mr. Bastien's kidneys was being transplanted at Royal Victoria Hospital to Charles William Doyle, 29, a Saint John, N.B., policeman. The other kidney was damaged in the accident and could not be used for a transplant.

Both kidneys of Canada's first heart donor, a woman, were used in transplants, although one of the recipients died of complications Monday.

Dr. David said the operation on Mr. Paris had proceeded favorably. The heart-lung machine used to sustain him was removed at 11:24 a.m. His blood pressure was about 120 compared with a blood pressure of between 90 and 100 in the late stages of the operation on Mr. Murphy.

Mr. Paris had suffered "progressive heart failure" since his third major heart attack in January, when he was unconscious for two weeks, Dr. David said.

Mr. Paris was transferred to the institute Jan 31. In the last week doctors "really had difficulty in keeping up his condition."

HAD DIFFICULTY

Relatives of Mr. Bastien, who died about 11 p.m., offered his heart to the institute.

The operation today was started hours after the recipient's wife, Claire, publicly appealed to hospital emergency wards in the area to remind families of accident victims that her husband needed a heart transplant.

"As a wife and mother of five children, I ask only that any family that is in a position to come to the aid of my husband does not hesitate to make the gesture, which will cost nothing, but which could save a life," she said in an interview.

---

VALPARAISO, Chili (UPI)—Chile undertook its first heart transplant operation Friday at the Admiral Neff Naval Hospital.

The operation was on Maria Penaloza, 24, a seamstress, suffering from a congenital vascular deficiency. The donor was Gabriel Veliz Araneda, 32, who died of a brain injury.

Trudeau Begins Shuffle at Top

OTTAWA (CP)—The government may announce some high-level appointments later today, Prime Minister Trudeau told reporters after a 2½-hour cabinet meeting.

"We made a couple," he said in reply to a reporter's question about appointments. He would rather announce them later after reaching the individuals involved by telephone, Mr. Trudeau added.

It was expected the appointments would be to high civil service posts. These usually are considered by the cabinet while appointments to ministerial portfolios usually are made by the prime minster alone.

Some shuffling within the Trudeau cabinet is due in the wake of last Tuesday's general election, when two minsiters went down to defeat at the polls. But Mr. Trudeau said earlier that he expected it would be next week before he would be announcing any portfolio shifts.

Squeeking through a crush of reporters at a door to the East Block on Parliament Hill after the cabinet meeting, Mr. Trudeau also was asked about possible government action to resolve the strike of St. Lawrence seaway workers that has stalled traffic on the waterway.

WERE CONCERNED

Cabinet had discussed the situation and realized the gravity of the stoppage, Mr. Trudeau said.

But the government wanted to avoid intervention in the situation. There was a Crown agency, the St. Lawrence seaway authority, authoried to deal with the stoppage, which arose when seaway workers rejected a new wage offer.

Mr. Trudeau said the government would ask the parties to get together again to see if they could not work out "some solution that is fair and reasonable."

Russell Aide Deported From U.K.

LONDON (CP) — Ralph Schoenman, Bertrand Russell's young American associate, was rushed out of Britain today before his lawyer could arrange a court challenge of the order deporting him.

Police put the 32-year-old promoter of anti-U.S. "war crime trials" on a plane for Paris and said he would be transferred there to a plane to New York.

"We are trying to get a court hearing," Schoenman's lawyer told reporters shortly before Schoenman was taken to the airport. But the government did not wait.

Schoenman boarded a flight for New York after a stopover in Paris.

The home office said Schoenman was not put on a flight direct to New York because all those were full as a result of the BOAC strike.

Schoenman, secretary of Lord Russell's peace foundation, slipped into Britain June 17 in defiance of a ban on his return. He thumbed his nose at officialdom by posing for pictures outside 10 Downing Street, appearing on television programs and publishing letters in the newspapers.

ASKS TO BE CHARGED

Schoenman openly challenged Scotland Yard to arrest him, saying he wanted to make a test case of the order banning him. Detectives picked him up in Hyde Park Thursday night, and Home Secretary James Callaghan signed the deportation order shortly after.

Flames Follow Highway Smash

EUGENE, Ore.—Four people were killed and 17 injured when a Vancouver-bound express bus from Los Angeles collided with a car near here this morning and both vehicles burned.

The injured are being treated for burns in Sacred Heart Hospital here.

The crash occurred two miles north of Creswell, Ore., at 9:50 a.m. Creswell is 12 miles south of Eugene, the nearest major centre.

Creswell Police Chief William Fletcher told The Times shortly before noon that a small car, driven by a woman and carrying a child as passenger, swerved in front of the Greyhound bus as it travelled down a relatively straight stretch of Interstate Highway Five.

"The bus and car collided, causing th car to explode in flames, which in turn sent the bus out of control and setting it on fire at the same time, "Chief Fletcher said.

BURNED TO DEATH

"When I got there the woman and child in the car were already burned to death, and the bus was burning pretty fiercely.

"Some of the passengers had managed to get out and were standing or lying by the side of the road. We concentrated on getting the remaining passengers out.

"Most of the passengers remained calm although a few children were pretty close to panic. But taken all round everybody behaved amazingly well."

Chief Fletcher said every available ambulance was called from Eugene.

"There were 36 passengers on the bus, all injured or burned to greater or lesser regree. About 17 appeared in bad shape when we got them into the ambulances."

Sacred Heart hospital officials said the injuries were not as serious as first feared.

They confirmed that four people were dead, the woman and child in the car and two bus passengers.

Among the injured, all United States citizens on the regular Greyhound run from Los Angeles to Vancouver, there is one case of second degree burns with the other passengers suffering from facial cuts, lesser burns and minor injuries.

Both car and bus were completely destroyed in the fiery crash.

Driver of the bus was Rolf Holmstrom, 41, Central Point, Oregon.

The crash was witnessed by another Greyhound bus driver, Frank Myers, 43, also of Central Point.

He said the south-bound car suddenly swerved, skidded across the road-centre divider and smashed into the bus. The car immediately burst into flames which ignited the front of the bus.

The force of the impact pushed the bus to a skidding stop on the highway's gravel shoulder.

Creswell fire department managed to get the flames under control and also assisted in removing injured pasengers.

Lockout Notice Served

New talks were announced today in the pulp and paper industry in British Columbia while negotiations continued between both sides in the coast wood products dispute.

Lockout notice was served Thursday by coast companies against the International Woodworkers of America following the unauthorized strike by workers at one Vancouver plant. The notice expires Saturday afternoon.

Joint negotiations between a number of pulp and paper mills and two unions — the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers and the United Papermakers and Paperworkers will resume this Wednesday.

The two unions, which bargain jointly, said "the move follows four days of talks under conciliation officer J. A. Laffling, in which progress was made on several items."

The Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada, which represents workers at half a dozen pulp mills including Crofton, Harmac and Gold River on Vancouver Island, will meet Mr. Laffling this Wednesday.

Asked if this is an encouraging sign, president Orville Braaten said "at least we are getting back together and talking. We haven't met him since mid-June."

36,000 AFFECTED

The two sets of talks in the pulp and paper industry throughout B.C. involves close to 10,000 workers.

The coast wood products dispute involves 114 employers and 26,000 workers in logging, sawmills, plywood mills, shingle mills and a number of lumber yards.

Negotiations continued today with the IWA after Forest Industrial Relations, which bargains for the companies, served 48-hour lockout notice and made a new settlement offer Thursday.

The lockout notice was given after 500 workers at the Weldwood of Canada plant in Vancouver began an unauthorized strike protesting delay in reaching agreement. FIR stated earlier that any selective strike would be met by a lockout.

Lockout notice is similar to strike notice, already served by the IWA on the companies. It leaves them free to lockout

Sirhan Granted Hearing Delay

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, accused assassin of Senator Robert F. Kennedy, was granted today an additional three weeks to enter his plea to a charge of murder.

Defence lawyer Russell E. Parsons won a delay from Superior Court Judge Richard Schauer, saying he needed more time to study the transcript.

The hearing was conducted in the third-floor chapel-auditorium of the Los Angeles County Jail under strict security.

Sirhan, 24-year-old Jordanian immigrant, entered the room flanked by four large deputies who virtually hid the slender defendant from the approximately 150 reporters on hand.

Judge Schauer at Parsons' request appointed a psychiatrist, Dr. George Abe of Metropolitan State Hospital in suburban Norwalk, Calif., to examine Sirhan and submit a confidential report for use of the defence.

REFUSED REQUEST

Dr. Abe will replace Dr. Edward Stainbrook, who declined a request to examine the defendant. Another physician, Dr. Eric Marcus, already has examined Sirhan for the defence.

Sirhan walked into the temporary court, apparently recovered from the sprained ankle that forced him to use a wheelchair when he was arraigned on a murder charge. The ankle was injured whille he was being subdued after Kennedy was shot and mortally wounded during an election victory celebration here June 5.

Before granting the continuance to July 19 the judge asked Sirhan whether he would waive his right to go to trial within 60 days after the return of the indictment.

"Yes, I do," Sirhan said, so faintly he was asked to repeat it. To an earlier question on whether he wanted Parsons to replace the public defender as his lawyer, his answer was audible.

Judge Schauer said he would ask Dr. Abe to give a general psychiatric examination. He said he would order the doctor not to give a copy to anyone except the defence.

Blaiberg is recovering in Cape Town's Groote Schuur Hospital from hepatitis.

CITY-BOUND YACHT AIDED BY COAST GUARD

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two coast guard cutters fought heavy seas off the Mendocino county coast of Northern California today to aid a disabled motor yacht with 12 persons aboard.

The yacht Hydine called for help after losing her automatic pilot and radar in stormy weather on her way to Victoria.

A search plane found the 117-foot boat wallowing in 15-foot seas 25 miles off Point Arena. The 82-foot cutter Point Ledge arrived alongside at 6:25 p.m. and finally got her in tow at 8 p.m. But the line broke later.

The bigger 210 cutter Resolute arrived on the scene at 8:25 a.m. today to take over the job of towing.

Canada May Treat U.K. As 'Foreigner'

LONDON (CP) — The Times says in a news story from Ottawa that the Canadian Liberal administration "is going to have a hard look at its relations with Britain."

"Indeed, Britain may well be treated as just a foreigh country," adds the story credited to "our own correspondent."

It continues:

"If it is in Canada's interests to have good relations with Britain, then good relations will be maintained, but Mr. Trudeau has already indicated that no favors will be given or expected.

"There will be no intimate backstairs talks. A new breed of cat is growing up in the department of external affairs which wnats to see a thoroughly new and independent attitude towards foreign affiars. That is why Britain must choose the new high commissioner for Canada with care.

"Sir Henry Lintott, the admirable present British representative, is leaving next Tuesday on retirement. He has done well in difficult circumstances but the new politicol regime in Ottawa demands a keen young professional diplomat, a good mixer with an extrovert personality suited to the Canadain scene, who can speak French fluently. A political nominee from the Wilson adminsitration would be disastrous."

INTERCOM REPLACES MEMO TRADITION

Old Ways Tossed Out As Ottawa Goes Modern

By PETER NEWMAN

OTTAWA — The first thing that Pierre Trudeau's senior advisers did when they moved into the east block of the Parliament Buildings was to install an intercom system so that six of them could be on the line at the same time and hold instantaneous conferences with the prime minister.

Newman

This technique is already being used by most progressive business firms, but in Ottawa where the writing of memos is a sacred rite, the move signified a revolution.

It's all part of the new style that Trudeau and his troupe are introducing to the musty halls of bureaucratic Ottawa. Despite the Trudeaumania phenomenon, it is not show business that has taken over Canadian politics.

TECHNOLOGY

It is with industrial technology that Trudeau's men intend to alter the political climate of the nation and break the traditional, time-worn approaches of the senior civil service.

Trudeau demonstrated the effectiveness of his unique approach during the Liberal leadership convention and the election campaign. In both instances, two new elements were introduced to expand his popularity: an appeal was made directly to the electorate through the mass media, in effect bypassing the traditional party apparatus; and in the application of this appeal use was made of the latest and most sophisticated scientiic business techniques.

GENERAL THEME

The philosophical basis for this new kind of "participatory politics" is the Liberal leader's view of man as a multidimensional being. He refuses to perpetuate the standard view of the voter as a one-dimensional figure (a farmer, a French-Canadian, an old-age pensioner, etc.) whose loyalty can be won through specific promises designed to woo each group. Instead, he believes in the thematic approach which puts forward a general theme (such as "a just society") and expects that people will find their own relation to his objectives, be attracted by his approach to them, and help him make them come true.

This requires genuine participation by the people in the governmental process and could, if realized, broaden the base of Canadian democracy.

It emphasizes not so much what the government will do as how it's going to do it. All through both his campaigns, Trudeau stressed that no leader can guarantee a country's future, only that he felt confident he could deal with the changing tides of the new social currents as they rise up.

To expand popular participation in his government, Trudeau's first step will be to set in train a wholesale

U.S. Defeat Claimed

PARIS (AP) — The spokesman for North Vietnam's peace talks delegation said today U.S. evacuation of Khe Sanh amounted to "a grave defeat for the United States."

Nguyen Thanh Le, the delegation press officer, said the United States was "forced to retreat" from the base just below the demilitarized zone in South Vietnam.

He said the U.S. military command's explanation that the base was no longer essential made him think of the fable of the fox and the grapes. Unable to reach a bunch of grapes, the fox went away saying "they were sour anyway."

Lightning Blamed In Power Failure

A freak weather disturbance hit Greater Victoria shortly after noon today, knocking out power for 12 minutes.

Initial reports blamed the failure on lightning striking a transformer. Lightning also split a tree in Saanich.

Hail fell and blanketed the ground briefly in some areas. Gordon Head residents said they couldn't remember anything like it in June.

The blackout was general throughout the lower island south of Duncan, including Sooke and Jordan River.

B.C. Hydro officials said the source of the blackout was somewhere between the Duncan terminal and Victoria. Cause had not been determined at 12:30 p.m., but it was assumed to have been caused by the lightning.

Lightning hit a backyard tree at 520 Whiteside St., shortly after 11 a.m.

A witness said it hit the top of a fir tree behind the home owned by Mrs. Kartar Kour Singh. The tree was split down the middle and splinters of wood showered into the back of the house breaking all the windows in the back wall.

The lightning travelled across a clothes line attached to the tree burning the plastic off the wire and incinerating the clothes hung on the line.

It was believed Mrs. Singh was away from her home at the time.

The incident was witnessed by neighbors and officials at the federal forestry laboratory on Burnside Road, which overlooks the Whiteside St. area. Forestry officials took samples of the wood for testing.

Victoria weatherman Allan McQuarrie said the storm resulted from an unstable air mass over Vancouver Island. The air was unusually cold at high levels, which accounted for the hail.

The air mass should move off late this afternoon to bring better weather for the weekend, he said.

It should be sunny and cool Saturday, but temperatures should move into the 70s on Sunday.

There is a chance another disturbance will bring some showers to the area Monday morning.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — A light trade contributed to declines in most commodities today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Considerable liquidation was noted in flax where there was little support. Liberal hedges in rapeseed were met by limited support from exporters and oats and barley trade was limited to domestic shipper interest.

AT NEW YORK the market drifted lower in quiet trading after an early advance.

Prices eroded for no apparent reason.

Declines of individual stocks predominated over advances in a reverse of the early trend.

Consolidated Proprietary added 11 cents to $1.31 on 43,650 shares in speculative mines and oils.

AT LONDON the market drifted down today on precautionary selling motivated by anxiety about economic stability at home and abroad.

British funds bore the brunt of currency fears, with losses ranging to 15-16.

Dollar stocks lacked a trend. Papers were marginally firmer, with Consolidated Paper adding $2¼ to 43¼. Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas and Imperial Oil firmed to 50 cents each.

Maximum Mortgage Rate Down

OTTAWA (CP) — The maximum rate for National Housing Act lending will drop July 1 to 8⅞ per cent from 9⅛ per cent, Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. announced today.

The new maximum applies for the months of July, August and September to mortgage loans insured by the federal government.

The NHA rate had topped nine per cent for the first time when interest rates reached a peak earlier this year.

A formula that ties the rate to yields on long-term government bonds resulted in the decrease of one-quarter of one percentage point after yields dropped off this month with the strengthening of bond prices.

Today's announcement said CMHC will continue to make direct loans for home-owner and rental housing at 8¾ per cent, the rate that has applied since April 1.

Approved lenders such as insurance companies have been charging about 8.90 per cent for home-owner loans and 8.82 per cent for rental housing during the last few months.

The NHA rate formula adds 2¼ percentage points to the average yield on seven long-term bonds during the four weeks preceding the end of each quarter. The result is dropped to the nearest eighth point.

Yields in the last four weeks averaged 6.7425, bringing the result to 8.9925, which was rounded off at 8.8750 or 8⅞.

Arthur Mayse

Although most of us have become city-broken to the point where we patiently wait our turns in any line-up, there's always at least one aggressive-primitive type who insists on breaking the pattern.

On the highways, he's the weaver who endangers a hundred lives in the course of a traffic mile. At bargain counters and cashiers' wickets, she's the woman—I will not call her a lady—who shoves or edges her way in front of you.

If she bothers to excuse her behavior, her line runs like this: "I'm in a terrible rush. You don't mind, do you?" Variations are, "I'm so sorry, but my husband's double parked," or "I just have this one little item."

Of course you don't mind, but being civilized, you don't crush her instep or go out and clobber her husband, if he isn't too big. Anyway, the poor guy has to live with her, and that's punishment enough. So, by sheer gall, this outlaw gets away with it.

But here's a lady of our town who, her rightful place usurped, was granted a small, sophisticated triumph.

She was waiting in a meat-bargin queue when one of these female place-pirates barged in ahead of her.

The clerk glanced at our girl, who lifted her eyebrows and shrugged her shoulders. Reading assent, the young man wrapped the line-crasher's steak and ran up 89 cents on his cash register.

He then took our lady's bargain special — same weight, same price — and with the merest hint of a smile, rang up 79 cents.

I have always regarded Ralph Loffmark as a brand to be plucked from the Social Credit burning. Now, by his veto of the atrocious scheme by which an urban and semi-urban area's raw sewage would be dumped into the saltchuck, he has justified my hunch.

After purging and penance, our provincial health minister may make a good, honest Liberal one day.

Now, if he will but dig in his heels and stand firm, the official advocates of outfall disposal will be forced to do as they should have done in the first place.

This is to make a thorough study of two aspects of pollution control that appear to have been passed over with hasty and misleading statements.

One should concern itself with sewage treatment — not mere chopping, but treatment in approved form.

The other related study should deal with land disposal methods, which seem to have been discarded with virtually no investigation.

I trust too that the provincial ban will apply to the 1,300-foot outfall through which Saanich discharges raw sewage into Haro Strait.

As a further note on a problem that has been too long skirted, we have MP-elect David Anderson's assurance that under a still-active federal scheme, Ottawa stands ready to help municipaliteis finance approved sewage disposal systems.

Months ago in this column, I suggested that we should be hollering for just such aid. What better time than now?

For the final instalment in my this-week's account of deputy-returning officers at work, hark back to election night when they descended on the returning offices from all points of the compass.

Most were women, and they clung firmly to those ballot boxes with their counted but still vital cargo. No husband was going to carry them, by golly! Not till they had surrendered their burdens to harried clerks with six arms each did the deputies relax.

"A long, long day!" one of them remarked. And another, "Wonder when we get our $24?" And from somewhere in the weary throng, a cheerful voice declared, "Thank goodness that's over!"

So it is, except to report that on election day morning, the notice board outside a Victoria place of worship carried this question: "How Should a Christian Vote?"

Came Wednesday morning, and on the board this terse declaration: "Hell on Earth!"

ONE OF A VARIETY OF YACHTS entered in the trans-Pacific Victoria-Maui race starting Monday is the 54-foot sloop Gabrielle III owned by P. R. Sandwell of Royal Vancouver Yacht Club. She was designed by Sparkman & Stephens and built last year, of wooden construction, in Scotland.

Sailors Can Feel Mighty Low In 'Pacific High'

The yachts now gathering in Victoria's Inner Harbor for a marathon race to the Hawaiian island of Maui face a common enemy—the "Pacific High."

It's an eerie wildless spot in the middle of the North Pacific. More properly known as the North Pacific high pressure zone, its centre is calm and it sits astride the most direct race route.

Monday morning at 10 a.m. retiring Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes officially launches the 15 or 16 competitors on the second Victoria-Maui race, a direct distance of 2,310 miles.

Starting point is off Brotchie Ledge, near the outer wharves of Ogden Point.

The race is expected to take from 14 to 19 days. Yachts from Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle, Tacoma and Los Angeles may travel 3,000 miles or more as they bend their courses around the Pacific High.

ALL BY SAIL

They must do it all by sail. The rules are so strigent that only if a man falls overboard or batteries need urgent recharging can a yacht even turn on its small auxiliary motor.

At the end of the race, each entrant must sign an affidavit that he did not use his motor to move forward except in the case of man overboard.

1970 NEXT

The race is the second, and largest. The first, in 1965, drew only three entries. Another is planned for 1970. Sponsor is the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club.

Laymore, a Canadian Naval armament ship, will accompany vessels on the race.

Pre-race briefings today and Saturday include instruction in drawing and interpreting weather maps. Contestants will be given the latest map three hours before the start and daily will receive a coded report which will allow them to draw up-to-date maps.

A pre-race dinner will be held at the Red Lion Inn Saturday night. Each competing yacht crew will have a table reserved. Also attending will be non-participating club members and guests.

ONTARIO - BUILT is a Victoria entry in the Maui race, Don Lawson's 28-foot fibreglass sloop, Cubara. Designed by Sparkman & Stephens, she was built this year at Hughes Boat Works.

Man Named Vancouver Knew Route

By SHIRLEY HEWETT

Sailing exploits of close to two centuries ago link the Hawaiian Island of Maui with the Pacific Northwest.

And the sailing master involved is a name that lives on here.

Captain George Vancouver wintered at Maui from 1793 to 1795, returning each spring to continue surveying the coast from Puget Sound to Alaska.

He was also keeping an eye peeled for a western outlet to the Northwest Passage.

The idea for a Victoria-Maui race originated with Jim Innes of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club in 1963. That club was represented by two of the three competitors when the first race started June 29, 1965.

•

Innes' Long Gone won that first event. Lol Killam's Veraris and Ron Ramsay's Norena of Wight were the other two contestants.

Yachtsmen throughout the Pacific Northwest have been working since then to establish the race as a regular event on the Pacific racing calendar. The next race is sheeduled for 1970.

When the race which begins Monday ends in an estimated three weeks, the trophy presentation at Lahaina on Maui will be in an intriguing setting.

It will be held in the Haie Paahoa. This was a prison built in 1852 to detain renegade whalers. Now it is a restored historic building.

The night of the presentation it will be decked out for the yachtsmen to hold a traditional Hawaiian luau.

•

MAUI RACE SHORT TACKS: Speculation about the Maui Race is a favorite topic of yachtsmen's conversation these days. Some state that the race will be won or lost between Brotchie Ledge and Cape Flattery (which is also the windward leg of the Swiftsure course) ... One high-performance yacht which was designed especially for windward work is Don Lawson's 38 foot Cubara. On the wind, she reportedly sails "like a meter boat," which is hardly surprising, considering that her underwater profile resembles the America's Cup winner Intrepid, by the same designer ... Ian Sherwin will navigate on the Cubara, a position which he has held while racing with Lawson over the past two years ... Navigator on another Royal Victoria yacht, Dave Angus's 40-foot Tiffany, is Alex James ... This could be the Oriole's race. The 91-foot ketch is at her best while running or reaching, conditions that prevail on the ocean crossing ... Bill Killam's Porpoise III will definitely be in the running. Second boat to finish Swiftsure 968, Porpoise has great potential as an ocean racer.

•

Another strong contender is the Tacoma yacht, Moonglow III, first boat to finish Swiftsure 1968. Like the others in the Cal 40 class, which have done well in ocean racing, the Moonglow has the ability to surf before the wind, which enables a yacht to exceed its hull speed.

A 40-FOOT SCHOONER in the race is William B. Johnson's Rainbird, from Tacoma Yacht Club. An adaptation of a Gloucester fishing schooner, she was designed by William Garden and built in Seattle.

SAILING UNDER THE BURGEE of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club is John Long's 49-foot sloop, Mary Bower, built in England in 1939 of a Robert Clark design.

TOP RATE OF $635 MONTHLY

30-35% Increases for Nurses

A settlement proposal in the dispute between more than 4,000 registered nurses and 61 hospitals in British Columbia would boost monthly salaries by 30 and 35 per cent in a two-year agreement.

Formal acceptance of the proposal by the B.C. Hospitals Association, on behalf of 61 hospitals, was announced today.

The revised settlement proposal was arrived at in joint discussion after members of the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C. voted 95 per cent in favor of strike action.

They had earlier rejected increases of 21.8 per cent and 27.4 per cent in two steps this year in an 18-month agreement.

The hospitals spokesman said the new proposal represents an increase of 30 per cent in the starting rate and 35 per cent in the top rate in three stages of a two-year agreement.

Present pay starts at $390 a month and increases to $466 after four years.

The new proposal would increase the starting rate to $508 at Jan. 1, 1969, and the top rate would go to $635 at the same time, but a fifth year's increment is added, said the hospitals spokesman.

The starting rate would be increased to $450 retroactive to last Jan. 1 and go to $475 July 1 before reaching the $508 figure.

Earlier, nurses voted 81 per cent to reject a proposal which would have taken the starting rate to $475 July 1 and the top rate, adding a fifth year's increment, to $593.75 at the same date.

The nurses were seeking increases of more than 50 per cent — $600 a month to start rising to $841 after five years.

The new proposal also includes vacation benefits, shift differentials and portabilty of salary increments when nurses change hospitals.

The last contract covering more than 4,000 registered nurses, including those at Royal Jubilee, St. Joseph's and Gorge Road, expired at the end of last December.

The nurses bargaining committee recommended acceptance of the revised proposal. The results of the membership vote should be known Tuesday.

Subscription Salesman Jailed Year

Partly Corrupted By System—Judge

An 18-year-old magazine salesman was sentenced in Victoria county court today to one year definite and one year indefinite in the Young Offenders' Unit at Haney.

Guy Jodoin was found guilty Thursday night by a jury of six women and six men on three counts of fraud in the selling of subscriptions for Maclean's Magazine and Chatelaine magazine.

The jury added a strong recommendation for leniency.

"I think this young man has been corrupted to some degree by a system of selling and advertising that is much to be deplored," said Judge Montague Drake.

"At the same time, he put up with it. I agree that some leniency is called for, but society must be protected against fraudulent salesmanship."

Jodoin was found guilty of defrauding Christina Cameron, 86, of $184; Agnes Cross, 76, of $179 and Mrs. Mary E. Kinsey, 79, of $27 in the sale of magazines.

His counsel, Dermod Owen-Flood appealed to the judge to "remember what the accused has suffered from this sales organization."

'WICKED SYSTEM'

Earlier, in his address to the jury, Mr. Owen-Flood likened the selling organization of Maclean-Hunter publications in Vancouver to the Hitler Youth Movement.

"This boy is not a criminal, but the victim of a crime," counsel said. "He is every bit as much a victim of this wicked system as the tragic old people who were taken in."

Mr. Owen-Flood said the "sales racket" operated on behalf of Maclean-Hunter encourages young salesmen to persuade old ladeis to buy their publications so they can win a their education."

BRAINWASHED

Counsel said the sales organization deliberately selects young men of clean-cut appearance and "brainwashes" them. Victims of these selling techniques don't know they are the subjects of hypnotic sales training.

"They are brainwashed and kept active by an ingenious system of pressures. And one of their favorite methods is to get a young salesman to buy a car so he will be in debt to them.

"Can you imagine the impact on a boy of 16 or 17 years old on being offered a Cadillac?" counsel asked. "This was the carrot they offered and this was the way they enslaved him and committed him to sell enough of their products to pay them $100 a week!

For three years, Mr. Owen-Flood said, the accused worked under this indoctrination and the indoctrination succeeded "too well."

"This boy was trapped and bullied and tricked into carrying out the sales methods of this firm. He was abused with violence. He was degraded and insulted by the respressntatives of this firm."

Crown prosecutor J. W. Anderson said he did not disagree with Mr. Owen-Flood's argument that Maclean-Hunter were "part guilty."

But he said, the accused was old enough to be aware of the "crooked" salesmanship in which he was engaged.

Oak Bay Byelection Won't Be Contested

By BRUCE YEMEN

Directors of the Greater Victoria Conservative Association have endorsed a form of political realignment along the lines of Alberta Premier Ernest Manning's Social Conservative philosophy.

They also have decided against fielding a candidate in the provincial Oak Bay byelection and endorsed Socred candidate Peter Pollen.

The statement agreed on Thursday night by the directors as individuals was a resolution reading as follows:

"The executive as individuals believe the party should support the concept of political realignment of conservative views and in this regard enthusiastically support Peter Pollen's ideas on political realignment and his candidacy in Oak Bay."

Mr. Pollen, an automobile dealer, is a member of the executive.

'TAKING RISK'

Association president Eric Makovski said the executive, which has not had time to discuss the matter with the association, feels it is "taking a risk" by being the first Conservative executive in Canada to speak out on political realignment.

He said the directors' views are similar to but do not necessarily coincide with those of Alberta's Socred Premier Manning who last year called for political and philosophical realignment of conservative forces in Canadian society.

Mr. Manning's ideas were contained in a book called "Political Realignment: A Challenge to Thoughtful Canadians."

He said after publication last August that if the theory of realignment were put into practice by the Conservatives, Social Credit could disappear as a national party.

Mr. Pollen said the subject has not been discussed with the Oak Bay Social Credit Association which selected him as the candidate in Oak Bay.

STEP FORWARD

But he felt sure provincial Socreds would welcome the move as a big step forward in politcal development.

The endorsement of the need for "political realignment of responsible conservative elements in the community" was done by the directors as individuals, it was stressed.

Part of the projected plan would be to work closely with the Socreds both provincially and federally to avoid fragmenting the "responsible right wing" in society.

Reaction of British Columbia Socreds to Mr. Manning's book published last August was decidedly cool, with several cabinet ministers wary of commenting on it.

Premier Bennett frequently claims that the provincial Socreds are "more liberal than the Liberals, more conservative than the Conservatives and more socialist than the socialists."

This "middle-of-the road" stance was believed a barrier to any B.C. Socred acceptance of the Manning-philosophy.

There has been a similar lack of favorable response from Conservatives but some political analysts believe that time is on Mr. Manning's side.

The poor showing of the federal Social Credit party in Tuesday's election, accoridng some views, was a predictable symptom that sooner or later will drive right wing elements together.

FISHERMEN SURVIVE SINKING

Two Victoria fishermen arrived home this morning after surviving the capsizing and sinking of the 36-foot troller Sea Ranger II.

The mishap occurred Thursday night off Estevan Point about 40 miles north of Tofino.

Bruce Petrie, 26, of 2950 Leigh Road and Lloyd Crother, 23, of 1090 Goldstream, clung to an overturned dinghy for about an hour before scrambling ashore on nearby Bartlett Island.

Cold and hungry, they were spotted by a civilian aircraft this morning.

A Canadian Coast Guard helicopter brought them to Victoria.

STERN FIRST

Mr. Petrie told the Times the troller started taking water over the stern in heavy seas.

"It filled the cockpit and we sank stern first.

"I managed to get off a couple of 'Maydays,' but the radio kept shorting out."

The men jumped into the sea and held on to the troller's dinghy. They were hampered in reaching Bartlett Island by a powerful undertow near the beach.

Rain fell throughout the night as they awaited daylight. They were rescued about 7 this mroning.

The fate of the Sooke-based Sea Ranger II has not yet been decided. Mr. Petrie said he will contact his insurance company on the possibility of raising her from about 144 feet.

A two-car accident at the intersection of Kings Road and Victor Street Thursday sent four persons to hospital—one with serious head injuries.

Police say a car driven west on Kings by Diane Hudson, 21, of 1504 Davie, was in collision with a vehicle driven south on Victor by Gertrude Byers, 30, of 1505 Oakcrest. Both cars were heavily damaged.

Both drivers and one passenger, Kerry White, 10, of 110 Menzies, are listed in fair condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital today.

One other person was treated and released earlier. White, who suffered head injuries, was described as in "fairly good" condition.

4 Die, 17 Hurt As Bus Crashes

BURNED WRECKAGE of the bus in which two people were killed is shown in this helicopter view of the scene on Highway 5, 12 miles south of Eugene, Oregon. Two others, passengers in a car which collided with the bus, also died. (AP Wirephoto.)

Flames Follow Highway Smash

EUGENE, Ore.—Four people were killed and 17 injured when a Vancouver-bound express bus from Los Angeles collided with a car near here this morning and both vehicles burned.

The injured are being treated for burns in Sacred Heart Hospital here.

The crash occurred two miles north of Creswell, Ore., at 9:50 a.m. Creswell is 12 miles south of Eugene, the nearest major centre.

Creswell Police Chief William Fletcher told The Times shortly before noon that a small car, driven by a woman and carrying a child as passenger, swerved in front of the Greyhound bus as it travelled down a relatively straight stretch of Interstate Highway Five.

"The bus and car collided, causing the car to explode in flames, which in turn sent the bus out of control and setting it on fire at the same time, "Chief Fletcher said.

BURNED TO DEATH

"When I got there the woman and child in the car were already burned to death, and the bus was burning pretty fiercely.

"Some of the passengers had managed to get out and were standing or lying by the side of the road. We concentrated on getting the remaining passengers out.

"Most of the passengers remained calm although a few children were pretty close to panic. But taken all round everybody behaved amazingly well."

Chief Fletcher said every available ambulance was called from Eugene.

"There were 36 passengers on the bus, all injured or burned to greater or lesser degree. About 17 appeared in bad shape when we got them into the ambulances."

Sacred Heart hospital officials said the injuries were not as serious as first feared.

They confirmed that four people were dead, the woman and child in the car and two bus passengers.

Among the injured, all United States citizens on the regular Greyhound run from Los Angeles to Vancouver, there is one case of second degree burns with the other passengers suffering from facial cuts, lesser burns and minor injuries.

Both car and bus were completely destroyed in the fiery crash.

Driver of the bus was Rolf Holmstrom, 41, Central Point, Oregon.

The crash was witnessed by another Greyhound bus driver, Frank Myers, 43, also of Central Point.

He said the south-bound car suddenly swerved, skidded across the road-centre divider and smashed into the bus. The car immediately burst into flames which ignited the front of the bus.

The force of the impact pushed the bus to a skidding stop on the highway's gravel shoulder.

Creswell fire department managed to get the flames under control and also assisted in removing injured pasengers.

LOCK SNARL CONTINUES

Trudeau Begins Shuffle at Top

OTTAWA (CP)—The government may announce some high-level appointments later today, Prime Minister Trudeau told reporters after a 2½-hour cabinet meeting.

"We made a couple," he said in reply to a reporter's question about appointments. He would rather announce them later after reaching the individuals involved by telephone, Mr. Trudeau added.

It was expected the appointments would be to high civil service posts. These usually are considered by the cabinet while appointments to ministerial portfolios usually are made by the prime minster alone.

Some shuffling within the Trudeau cabinet is due in the wake of last Tuesday's general election, when two ministers went down to defeat at the polls. But Mr. Trudeau said earlier that he expected it would be next week before he would be announcing any portfolio shifts.

Squeeking through a crush of reporters at a door to the East Block on Parliament Hill after the cabinet meeting, Mr. Trudeau also was asked about possible government action to resolve the strike of St. Lawrence seaway workers that has stalled traffic on the waterway.

WERE CONCERNED

Cabinet had discussed the situation and realized the gravity of the stoppage, Mr. Trudeau said.

But the government wanted to avoid intervention in the situation. There was a Crown agency, the St. Lawrence seaway authority, authorized to deal with the stoppage, which arose when seaway workers rejected a new wage offer.

Mr. Trudeau said the government would ask the parties to get together again to see if they could not work out "some solution that is fair and reasonable."

TALKS GO ON

Lockout Notice Served

New talks were announced today in the pulp and paper industry in British Columbia while negotiations continued between both sides in the coast wood products dispute.

Lockout notice was served Thursday by coast companies against the International Woodworkers of America following the unauthorized strike by workers at one Vancouver plant. The notice expires Saturday afternoon.

Joint negotiations between a number of pulp and paper mills and two unions — the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers and the United Papermakers and Paperworkers — will resume this Wednesday.

The two unions, which bargain jointly, said "the move follows four days of talks under conciliation officer J. A. Laffling, in which progress was made on several items."

The Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada, which represents workers at half a dozen pulp mills including Crofton, Harmac and Gold River on Vancouver Island, will meet Mr. Laffling this Wednesday.

Asked if this is an encouraging sign, president Orville Braaten said "at least we are getting back together and talking. We haven't met him since mid-June."

36,000 AFFECTED

The two sets of talks in the pulp and paper industry throughout B.C. involves close to 10,000 workers.

The coast wood products dispute involves 114 employers and 26,000 workers in logging, sawmills, plywood mills, shingle mills and a number of lumber yards.

Negotiations continued today with the IWA after Forest Industrial Relations, which bargains for the companies, served 48-hour lockout notice and made a new settlement offer Thursday.

The lockout notice was given after 500 workers at the Weldwood of Canada plant in Vancouver began an unauthorized strike protesting delay in reaching agreement. FIR stated earlier that any selective strike would be met by a lockout.

Lockout notice is similar to strike notice, already served by the IWA on the companies. It leaves them free to lockout

Heart Switch In Montreal

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

MONTREAL (CP)—A new heart is beating today in the chest of Canada's second heart transplant patient, 49-year-old Gaetan Paris, fewer than three hours after a surgical team began the operation at the Montreal Heart Institute.

The institute said the "new heart began beating with the help of a single electrical shock at 11:12 a.m."

Dr. Paul David, executive director of the institute, said that "at this stage the conditions of the operation are more favorable than in the first transplant."

The operation was completed at about 12:30 p.m.

Canada's first heart transplant, in an operation lasting more than four hours May 31, also was performed at the institute by a team headed by Dr. Pierre Grondin, who performed today's operation.

The first recipient, Albert Murphy, 59, died 46 hours later of various circulatory complications.

FOUR ALIVE

Today's transplant was the 22nd in the world. Four are still living. Mr. Murphy was the world's 18th transplant patient.

The heart of Mr. Paris, an electrical designer and father of five living in nearby Laval, came from 23-year-old Yvon Bastien who died Thursday night of injuries suffered in a motorcycle accident.

One of Mr. Bastien's kidneys was being transplanted at Royal Victoria Hospital to Charles William Doyle, 29, a Saint John, N.B., policeman. The other kidney was damaged in the accident and could not be used for a transplant.

Both kidneys of Canada's first heart donor, a woman, were used in transplants, although one of the recipients died of complications Monday.

Dr. David said the operation on Mr. Paris had proceeded favorably. The heart-lung machine used to sustain him was removed at 11:24 a.m. His blood pressure was about 120 compared with a blood pressure of between 90 and 100 in the late stages of the operation on Mr. Murphy.

Mr. Paris had suffered "progressive heart failure" since his third major heart attack in January, when he was unconscious for two weeks, Dr. David said.

Mr. Paris was transferred to the institute Jan 31. In the last week doctors "really had difficulty in keeping up his condition."

HAD DIFFICULTY

Relatives of Mr. Bastien, who died about 11 p.m., offered his heart to the institute.

The operation today was started hours after the recipient's wife, Claire, publicly appealed to hospital emergency wards in the area to remind families of accident victims that her husband needed a heart transplant.

"As a wife and mother of five children, I ask only that any family that is in a position to come to the aid of my husband does not hesitate to make the gesture, which will cost nothing, but which could save a life," she said in an interview.

VALPARAISO, Chili (UPI)—Chile undertook its first heart transplant operation Friday at the Admiral Neff Naval Hospital.

The operation was on Maria Penaloza, 24, a seamstress, suffering from a congenital vascular deficiency. The donor was Gabriel Veliz Araneda, 32, who died of a brain injury.

Three-Week Delay Granted to Sirhan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, accused assassin of Senator Robert F. Kennedy, was granted today an additional three weeks to enter his plea to a charge of murder.

Defence lawyer Russell E. Parsons won a delay from Superior Court Judge Richard Schauer, saying he needed more time to study the transcript.

The hearing was conducted in the third-floor chapel-auditorium of the Los Angeles County Jail under strict security.

Sirhan, 24-year-old Jordanian Immigrant, entered the room flanked by four large deputies who virtually hid the slender defendant from the approximately 150 reporters on hand.

Judge Schauer at Parsons' request appointed a psychiatrist, Dr. George Abe of Metropolitan State Hospital in suburban Norwalk, Calif., to examine Sirhan and submit a confidential report for use of the defence.

Dr. Abe will replace Dr. Edward Stainbrook, who declined a request to examine the defendant. Another physician, Dr. Eric Marcus, already has examined Sirhan for the defence.

Sirhan walked into the temporary court, apparently recovered from the sprained ankle that forced him to use a wheelchair when he was arraigned on a murder charge. The ankle was injured while he was being subdued after Kennedy was shot and mortally wounded during an election victory celebration here June 5.

Before granting the continuance to July 19 the judge asked Sirhan whether he would waive his right to go to trial within 60 days after the return of the indictment.

"Yes, I do," Sirhan said, so faintly he was asked to repeat it. To an earlier question on whether he wanted Parsons to replace the public defender as his lawyer, his answer was audible.

Judge Schauer said he would ask Dr. Abe to give a general psychiatric examination. He said he would order the doctor not to give a copy to anyone except the defence.

Old Ways Tossed Out As Ottawa Goes Modern

By PETER NEWMAN

OTTAWA — The first thing that Pierre Trudeau's senior advisers did when they moved into the east block of the Parliament Buildings was to install an intercom system so that six of them could be on the line at the same time and hold instantaneous conferences with the prime minister.

Newman

This technique is already being used by most progressive business firms, but in Ottawa where the writing of memos is a sacred rite, the move signified a revolution.

It's all part of the new style that Trudeau and his troupe are introducing to the musty halls of bureaucratic Ottawa. Despite the Trudeaumania phenomenon, it is not show business that has taken over Canadian politics.

TECHNOLOGY

It is with industrial technology that Trudeau's men intend to alter the political climate of the nation and break the traditional, time-worn approaches of the senior civil service.

Trudeau demonstrated the effectiveness of his unique approach during the Liberal leadership convention and the election campaign. In both instances, two new elements were introduced to expand his popularity: an appeal was made directly to the electorate through the mass media, in effect bypassing the traditional party apparatus; and in the application of this appeal use was made of the latest and most sophisticated scientiic business techniques.

GENERAL THEME

The philosophical basis for this new kind of "participatory politics" is the Liberal leader's view of man as a multidimensional being. He refuses to perpetuate the standard view of the voter as a one-dimensional figure (a farmer, a French-Canadian, an old-age pensioner, etc.) whose loyalty can be won through specific promises designed to woo each group. Instead, he believes in the thematic approach which puts forward a general theme (such as "a just society") and expects that people will find their own relation to his objectives, be attracted by his approach to them, and help him make them come true.

This requires genuine participation by the people in the governmental process and could, if realized, broaden the base of Canadian democracy.

It emphasizes not so much what the government will do as how it's going to do it. All through both his campaigns, Trudeau stressed that no leader can guarantee a country's future, only that he felt confident he could deal with the changing tides of the new social currents as they rise up.

To expand popular participation in his government, Trudeau's first step will be to set in train a wholesale

'Hard Look At Relations With U.K.'

LONDON (CP) — The Times says in a news story from Ottawa that the Canadian Liberal administration "is going to have a hard look at its relations with Britain."

"Indeed, Britain may well be treated as just a foreign country," adds the story credited to "our own correspondent."

It continues:

"If it is in Canada's interests to have good relations with Britain, then good relations will be maintained, but Mr. Trudeau has already indicated that no favors will be given or expected.

"There will be no intimate backstairs talks. A new breed of cat is growing up in the department of external affairs which wants to see a thoroughly new and independent attitude towards foreign affairs. That is why Britain must choose the new high commissioner for Canada with care.

"Sir Henry Lintott, the admirable present British representative, is leaving next Tuesday on retirement. He has done well in difficult circumstances but the new political regime in Ottawa demands a keen young professional diplomat, a good mixer with an extrovert personality suited to the Canadain scene, who can speak French fluently. A political nominee from the Wilson adminsitration would be disastrous."

U.S. Defeat Claimed

PARIS (AP) — The spokesman for North Vietnam's peace talks delegation said today U.S. evacuation of Khe Sanh amounted to "a grave defeat for the United States."

Nguyen Thanh Le, the delegation press officer, said the United States was "forced to retreat" from the base just below the demilitarized zone in South Vietnam.

Lightning Blamed In Power Failure

A freak weather disturbance hit Greater Victoria shortly after noon today, knocking out power for 12 minutes.

Initial reports blamed the failure on lightning striking a transformer. Lightning also split a tree in Saanich.

Hail fell and blanketed the ground briefly in some areas. Gordon Head residents said they couldn't remember anything like it in June.

The blackout was general throughout the lower island south of Duncan, including Sooke and Jordan River.

B.C. Hydro officials said the source of the blackout was somewhere between the Duncan terminal and Victoria. Cause had not been determined at 12:30 p.m., but it was assumed to have been caused by the lightning.

Lightning hit a backyard tree at 520 Whiteside St., shortly after 11 a.m.

A witness said it hit the top of a fir tree behind the home owned by Mrs. Kartar Kour Singh. The tree was split down the middle and splinters of wood showered into the back of the house breaking all the windows in the back wall.

The lightning travelled across a clothes line attached to the tree burning the plastic off the wire and incinerating the clothes hung on the line.

It was believed Mrs. Singh was away from her home at the time.

The incident was witnessed by neighbors and officials at the federal forestry laboratory on Burnside Road, which overlooks the Whiteside St. area. Forestry officials took samples of the wood for testing.

Victoria weatherman Allan McQuarrie said the storm resulted from an unstable air mass over Vancouver Island. The air was unusually cold at high levels, which accounted for the hail.

The air mass should move off late this afternoon to bring better weather for the weekend, he said.

It should be sunny and cool Saturday, but temperatures should move into the 70s on Sunday.

There is a chance another disturbance will bring some showers to the area Monday morning.

At the height of this morning's

AFTERMATH OF FIRING DISPUTE

French TV Network Blackout Ends

MONTREAL (CP) — The CBC resumed French-language newscasts at 10 p.m. Thursday on its radio network and at 11 p.m. on television, ending a blackout of regular news broadcasts in French it began at midnight Tuesday night.

Cause of the blackout was the refusal by reporters in the Montreal French-language newsroom to participate in the corporation's planned television coverage of election results Tuesday night.

The CBC ran a movie film in place of election night coverage and reacted to the work stoppage by suspending news broadcasts on its French-language radio and television networks until the dispute could be settled.

The newsroom reporters voted 84 to 6 in favor of refusing to work on the election show following the removal Tuesday of Claude-Jean Devirieux, a television reporter, from the election staff.

Mr. Devirieux was removed after CBC management objected to his description on a news broadcast of bloody riots which followed separatist protests to the presence of Prime Minister Trudeau at the St. Jean Baptiste Day parade in downtown Montreal Monday night.

COVERED RIOT ALONE

Talks were held all day Thursday between management and the reporters' union, which has claimed the dispute could have been avoided had the CBC assigned more men to cover the riot—Mr. Devirieux was alone—and had it televised the riot live.

Mr. Devirieux also was present at the talks, but a management statement announcing resumption of regular newscasts in French said the corporation would suspend judgment "on the disciplinary measures it feels should be taken against the personnel responsible for the blackout of election night coverage."

Class of '58 Reunite

Organizers of the reunion, which starts at 8 p.m., are Mrs. Robert Howden and Mrs. Beverly Willmore.

Byelections Recapturing Public's Eye

By BRUCE YEMEN

Voters who regard British Columbia's three provincial byelections July 15 as an anti-climax are getting no encouragement from the politicians.

Both Premier Bennett — breaking a two-day silence — and Opposition Leader Strachan stirred the political pot with optimistic vigor Thursday and the Liberals mapped plans to name an acting leader to replace Ray Perrault before the byelections.

Two candidates were chosen Thursday in North Vancouver-Capilano, the seat Mr. Perrault resigned to challenge — and apparently defeat — NDP national leader Tommy Douglas in the federal election.

Charles MacLean, who polled only 3,000 votes to Mr. Perrault's 17,000 as a federal Tory candidate in Burnaby-Seymour, was named provincial Conservative candidate and promised "a real gangbuster of a campaign."

THREE NOMINATIONS

Lawyer Sid Simons was chosen to represent the NDP in the Liberal stronghold North Shore riding.

Two businessmen have been nominated for the other parties — Dave Brousson, 48, for the Liberals, and Peter Robinson, 39, for the Socreds.

Oak Bay NDP Association will decide whether to field a candidate in Oak Bay at a meeting tonight at 1018 Blanshard Street at 8 p.m.

Opposition leader Strachan said Thursday he expects a candidate to enter the Oak Bay race against car dealer Peter Pollen, Social Credit candidate, and lawyer Allan Cox, Liberal.

Premier Bennett, in his first post-federal election comment, said in Vancouver Thursday night that the provincial Socreds will be unaffected by the dismal showing of their federal counterparts in B.C.

"Provincially we are strong," he said. "Next time we'll have a greater majority than ever."

Mr. Bennett said resignation of National Socred leader Robert Thompson who joined the Tories was a bad blow for federal Socreds and left the B.C. party as a disorganized splinter group.

Furthermore, only a nominal campaign was run, he said, and there was a strong swing toward majority government — a federal election reusit which Mr. Bennett welcomed.

SOCRED LEADER

He suggested Quebec Creditiste leader Real Caouette would make a good national Social Credit leader.

The B.C. Socreds received only 5 per cent of the popular vote in the province — a drop from about 125,000 to 45,000 votes since the previous election.

Opposition leader Strachan said the federal Socred showing was significant provincially and said former Randolph Harding's victory in the federal election augers well for railroader Bill King, the NDP candidate in the Revelstoke-Slocan byelection.

Mr. King is battling Castlegar newspaper editor Burton Campbell who carries the Social Credit banner.

In Vancouver, Mr. Perrault made clear he is definitely resigning as provincial Liberal leader regardless of the final outcome of his cliffhanger victory over Mr. Douglas.

Dr. Pat McGeer, MLA for Vancouver-Point Grey, reconfirmed his earlier candidacy for the leadership while Allan Williams, MLA for West Vancouver, said he had not decided whether to enter the race.

Mr. Perrault said he expected a leadership convention in mid-September.

Imprisonment In Fraud Case

A woman who admitted defrauding welfare authorities of $2,145 was sentenced Thursday to three months in jail and fined $200.

Magistrate William Ostler told Mrs. Brenda Nordstrom, 28, of 928 Esquimalt Road, she was lucky the crown had not laid the charge under a section of the Criminal Code rather than the Social Assistance Act.

Under the former the maximum penalty is 10 years and she would have received a substantial sentence he said. As the crown proceeded summarily under the latter act, the maximum penalty he could give was three months and a $200 fine.

Mrs. Nordstrom had awaited sentence since June 14 pending a pre-sentence report which prosecutor John Macintyre said read like a credit rating.

He said punishment of some kind was called for.

The magistrate agreed and said the probation report was concerned mainly with restitution.

Court was told earlier Mrs. Nordstrom was employed during the year she received the welfare money and earned an additional $5,100.

TIPS FOR HOME GARDEN

Bark Mix Proves Puzzling

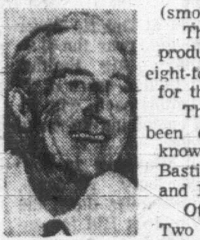
By JACK BEASTALL

In the south-west corner of Bastion Square stands an interesting tree that evokes more comment during the winter than it does in full leaf in summer. Its winter characteristic is the mass of twisted branches that crown a stout trunk, causing one gardener to aptly describe it as "a tree with its roots in the air."



Jack

Close inspection reveals the bark on the branches to be quite smooth while that on the trunk is very rough, and this is a puzzle to many people.

When in leaf, visitors casually refer to it as some kind of elm, which is quite true.

There are a variety of common names under which it is known. Generally called the Scotch or English Elm, it is also known as the Weeping Elm, the Umbrella Elm, and Camperdown Elm.

Botanically, the listing is Ulmus glabra (smooth bark), variety Camperdownii.

These umbrella shaped, weeping elms are produced by grafting Camperdown Elm to an eight-foot common elm trunk, which accounts for the smooth bark and the rough bark.

The age of this particular tree has not been definitely established, but from what is known of its history prior to being moved to Bastion Square, it is estimated as between 75 and 100 years.

Other Camperdown Elms are in the city. Two are in the grounds of St. Andrew's Cathedral at the corner of Blanshard and View Streets, and another is located in Ross Bay Cemetery to the east of Stannard Street entrance.

YOUR HEALTH

Let Laugh Follow Hot Flush

By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

It is so unfortunate when, while suffering from a harmless nervous spell, such as goes often with a post-menopausal storm, a woman gets the idea that she is going to lose her mind, or is going to have a stroke or a heart attack—and then gets panicky.

Alvarez

The spell can be distress enough—perhaps with flushing, sweating, dizziness, nausea, shakiness and uncertainty—but it can become almost unbearable when panic is added to it.

Many a time when a patient in such a panic has called up her doctor and has been told kindly but firmly that there is no cause for alarm, she has quickly felt much better.

Often the doctor will say that he has seen hundreds of menopausal women go through just such a storm, and every one came out on the other side, well again.

Also, the doctor may say, "You can't go insane with all those wonderful ancestors back of you; also, anyone who, like you, for half a century has been a sensible, devoted, unselfish and wonderful wife and mother, cannot now depart from her established way of living and thinking; you have to go on being sensible and sane."

To me, when for a while I talk quietly and reassuringly to a panicky woman, it is such a joy to see her smile again—and perhaps to hear her laugh again. As I always say, I never saw a woman go insane when she could laugh, and especially when she could laugh at herself.

After I have gotten the woman out of her panic, the next thing I have to do is to try to get her to see that the next time she goes into a hot flush, with jitteriness, much sweating, and fear of approaching insanity, she must fight the tendency to get panicky—and she must refuse to go into a panic.

I have known people who won out in this way, with sheer will-power.

For instance, for years I took care of a fine, sensible and kindly nurse who was an epileptic. She told me that sometimes when she felt a seizure coming, she would keep saying to herself, "No; no. I just can't have a spell here and now; I won't have a spell!" And often she managed to block it from coming.

Fine men have told me that in the same way, they often refused to panic and to give in to fear. It certainly is easy to give in to fear; and perhaps it is only a little harder to refuse to give in to fear.

The person who fights off fear will be greatly rewarded, because fear of a disease is often worse than the disease itself.

One of the terrible things that can happen to a patient in a panic is to fall into the hands of a physican who accepts, say, the woman's self-diagnosis of a near-fatal heart attack, and rushes her to a hospital—in an ambulance, with the siren screaming—and then puts her in an oxygen tent, and in every way, "gives her the works."

Naturally, then, the woman feels that she has had a close brush with death, and after that, every time she gets panicky, she wants to be rushed to a hospital and treated strenuously.

Worse yet, if in one of these spells a fine, able physician is called in, and sees in a minute that there is nothing wrong with the woman's heart, and tells her so, she may become very angry with him and may tell him to get out and never come back.

As he grows older, every physician should become ever more tactful—especially in the taking away from patients of a disease which they have come to like or need.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a World Book Atlas.

Andy sends a complete, 20 volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Louise Finnamore, age 10, of Fredericton; N.B., Canada, for her question:

Why are the Pyramids called Wonders of the Korld?

Mankind is a born traveler and the human family loves to take vacation trips to other places on our planet. A few roam idly from one place to another, but most of us prefer to plan our tours and look forward to visiting, say, the Pyramids or some other wonder of the world.

Right now, thousands of families are planning to take summer vacation tours to visit places far from home. We tend to think that this kind of touring was invented along with trains and buses, planes and automobiles. Not at all. Our ancestors who lived in the earliest settled communities also liked to take trips once in a while. They travelled on horsae and camels, donkeys and often on foot to visit neighboring cities. Some trudged thousands of miles through strange and far-away countries.

The times change, but human nature changes very slowly through the ages. Like us, the tourists of the ancient world longed to visit other places and like us, they returned with a fuller understanding of their home communitites. News also travelled around in those days, though more slowly. Returning tourists told of wondrous places they had visited. The ancient Greeks had guide books for hopeful tourists, just as we do. To them, there was something magical in the number seven. So their guide books included a list of seven wondrous places that every well-travelled tourist should visit.

These fabulous places were known as the Seven Wonders of the World. All of them were breath-taking, man-made structures in lands near the Mediterranean Sea where our Western civilization was born. A well-travelled tourist of 2,000 years ago did his best to visit all Seven Wonders of the ancient world. But the only one remaining to this day is the sturdy Pyramids of Egypt. Those massive tombs have been visited by admiring tourists through more than 4,000 years. Though now a bit worn by the weather, we still refer to the great buildings as one of the wonders of the world.

Natural Wonders

The other six wonders disappeared long ago from the list of tourist attractions. At Ephesus in Asia Minor, the lavish temple to the goddess Diana was destroyed by a firebug in 262 A.D. The Greek temple at Olympia lost its immense gold and ivory statue of Zeus in the Middle Ages. The wondrous Hanging Gardens of Babylon have long since crumbled to dust. In Asia Minor, only a few relics of the stupendous tomb of King Mausous can be found. Tourists of the ancient world sailed from afar to a Greek island where a bronze statue of Helios the sun god stood, 105 feet tall, guarding the harbor. In 224 B.C., this famous Colossus of Rhodes was toppled by an earthquake. In 955 A.D., another earthquake toppled the sixth of the ancient wonders. This was the Pharos of Alexandria, an elegant lighthouse of gleaming white marble which held its warning beacon 400 feet above treacherous shoals in the sea.

★ ★ ★

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Linda Moyer, age 9, of Fullerton, Pennsylvania, for her question:

What kind of rock is used to make plaster?

Rocks are minerals and every mineral is made of its own special atoms. Its special ingredients make it behave differently from all the other minerals. In New Mexico, there in a snow white stretch of desert called White Sands. Its crusty frosting is made from the mineral gypsum, called calcium sulfate because the intredients in its molecule packages are atoms of calcium and sulfur. Gypsum which is to be used for plaster is first dried and ground to powder. When water is added to the powder, a pasty mixture is form which can be applied to a surface. The mixture dries and becomes solid white plaster.

We call this solid gypsum Plaster of Paris and use it to make plaster casts for broken bones. A few other rocky minerals can also be used to make plaster. A spreadable paste made of powdered limestone dries and forms plaster. If sand is added to this limestone mixture, the plaster is stronger. Several rocky minerals are mixed together and baked to make powdered cement. Many wall plasters are mixtures of sand and lime, gypsum and powdered cement. If hairy threads are added to the moist paste, they bind the brittle plaster and make it less likely to crack.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — A light trade contributed to declines in most commodities today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Considerable liquidation was noted in flax where there was little support. Liberal hedges in rapeseed were met by limited support from exporters and oats and barley trade was limited to domestic shipper interest.

Maximum Mortgage Rate Down

OTTAWA (CP) — The maximum rate for National Housing Act lending will drop July 1 to 8⅞ per cent from 9⅛ per cent, Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. announced today.

The new maximum applies for the months of July, August and September to mortgage loans insured by the federal government.

The NHA rate had topped nine per cent for the first time when interest rates reached a peak earlier this year.

A formula that ties the rate to yields on long-term government bonds resulted in the decrease of one-quarter of one percentage point after yields dropped off this month with the strengthening of bond prices.

Today's announcement said CMHC will continue to make direct loans for home-owner and rental housing at 8¾ per cent, the rate that has applied since April 1.

YOU CAN OBTAIN PROFESSIONAL STANDING IN ACCOUNTING
In commercial and industrial firms, institutions and governments, professional accountants hold responsible executive positions. Conversant with tax and financial problems, budgeting and accounting, they have skills that are essential to the proper management of every type of enterprise.
The Certified General Accountants' Association of British Columbia, through its affiliation with the University of British Columbia, offers young men and women an opportunity to become professional accountants and financial executives.
If you have completed Grade 12 in B.C. or the equivalent elsewhere, you can enrol in a five-year course of study leading to certification as a Certified General Accountant (C.G.A.). This course may be completed either at evening lectures or by correspondence while you remain permanently employed and earn a regular income.
